Secretary Gives Report Before Joint Groups at Hearing

Washington, Feb. 15 (AP) — Administration plans contemplate that six U. S. army divisions — triple the American forces now in Europe—will serve with the combined Allied armies being organized to defend western Europe against possible Communist aggression.

Secretary of Defense Marshall gave the figure which means sending over four additional divisions, to the Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services Committees today. He said he did it "reluctantly" but in belief it was better than to have a debate over uncertainties.

Marshall gave no over-all figure as to numbers of men. But an American army division consists of about 18,000 men. In addition, support elements — supply and maintenance, communication, transportation and other units—are needed to keep combat forces in a state of readiness.

In Europe at Present

The United States now has in Europe the First Infantry Division and a constabulary force — equivalent to a second division—trained and equipped for field combat, yet the last official indication of troop strength in Europe was about 97,000 men. This more than 60,000 men of the present force presumably are in support elements.

The Senate committees are considering whether Congress should adopt a resolution of some nature concerning the "troops-to-Europe" issue. Marshall was the first witness at hearings.

In riping the top-secret label off this much of the government's blueprint for defending western Europe, Marshall emphasized that the aim of the forces is to keep the peace.

He said the intention is:

1. "To deter aggression if that be possible, and

2. "To defeat aggression if, in spite of all our efforts, the actions of the Soviet Union or its satellites should precipitate another world war."

Asks Free Hand

As to any congressional stand, Marshall strongly urged that the legislators should not do anything which would tie the hands of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, as commander of allied forces, by limiting the number of troops that could be placed under his command.

The proposed six U. S. divisions under Eisenhower would be part of total contemplated defense force of about 40 divisions.

In addition to the U. S. ground forces, there would also be American air and naval units in the combined defense forces.

Troops Link At Chipyong Perimeter

Reds on All Fronts Lose 10,593 Wednesday to Bring Toll to 100,000 Men

Attacks Are Made

Limited Action Carried Out by Allies in Some Sectors

Tokyo, Feb. 15 (AP)—An allied relief column smashed through a Chinese Red ring today to reinforce American an French forces holding the Chipyong anchor on the central Korean warfront.

The relief force battled eight hours before breaking through to the Chipyong perimeter at 5:30 p. m. (3:30 a. m. E.S.T.) the action began five miles south-southwest of the town.

The hard-hit Chinese finally broke and ran.

Chipyong, 35 air miles east-southeast of Seoul, is the left flank anchor of a 20-mile allied defense line stretching over snow-mantled hills and valleys to Wonju, key to the central mountain passes.

The American-French garrison stoutly withstood two days of massed Red infantry assaults to help break the back of the drive aimed at cracking the central front. The Communist push was stopped Wednesday.

Red casualties were counted at 10,593 on all fronts Wednesday. It brought to nearly 100,000 those killed, wounded or captured since the allied limited push by hunter-killer columns began Jan. 25.

Chinese Are Fleeing

A.P. Correspondent John Randolph reported the Chipyong garrison radioed that the Chinese were "fleeing in all directions" after the relief column rammed through from the south.

However, A.P. Correspondent William J. Waugh reported more than 1,000 Reds were dug in on high ground north of the town.

On the western front, American doughboys and artillery wiped out 400 Chinese who sneaked across the Han river Wednesday night near Seoul.

It was the second consecutive and disastrous Red attempt to cross the icy stream near the burned-out former capital. More than 1,100 Korean Reds were killed there in a foray early Wednesday.

The Chinese, creeping across on a railroad bridge, entrenched themselves on a hill 2½ miles southeast of Seoul. At daybreak, big guns of the U. S. Third Infantry Division pounded the hill and infantrymen opened up at closer range.

Not One Reaches River

Lt. Remer Y. Brinson, Savannah, Ga., a frontline platoon leader, said 200 Chinese survivors broke and fled for the Han in panic. Not one reached the river alive, he added.

Elsewhere on the frigid front allied forces were making limited counter-attacks. AP Correspondent Tom Bradshaw reported American troops, attacking with hand grenades, took high ground northeast of Kyongan, 17 miles southeast of Seoul.

The Reds tried twice to retake the hill—No. 578, named for its height in meters—but had not succeeded by noon Thursday.

Lt. Gen. Mathew B. Ridgway, Eighth Army commander, told officers of the Tenth Corps that allied forces "shall strike back and destroy the bulk of the enemy's forces which we do not capture."

The Tenth Corps bore the brunt of the four-day massed Communist drive down central Korea's rocky spine. Four Red divisions were knocked out.

Almond Promoted

Ridgway pinned the three stars of a lieutenant general on Maj. Gen. Edward M. Almond, the Tenth Corps commander.

The mounting toll of Chinese and Korean Reds rose even higher from unceasing attacks by Allied war planes. U. S. Fifth Air Force bombers and fighters flew a record 686 sorties in clear weather Thursday.

Most flights were in close support of ground units which had successfully rolled with the Red punch between Wonju and Chipyong towns.

French, Dutch, South Korean and American forces checked the

Commission Gives Report on Milk

Reductions Are Hinged on Several Processes; Agency Proposed

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 15 (AP)—Substantial across-the-board reductions in the controversial milk price "spread" cannot be achieved simply by cutting distributors' profit margins, an investigating agency said today.

Any "permanent shrinkage" must come from increased efficiencies in processing and delivering milk and by force of public opinion, the temporary state commission on agriculture added.

These conclusions were made in the commission's final report on a three-year, $315,000 study of the milk price spread—the difference between the price received by the farmer for his milk and the price paid by the consumer.

The commission recommended creation of a "watch-dog" agency in the State Agriculture Department to study changes in the spread. The agency would publicize "inordinate" increases but would have no power to force reductions, except through the pressure of public opinion.

Refuses to Sign

Senator Samuel L. Greenberg of Manhattan, a Democratic minority member of the commission, refused to sign the report. He said he would issue a minority report next week. The Democrats long have accused the commission, headed by Republican Senator Austin Erwin, of "whitewashing" the big milk companies.

The majority report included two supplementary reports on detailed milk price spread studies completed in Binghamton and Amsterdam.

Senator Erwin, of Geneseo, said the commission planned to introduce no legislation. He said the Agriculture Department might want to sponsor a bill to set up the recommended "watch-dog" agency, after studying the report.

The report mentioned "wide differences in efficiencies" of various milk distributing companis and resulting "wide differences in unit profits." These factors, it added, meant that "no substantial across-the-board reduction in (the) spread can be expected by simple cutting of the profit margins."

Small Profits

"Although some companies reported substantial profit margins," the report continued, "others performing the same function reported small profits or actual losses.

"In all markets, some products were found with profit margins sufficient to permit some reduction in the spread. In many instances these were well balanced against smaller margins for other products produced by the same companies."

The 17-member commission was created by the 1945 Legislature. It began its investigation of the milk price spread in 1947.

The study covered operations in the New York city, Buffalo, Binghamton and Amsterdam markets, chosen as "representative" of the different types in operation in the state.

It was directed by Dr. E. C. Young, dean of the graduate school of Purdue University. He will complete his work about March 1, Erwin said.

Body Clears Measure on Rent Raises for March 15—Tax Proposed

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 15 (AP)—The Republican-controlled Legislature, after clearing the way for some residential rent increases up to 15 per cent, received a compromise proposal today to legalize pre-colored, yellow oleomargarine.

The measure to repeal the state's 68-year-old ban on yellow oleo was co-sponsored by the G.O.P. chairman of the Assembly Agriculture Committee, which smothered several repeal bills last year.

The new plan carries many restrictive provisions designed to "protect" butter-producing dairymen and to prevent the "passing" of oleo as butter to consumers.

Other developments:

1. A bill, apparently backed by the Dewey administration, was introduced to increase maximum unemployment insurance benefits from $26 to $30 weekly and to reduce the jobless tax rate for employers with stable employment records.

2. Administration fiscal sources indicated a final decision probably would be reached today or tomorrow on the amount of the promised pay raise to be given the state's 70,000 regular employes.

3. The Assembly Democratic leader, Irwin Steingut, said he favored a proposal by GOP Assemblywoman Janet Hill Gordon to create a commission to study the feasibility of easing New York's strict divorce law.

Bills Introduced

Identical compromise bills, drawn to soften dairy opposition, were introduced to repeal the ban against the manufacture and sale of pre-colored, yellow oleo.

They were sponsored by Assemblyman Myron D. Albro of Lounsberry, chairman of the agriculture committee; Assemblywoman Genesta M. Strong of Plandome, L. I., and Senator Mac Neil Mitchell of Manhattan, all Republicans.

The measures would require vigorous enforcement of restrictive regulations to prevent "fraud

Prospect of 'Quick' Tax Seems Doomed in Congress

Washington, Feb. 15 (AP)—The prospect of any "quickie" tax increase this spring has vanished.

Republicans said a decision the House Ways and Means Committee reached late yesterday also doomed President Truman's proposal for a two-package approach to raising the $16,500,000,000 he asked to meet mounting military costs.

Chairman Doughton (D.-N.C.) announced after an hour-long closed session of the committee that its current tax hearings will cover all revenue raising suggestions made by Secretary of the Treasury Snyder, and any other proposals that members of the committee desire to bring up.

Only after those hearings are completed, he said, will the committee decide whether to proceed with a two-package or one-package bill.

Mr. Truman and Snyder urged Congress to pass as quickly as possible a bill to raise taxes slightly more than $10,000,000,000 a year, dating it back to Jan. 1, and then to consider in more leisurely fashion still another. They said the second one should produce enough to balance Mr. Truman's $71,600,000,000 budget for the year starting July 1—about $6,500,000,000.

Rep. Reed (R.-N.Y.) told reporters the House group's decision was "tantamount" to rejection of the President's plan for that approach. Rep. Simpson (R.-Pa.) concurred in Reed's interpretation. Both are high-ranking G.O.P. members of the committee.

Although Doughton pledged that the committee would expedite things as much as possible while doing a good job, he also remarked that "we can't do this before breakfast."

In the course of yesterday's hearings, Rep. Harrison (D.-Va.) told Economic Stabilization Administrator Eric Johnston there is a "serious possibility" that no tax increase legislation can be laid on the President's desk before the middle of the year.

Johnston, who was pleading for swift enactment of a "tough and steep" tax increase, said any delay would make the problem of stabilizing the nation's economy more difficult, and even impossible if prolonged too much.

Johnston linked a drastic tax increase with economic controls, credit limitations and expanded production as indispensable ingredients of any prescription to stop inflation.

Alcohol Kills Two

New York, Feb. 15 (AP)—John Fuller, 45, and his 38-year-old wife, Helen, died 30 minutes apart in Fordham Hospital last night after telling attaches they had drunk wood alcohol mixed with a soft drink. Police said the couple found the alcohol among paint supplies in an apartment house at 2000 Prospect avenue, the Bronx, where they were employed.

Yugoslavia Question Is Facing Ike

General Europe Bound on Second Mission to Build Defense Against Aggression

Allies Silent

No Certainty Is Given About U.N. Stand if Slavs Are Hit

Washington, Feb. 15 (AP)—As he leaves for Europe again, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower is confronted with the task of building an allied defense against possible Soviet aggression while apparently uncertain of all the conditions under which that force might have to fight.

The big question mark hangs over Yugoslavia, and the question is this: If Soviet satellite armies —with or without direct Soviet assistance—attack Yugoslavia should the west go to their defense?

In recent weeks this question and others related to it—covering possible arms aid for Marshal Tito and the like—have been carefully considered here and in consultation with the British, French and other western governments

Eisenhower, sailing for Europe from New York today, presumably has been briefed on the official estimate of the situation developed in this period. What it is now and what it may become in the future are clearly matters of utmost importance to his European Allied Command.

Allies Uncertain

Authorities here agree his position would be simplified if he could know definitely whether the Atlantic allies would join battle against aggression on Yugoslavia as the U.N. did in Korea. But indications are that decisions as to specific action would be finally made after the emergency arose.

The question of American policy toward Yugoslavia was put to Secretary of State Acheson at a news conference yesterday. He replied that he could not say anything specific, but that American policy could be summed up in the words of a statement President Truman made last July.

Mr. Truman, referring to the men in the Kremlin, had warned that those who have the power to unleash or withhold acts of aggression should realize that "new recourse to aggression in the world today might well strain to the breaking point the fabric of world peace."

Points to Korea

Acheson added that the American attitude toward aggression has been shown in Korea. Top officials believe that while the Communist leaders might have thought last June they could get by with the conquest of Korea they must now assume that even satellite attacks on Yugoslavia very likely would spark world war three.

Quite aside from any U.N. readiness to fight aggression, Yugoslavia has a strategic importance in western military planning which Korea did not have. It stands on the southern flank of western Europe; Tito's 32 divisions compose the strongest single anti-Soviet force in Europe today.

Banquet Scheduled

The annual banquet of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce will be held tonight at the Governor Clinton Hotel starting at 6:30 o'clock. Richard L. Bowditch of Boston, Mass., an outstanding business leader of the nation, will be the principal speaker.

Senate Probers Talk With State Police

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 15 (AP)—Two investigators for the U. S. Senate crime committee visited state police headquarters here yesterday.

Presumably they are here in connection with testimony that a state police report on Saratoga county gambling had been "pigeon-holed."

State police officials declined comment.

Sen. Charles Tobey (R.-N.H.) said Tuesday that witnesses had testified at a committee hearing in New York city that state police had drawn up a report on Saratoga gambling in 1947.

Tobey said that when the report reached an official "rather high-up in authority," it was marked confidential, pigeon-holed and "never saw the light of day."

Among witnesses at the hearing were State Police Superintendent John A. Gaffney, Chief Inspector Francis McGarvey and Inspector Charles LaForge.

Costello Sees Crime Investigators Once More in Probe

Gambler Tells Reporters He Expects Pleasant Session With Group

New York, Feb. 15 (AP)—Gambler Frank Costello kept a return engagement with U. S. Senate crime investigators today and said, through counsel, that he expected "a pleasant session."

Costello was perfectly groomed for his date with the Kefauver Committee on the third and final day of its secret New York hearings. He wore a camel hair overcoat, gray striped suit, white shirt, blue and white polka dot tie and gray felt hat.

As he arrived at the committee's quarters at the Federal Courthouse, accompanied by George Wolf, his attorney, Costello was asked whether he expected "a tussle."

Wolf replied that he expected "a pleasant session."

Costello first appeared before the committee Tuesday. At that time he refused to answer questions concerning a New Orleans gambling outfit unless he could refer to his books.

Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) told newsmen yesterday the group also was inquiring into possible connections between Costello and New York Tammany Hall District Leaders.

Definite Reaction

Kefauver said witnesses in declining to answer questions had shown a definite reaction to a recent Federal District Court decision in Washington, D.C.

In the case of Harry Russell of Chicago and Miami, that court upheld his refusal to testify on the ground that he might incriminate himself. The court ruled Russell was within his constitutional rights.

Meanwhile, the committee awaited a New York State Appeals Court decision on whether jailed bookmaker Frank Erickson could be brought before the group to testify.

Counsel for Erickson fought yesterday to have his client remain in Rikers Island Penitentiary and "serve his time in peace."

Two-Year Term

Erickson, admitted former head of a $12,500,000 a year gambling ring, is serving a two-year term for bookmaking. His attorney, Harold H. Corbin, contended that the committee had no authority to haul Erickson out of jail and make him testify at the hearing.

The Appellate Division of the State Supreme Court reserved decision until today.

Two friends of former New York Mayor William O'Dwyer had to wait from early afternoon until late evening before testifying. They were Clarence H. Neal, Jr., former chairman of the Tammany elections committee, and Bert Stand, former secretary of Tammany Hall, the regular Democratic organization in Manhattan.

Talk Only Briefly

The pair, reportedly queried concerning an alleged penthouse party in 1942 attended by both O'Dwyer and Costello, testified for only a brief period. Sen. Kefauver said Neal and Stand "may be back" during the final hearing today.

O'Dwyer, who resigned as mayor to become ambassador to Mexico, has been asked to attend open committee hearings in New York around the middle of March.

Louis Yavner, special counsel to the Senate committee, arrived here by plane early today from Mexico City where he conferred with O'Dwyer on New York city conditions and the progress of the Senate probe.

Yavner, who spent four days in Mexico City, told newsmen that O'Dwyer's testimony would be "very interesting."

'Madame Butterfly' Romance Involves Nutmeg Legislators

Hartford, Conn., Feb. 15 (AP)—A "Madame Butterfly" romance comes up for consideration today in the Connecticut General Assembly. An air force corporal is hoping that the legislators will write a happier ending to his story than Puccini did for his opera.

Like Lieut. Pinkerton of the operatic tale, Corporal Richard Sarrazin lost his heart to a Japanese beauty.

He married the girl, Homikio Meagagie, in a Shinto ceremony while stationed on Okinawa in May, 1948. Now he wants to bring her and their two sons, Toma, 14 months, and Takeshie, two months old, to this country.

The army shipped Corp. Sarrazin back home last May, forcing him to leave his wife and babies in Nago, Okinawa. A resident of Wallingford, Conn., he is now stationed at Westover Field, Chicopee Falls, Mass.

Corporal Sarrazin says the army tells him that it won't recognize the Shinto marriage unless it has Connecticut's stamp of approval. Without army recognition of the marriage, Corporal Sarrazin can't take advantage of a federal law granting citizenship and entry into the United States for World War II servicemen's wives and families.

The Legislature's Judiciary Committee, meeting appropriately on Valentine's Day, voted to recommend passage of a bill validating the marriage.

Rules Suspended

Because haste is necessary—the federal law expires on Sunday—the committee decided to bring the bill before the Legislature today under suspension of the rules. If passed—and committee members expressed confidence it would be—it'll be sped to Governor John Lodge for his signature.

Then, in Washington, Rep. John A. Maguire (D.-Conn.) will take up the role of cupid. He has promised to try to slash through army red tape before expiration of the Sunday deadline.

Pleven Plan Favored by Italy Following 3-Day Parley on Riviera

Paris, Feb. 15 (AP)—Representatives of five European governments—including West Germany—are conferring here today on a French-sponsored plan for pooling men, guns, ships and planes in one big European army.

The plan, originated by French Premier Rene Pleven, won the endorsement of Italy yesterday following a three-day French-Italian conference at the little Riviera resort of Santa Margherita Ligure.

The unified European army would come under one defense minister with a single general staff of officers to command it. The idea is to pool European fighting resources in much the same manner as the Schuman plan would pool coal and steel.

The first assignment for such a force would be to make its armed strength available to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's Atlantic alliance

Washington, Feb. 15 (AP)—The position of the treasury Feb. 13. Net budget receipts $265,494,-078.97. Budget expenditures $210,-034,199.82. Cash balance $4,833,-497,812.47. Customs receipts for month $22,628,376.65. Budget receipts fiscal year July 1 $24,958,-125,037.18. Budget expenditures fiscal year $24,136,883,684.48. Budget surplus $821,241,352.70. Total debt $256,013,661,122.18. Increase over previous day $58,649,-369.73. Gold assets $22,310,059,-259.26.

Two Building Controls Go Into Effect Throughout U.S.

Washington, Feb. 15 (AP)—Two building controls aimed at combatting inflation and saving materials for defense became effective today.

One requires federal licensing for new commercial construction. The other requires a 50 per cent cash down payment on a vast range of non-residential construction.

The licensing system replaces a general ban that has been in effect on most such building since Jan. 13.

The credit-tightening order applies to stores, offices, hotels, banks, warehouses, garages, service stations, restaurants, theatres, clubs and "other new structures used for non-residential purposes."

The order was issued yesterday by the Federal Reserve Board.

Meanwhile, Economic Stabilization Director Eric Johnston told the House Ways and Means Committee that legislation will be submitted to congress to "equalize and stabilize" farm prices and industrial wages. Johnston did not give details of the proposals, but said they will be "equitable and fair."

Under the construction licensing program, new projects will be authorized only if the National Production Authority (N.P.A.) finds that they (a) further the defense effort, (b) are essential to public health, welfare or safety or (c) will alleviate or prevent a hardship to a particular community.

Eighteen commerce department field offices are authorized to accept applications for building licenses.

Officials expect the system to hold new commercial construction far below the $1,500,000,000 level of last year.

Applications for building permits must contain plans, specifications and material lists.

Types of construction affected also include:

Motels and tourist camps, barber and beauty shops, laundry and dry cleaning establishments, shoe repair and tailor shops, undertaking and cemetery buildings, community and neighborhood buildings, retail stores and shopping centers, and storage warehouses for personal effects.

Construction costing less than $5,000 in 12 months is exempted from licensing controls but not from the new credit curb. This specifies that not more than 50 per cent of a new non-residential construction job may be financed by borrowing.

The same limitation applies to non-residential repairs, enlargements or reconstruction if they exceed 15 per cent of the appraised value of the existing structure.

U.S. Plans to Send Six Divisions To Europe, Marshall Declares

Secretary Gives Report Before Joint Groups at Hearing

Washington, Feb. 15 (AP) — Administration plans contemplate that six U. S. army divisions — triple the American forces now in Europe—will serve with the combined Allied armies being organized to defend western Europe against possible Communist aggression.

Secretary of Defense Marshall gave the figure which means sending over four additional divisions, to the Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services Committees today. He said he did it "reluctantly" but in belief it was better than to have a debate over uncertainties.

Marshall gave no over-all figure as to numbers of men. But an American army division consists of about 18,000 men. In addition, support elements — supply and maintenance, communication, transportation and other units—are needed to keep combat forces in a state of readiness.

In Europe at Present

The United States now has in Europe the First Infantry Division and a constabulary force — equivalent to a second division—trained and equipped for field combat, yet the last official indication of troop strength in Europe was about 97,000 men. Thus more than 60,000 men of the present force presumably are in support elements.

The Senate committees are considering whether Congress should adopt a resolution of some nature concerning the "troops-to-Europe" issue. Marshall was the first witness at hearings.

In riping the top-secret label off this much of the government's blueprint for defending western Europe, Marshall emphasized that the aim of the forces is to keep the peace.

He said the intention is:

1. "To deter aggression if that be possible, and

2. "To defeat aggression if, in spite of all our efforts, the actions of the Soviet Union or its satellites should precipitate another world war."

Asks Free Hand

As to any congressional stand, Marshall strongly urged that the legislators should not do anything which would tie the hands of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, as commander of allied forces, by limiting the number of troops that could be placed under his command.

The proposed six U. S. divisions under Eisenhower would be part of total contemplated defense force of about 40 divisions.

In addition to the U. S. ground forces, there would also be American air and naval units in the combined defense forces.

Five Governments Talk Of Pooling Men, Materiel

Pleven Plan Favored by Italy Following 3-Day Parley on Riviera

Paris, Feb. 15 (AP)—Representatives of five European governments—including West Germany—are conferring here today on a French-sponsored plan for pooling men, guns, ships and planes in one big European army.

The plan, originated by French Premier Rene Pleven, won the endorsement of Italy yesterday following a three-day French-Italian conference at the little Riviera resort of Santa Margherita Ligure.

The unified European army would come under one defense minister with a single general staff of officers to command it. The idea is to pool European fighting resources in much the same manner as the Schuman plan would pool coal and steel.

The first assignment for such a force would be to make its armed strength available to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's Atlantic alliance

'Madame Butterfly' Romance Involves Nutmeg Legislators

Hartford, Conn., Feb. 15 (AP)—A "Madame Butterfly" romance comes up for consideration today in the Connecticut General Assembly. An air force corporal is hoping that the legislators will write a happier ending to his story than Puccini did for his opera.

Like Lieut. Pinkerton of the operatic tale, Corporal Richard Sarrazin lost his heart to a Japanese beauty.

He married the girl, Homikio Meagagie, in a Shinto ceremony while stationed on Okinawa in May, 1948. Now he wants to bring her and their two sons, Toma, 14 months, and Takeshie, two months old, to this country.

The army shipped Corp. Sarrazin back home last May, forcing him to leave his wife and babies in Nago, Okinawa. A resident of Wallingford, Conn., he is now stationed at Westover Field, Chicopee Falls, Mass.

Corporal Sarrazin says the army tells him that it won't recognize the Shinto marriage unless it has Connecticut's stamp of approval. Without army recognition of the marriage, Corporal Sarrazin can't take advantage of a federal law granting citizenship and entry into the United States for World War II servicemen's wives and families.

Rules Suspended

Because haste is necessary—the federal law expires on Sunday—the committee decided to bring the bill before the Legislature today under suspension of the rules. If passed—and committee members expressed confidence it would be—it'll be sped to Governor John Lodge for his signature.

Then, in Washington, Rep. John A. Maguire (D.-Conn.) will take up the role of cupid. He has promised to try to slash through army red tape before expiration of the Sunday deadline.

Two Building Controls Go Into Effect Throughout U.S.

Washington, Feb. 15 (AP)—Two building controls aimed at combatting inflation and saving materials for defense became effective today.

One requires federal licensing for new commercial construction. The other requires a 50 per cent cash down payment on a vast range of non-residential construction.

The licensing system replaces a general ban that has been in effect on most such building since Jan. 13.

The credit-tightening order applies to stores, offices, hotels, banks, warehouses, garages, service stations, restaurants, theatres, clubs and "other new structures used for non-residential purposes."

The order was issued yesterday by the Federal Reserve Board.

Meanwhile, Economic Stabilization Director Eric Johnston told the House Ways and Means Committee that legislation will be submitted to congress to "equalize and stabilize" farm prices and industrial wages. Johnston did not give details of the proposals, but said they will be "equitable and fair."

Under the construction licensing program, new projects will be authorized only if the National Production Authority (N.P.A.) finds that they (a) further the defense effort, (b) are essential to public health, welfare or safety or (c) will alleviate or prevent a hardship to a particular community.

Eighteen commerce department field offices are authorized to accept applications for building licenses.

Officials expect the system to hold new commercial construction far below the $1,500,000,000 level of last year.

Applications for building permits must contain plans, specifications and material lists.

Types of construction affected also include:

Motels and tourist camps, barber and beauty shops, laundry and dry cleaning establishments, shoe repair and tailor shops, undertaking and cemetery buildings, community and neighborhood buildings, retail stores and shopping centers, and storage warehouses for personal effects.

Construction costing less than $5,000 in 12 months is exempted from licensing controls but not from the new credit curb. This specifies that not more than 50 per cent of a new non-residential construction job may be financed by borrowing.

The same limitation applies to non-residential repairs, enlargements or reconstruction if they exceed 15 per cent of the appraised value of the existing structure.

Reds on All Fronts Lose 10,593 Wednesday to Bring Toll to 100,000 Men

Attacks Are Made

Limited Action Carried Out by Allies in Some Sectors

Tokyo, Feb. 15 (AP)—An allied relief column smashed through a Chinese Red ring today to reinforce American an' French forces holding the Chipyong anchor on the central Korean warfront.

The relief force battled eight hours before breaking through to the Chipyong perimeter at 5:30 p. m. (3:30 a. m. E.S.T.) the action began five miles south-southwest of the town.

The hard-hit Chinese finally broke and ran.

Chipyong, 35 air miles east-southeast of Seoul, is the left flank anchor of a 20-mile allied defense line stretching over snow-mantled hills and valleys to Wonju, key to the central mountain passes.

The American-French garrison stoutly withstood two days of massed Red infantry assaults to help break the back of the drive aimed at cracking the central front. The Communist push was stopped Wednesday.

Red casualties were counted at 10,593 on all fronts Wednesday. It brought to nearly 100,000 those killed, wounded or captured since the allied limited push by hunter-killer columns began Jan. 25.

Chinese Are Fleeing

A.P. Correspondent John Randolph reported the Chipyong garrison radioed that the Chinese were "fleeing in all directions" after the relief column rammed through from the south.

However, A.P. Correspondent William J. Waugh reported more than 1,000 Reds were dug in on high ground north of the town.

On the western front, American doughboys and artillery wiped out 400 Chinese who sneaked across the Han river Wednesday night near Seoul.

It was the second consecutive and disastrous Red attempt to cross the icy stream near the burned-out former capital. More than 1,100 Korean Reds were killed there in a foray early Wednesday.

The Chinese, creeping across on a railroad bridge, entrenched themselves on a hill 2½ miles southeast of Seoul. At daybreak, big guns of the U. S. Third Infantry Division pounded the hill and infantrymen opened up at closer range.

Not One Reaches River

Lt. Remer Y. Brinson, Savannah, Ga., a frontline platoon leader, said 200 Chinese survivors broke and fled for the Han in panic. Not one reached the river alive, he added.

Elsewhere on the frigid front allied forces were making limited counter-attacks. AP Correspondent Tom Bradshaw reported American troops, attacking with hand grenades, took high ground northeast of Kyongan, 17 miles southeast of Seoul.

The Reds tried twice to retake the hill—No. 578, named for its height in meters—but had not succeeded by noon Thursday.

Lt. Gen. Mathew B. Ridgway, Eighth Army commander, told officers of the Tenth Corps that allied forces "shall strike back and destroy the bulk of the enemy's forces which we do not capture."

Almond Promoted

Ridgway pinned the three stars of a lieutenant general on Maj. Gen. Edward M. Almond, the Tenth Corps commander.

The mounting toll of Chinese and Korean Reds rose even higher from unceasing attacks by Allied war planes. U. S. Fifth Air Force bombers and fighters flew a record 696 sorties in clear weather Thursday.

Most flights were in close support of ground units which had successfully rolled with the Red punch between Wonju and Chipyong towns.

Reductions Are Hinged on Several Processes; Agency Proposed

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 15 (AP)—Substantial across-the-board reductions in the controversial milk price "spread" cannot be achieved simply by cutting distributors' profit margins, an investigating agency said today.

Any "permanent shrinkage" must come from increased efficiencies in processing and delivering milk and by force of public opinion, the temporary state commission on agriculture added.

These conclusions were made in the commission's final report on a three-year, $315,000 study of the milk price spread—the difference between the price received by the farmer for his milk and the price paid by the consumer.

The commission recommended creation of a "watch-dog" agency in the State Agriculture Department to study changes in the spread. The agency would publicize "inordinate" increases but would have no power to force reductions, except through the pressure of public opinion.

Refuses to Sign

Senator Samuel L. Greenberg of Manhattan, a Democratic minority member of the commission, refused to sign the report. He said he would issue a minority report next week. The Democrats long have accused the commission, headed by Republican Senator Austin Erwin, of "whitewashing" the big milk companies.

The majority report included two supplementary reports on detailed milk price spread studies completed in Binghamton and Amsterdam.

Senator Erwin, of Geneseo, said the commission planned to introduce no legislation. He said the Agriculture Department might want to sponsor a bill to set up the recommended "watch-dog" agency, after studying the report.

The report mentioned "wide differences in efficiencies" of various milk distributing companis and resulting "wide differences in unit profits." These factors, it added, meant that "no substantial across-the-board reduction in (the) spread can be expected by simple cutting of the profit margins."

Small Profits

"Although some companies reported substantial profit margins," the report continued, "others performing the same function reported small profits or actual losses.

"In all markets, some products were found with profit margins sufficient to permit some reduction in the spread. In many instances these were well balanced against smaller margins for other products produced by the same companies."

The 17-member commission was created by the 1945 Legislature. It began its investigation of the milk price spread in 1947.

The study covered operations in the New York city, Buffalo, Binghamton and Amsterdam markets, chosen as "representative" of the different types in operation in the state.

It was directed by Dr. E. C. Young, dean of the graduate school of Purdue University. He will complete his work about March 1, Erwin said.

Alcohol Kills Two

New York, Feb. 15 (AP)—John Fuller, 45, and his 38-year-old wife, Helen, died 30 minutes apart in Fordham Hospital last night after telling attaches they had drunk wood alcohol mixed with a soft drink. Police said the couple found the alcohol among paint supplies in an apartment house at 2000 Prospect avenue, the Bronx, where they were employed.

Body Clears Measure on Rent Raises for March 15—Tax Proposed

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 15 (AP)—The Republican-controlled Legislature, after clearing the way for some residential rent increases up to 15 per cent, received a compromise proposal today to legalize pre-colored, yellow oleomargarine.

The measure to repeal the state's 68-year-old ban on yellow oleo was co-sponsored by the G.O.P. chairman of the Assembly Agriculture Committee, which smothered several repeal bills last year.

The new plan carries many restrictive provisions designed to "protect" butter-producing dairymen and to prevent the "passing" of oleo as butter to consumers.

Other developments:

1. A bill, apparently backed by the Dewey administration, was introduced to increase maximum unemployment insurance benefits from $26 to $30 weekly and to reduce the jobless tax rate for employers with stable employment records.

2. Administration fiscal sources indicated a final decision probably would be reached today or tomorrow on the amount of the promised pay raise to be given the state's 70,000 regular employes.

3. The Assembly Democratic leader, Irwin Steingut, said he favored a proposal by GOP Assemblywoman Janet Hill Gordon to create a commission to study the feasibility of easing New York's strict divorce law.

Bills Introduced

Identical compromise bills, drawn to soften dairy opposition, were introduced to repeal the ban against the manufacture and sale of pre-colored, yellow oleo.

They were sponsored by Assemblyman Myron D. Albro of Lounsberry, chairman of the agriculture committee; Assemblywoman Genesta M. Strong of Plandome, L. I., and Senator Mac Neil Mitchell of Manhattan, all Republicans.

The measures would require vigorous enforcement of restrictive regulations to prevent "fraud

Prospect of 'Quick' Tax Seems Doomed in Congress

Washington, Feb. 15 (AP)—The prospect of any "quickie" tax increase this spring has vanished.

Republicans said a decision the House Ways and Means Committee reached late yesterday also doomed President Truman's proposal for a two-package approach to raising the $16,500,000,000 he asked to meet mounting military costs.

Chairman Doughton (D.-N.C.) announced after an hour-long closed session of the committee that its current tax hearings will cover all revenue raising suggestions made by Secretary of the Treasury Snyder, and any other proposals that members of the committee desire to bring up.

Only after those hearings are completed, he said, will the committee decide whether to proceed with a two-package or one-package bill.

Mr. Truman and Snyder urged Congress to pass as quickly as possible a bill to raise taxes slightly more than $10,000,000,000 a year, dating it back to Jan. 1, and then to consider in more leisurely fashion still another. They said the second one should produce enough to balance Mr. Truman's $71,600,000,000 budget for the year starting July 1—about $6,500,000,000.

Rep. Reed (R.-N.Y.) told reporters the House group's decision was "tantamount" to rejection of the President's plan for that approach. Rep. Simpson (R.-Pa.) concurred in Reed's interpretation. Both are high-ranking G.O.P. members of the committee.

Although Doughton pledged that the committee would expedite things as much as possible while doing a good job, he also remarked that "we can't do this before breakfast."

In the course of yesterday's hearings, Rep. Harrison (D.-Va.) told Economic Stabilization Administrator Eric Johnston there is a "serious possibility" that no tax increase legislation can be laid on the President's desk before the middle of the year.

Johnston, who was pleading for swift enactment of a "tough and steep" tax increase, said any delay would make the problem of stabilizing the nation's economy more difficult, and even impossible if prolonged too much.

Johnston linked a drastic tax increase with economic controls, credit limitations and expanded production as indispensable ingredients of any prescription to stop inflation.

U.S. Plans to Send Six Divisions To Europe, Marshall Declares

Secretary Gives Report Before Joint Groups at Hearing

Washington, Feb. 15 (AP) — Administration plans contemplate that six U. S. army divisions — triple the American forces now in Europe—will serve with the combined Allied armies being organized to defend western Europe against possible Communist aggression.

Secretary of Defense Marshall gave the figure which means sending over four additional divisions, to the Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services Committees today. He said he did it "reluctantly" but in belief it was better than to have a debate over uncertainties.

Marshall gave no over-all figure as to numbers of men. But an American army division consists of about 18,000 men. In addition, support elements — supply and maintenance, communication, transportation and other units—are needed to keep combat forces in a state of readiness.

In Europe at Present

The United States now has in Europe the First Infantry Division and a constabulary force — equivalent to a second division—trained and equipped for field combat, yet the last official indication of troop strength in Europe was about 97,000 men. Thus more than 60,000 men of the present force presumably are in support elements.

The Senate committees are considering whether Congress should adopt a resolution of some nature concerning the "troops-to-Europe" issue. Marshall was the first witness at hearings.

In riping the top-secret label off this much of the government's blueprint for defending western Europe, Marshall emphasized that the aim of the forces is to keep the peace.

He said the intention is:

1. "To deter aggression if that be possible, and

2. "To defeat aggression if, in spite of all our efforts, the actions of the Soviet Union or its satellites should precipitate another world war."

Asks Free Hand

As to any congressional stand, Marshall strongly urged that the legislators should not do anything which would tie the hands of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, as commander of allied forces, by limiting the number of troops that could be placed under his command.

The proposed six U. S. divisions under Eisenhower would be part of total contemplated defense force of about 40 divisions.

In addition to the U. S. ground forces, there would also be American air and naval units in the combined defense forces.

Yugoslavia Question Is Facing Ike

General Europe Bound on Second Mission to Build Defense Against Aggression

No Certainty Is Given About U.N. Stand if Slavs Are Hit

Washington, Feb. 15 (AP)—As he leaves for Europe again, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower is confronted with the task of building an allied defense against possible Soviet aggression while apparently uncertain of all the conditions under which that force might have to fight.

The big question mark hangs over Yugoslavia, and the question is this: If Soviet satellite armies—with or without direct Soviet assistance—attack Yugoslavia should the west go to their defense?

In recent weeks this question and others related to it—covering possible arms aid for Marshal Tito and the like—have been carefully considered here and in consultation with the British, French and other western governments

Eisenhower, sailing for Europe from New York today, presumably has been briefed on the official estimate of the situation developed in this period. What it is now and what it may become in the future are clearly matters of utmost importance to his European Allied Command.

Allies Uncertain

Authorities here agree his position would be simplified if he could know definitely whether the Atlantic allies would join battle against aggression on Yugoslavia as the U.N. did in Korea. But indications are that decisions as to specific action would be finally made after the emergency arose.

The question of American policy toward Yugoslavia was put to Secretary of State Acheson at a news conference yesterday. He replied that he could not say anything specific, but that American policy could be summed up in the words of a statement President Truman made last July.

Mr. Truman, referring to the men in the Kremlin, had warned that those who have the power to unleash or withhold acts of aggression should realize that "new recourse to aggression in the world today might well strain to the breaking point the fabric of world peace."

Points to Korea

Acheson added that the American attitude toward aggression has been shown in Korea. Top officials believe that while the Communist leaders might have thought last June they could get by with the conquest of Korea they must now assume that even satellite attacks on Yugoslavia very likely would spark world war three.

Quite aside from any U.N. readiness to fight aggression, Yugoslavia has a strategic importance in western military planning which Korea did not have. It stands on the southern flank of western Europe; Tito's 32 divisions compose the strongest single anti-Soviet force in Europe today.

Senate Probers Talk With State Police

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 15 (AP)—Two investigators for the U. S. Senate crime committee visited state police headquarters here yesterday.

Presumably they are here in connection with testimony that a state police report on Saratoga county gambling had been "pigeon-holed."

State police officials declined comment.

Sen. Charles Tobey (R.-N.H.) said Tuesday that witnesses had testified at a committee hearing in New York city that state police had drawn up a report on Saratoga gambling in 1947.

Tobey said that when the report reached an official "rather high-up in authority," it was marked confidential, pigeon-holed and "never saw the light of day."

Among witnesses at the hearing were State Police Superintendent John A. Gaffney, Chief Inspector Francis McGarvey and Inspector Charles LaForge.

Gambler Tells Reporters He Expects Pleasant Session With Group

New York, Feb. 15 (AP)—Gambler Frank Costello kept a return engagement with U. S. Senate crime investigators today and said, through counsel, that he expected "a pleasant session."

Costello was perfectly groomed for his date with the Kefauver Committee on the third and final day of its secret New York hearings. He wore a camel hair overcoat, gray striped suit, white shirt, blue and white polka dot tie and gray felt hat.

As he arrived at the committee's quarters at the Federal Courthouse, accompanied by George Wolf, his attorney, Costello was asked whether he expected "a tussle."

Wolf replied that he expected "a pleasant session."

Costello first appeared before the committee Tuesday. At that time he refused to answer questions concerning a New Orleans gambling outfit unless he could refer to his books.

Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) told newsmen yesterday the group also was inquiring into possible connections between Costello and New York Tammany Hall District Leaders.

Definite Reaction

Kefauver said witnesses in declining to answer questions had shown a definite reaction to a recent Federal District Court decision in Washington, D.C.

In the case of Harry Russell of Chicago and Miami, that court upheld his refusal to testify on the ground that he might incriminate himself. The court ruled Russell was within his constitutional rights.

Meanwhile, the committee awaited a New York State Appeals Court decision on whether jailed bookmaker Frank Erickson could be brought before the group to testify.

Counsel for Erickson fought yesterday to have his client remain in Rikers Island Penitentiary and "serve his time in peace."

Two-Year Term

Erickson, admitted former head of a $12,500,000 a year gambling ring, is serving a two-year term for bookmaking. His attorney, Harold H. Corbin, contended that the committee had no authority to haul Erickson out of jail and make him testify at the hearing.

The Appellate Division of the State Supreme Court reserved decision until today.

The committee continued questioning a mixed group of politicians, underworld characters and waterfront figures yesterday.

Two friends of former New York Mayor William O'Dwyer had to wait from early afternoon until late evening before testifying. They were Clarence H. Neal, Jr., former chairman of the Tammany elections committee, and Bert Stand, former secretary of Tammany Hall, the regular Democratic organization in Manhattan.

Talk Only Briefly

The pair, reportedly queried concerning an alleged penthouse party in 1942 attended by both O'Dwyer and Costello, testified for only a brief period. Sen. Kefauver said Neal and Stand "may be back" during the final hearing today.

O'Dwyer, who resigned as mayor to become ambassador to Mexico, has been asked to attend open committee hearings in New York around the middle of March.

Louis Yavner, special counsel to the Senate committee, arrived here by plane early today from Mexico City where he conferred with O'Dwyer on New York city conditions and the progress of the Senate probe.

Yavner, who spent four days in Mexico City, told newsmen that O'Dwyer's testimony would be "very interesting."

LegislatureGetsCompromise Proposal on Yellow Oleo

Reductions Are Hinged on Several Processes; Agency Proposed

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 15 (AP)—Substantial across-the-board reductions in the controversial milk price "spread" cannot be achieved simply by cutting distributors' profit margins, an investigating agency said today.

Any "permanent shrinkage" must come from increased efficiencies in processing and delivering milk and by force of public opinion, the temporary state commission on agriculture added.

These conclusions were made in the commission's final report on a three-year, $315,000 study of the milk price spread—the difference between the price received by the farmer for his milk and the price paid by the consumer.

The commission recommended creation of a "watch-dog" agency in the State Agriculture Department to study changes in the spread. The agency would publicize "inordinate" increases but would have no power to force reductions, except through the pressure of public opinion.

Refuses to Sign

Senator Samuel L. Greenberg of Manhattan, a Democratic minority member of the commission, refused to sign the report. He said he would issue a minority report next week. The Democrats long have accused the commission, headed by Republican Senator Austin Erwin, of "whitewashing" the big milk companies.

The majority report included two supplementary reports on detailed milk price spread studies completed in Binghamton and Amsterdam.

Senator Erwin, of Geneseo, said the commission planned to introduce no legislation. He said the Agriculture Department might want to sponsor a bill to set up the recommended "watch-dog" agency, after studying the report.

The report mentioned "wide differences in efficiencies" of various milk distributing companis and resulting "wide differences in unit profits." These factors, it added, meant that "no substantial across-the-board reduction in (the) spread can be expected by simple cutting of the profit margins."

Small Profits

"Although some companies reported substantial profit margins," the report continued, "others performing the same function reported small profits or actual losses.

"In all markets, some products were found with profit margins sufficient to permit some reduction in the spread. In many instances these were well balanced against smaller margins for other products produced by the same companies."

The 17-member commission was created by the 1945 Legislature. It began its investigation of the milk price spread in 1947.

The study covered operations in the New York city, Buffalo, Binghamton and Amsterdam markets, chosen as "representative" of the different types in operation in the state.

It was directed by Dr. E. C. Young, dean of the graduate school of Purdue University. He will complete his work about March 1, Erwin said.

Alcohol Kills Two

New York, Feb. 15 (AP)—John Fuller, 45, and his 38-year-old wife, Helen, died 30 minutes apart in Fordham Hospital last night after telling attaches they had drunk wood alcohol mixed with a soft drink. Police said the couple found the alcohol among paint supplies in an apartment house at 2000 Prospect avenue, the Bronx, where they were employed.

Body Clears Measure on Rent Raises for March 15—Tax Proposed

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 15 (AP)—The Republican-controlled Legislature, after clearing the way for some residential rent increases up to 15 per cent, received a compromise proposal today to legalize pre-colored, yellow oleomargarine.

The measure to repeal the state's 68-year-old ban on yellow oleo was co-sponsored by the G.O.P. chairman of the Assembly Agriculture Committee, which smothered several repeal bills last year.

The new plan carries many restrictive provisions designed to "protect" butter-producing dairymen and to prevent the "passing" of oleo as butter to consumers.

Other developments:

1. A bill, apparently backed by the Dewey administration, was introduced to increase maximum unemployment insurance benefits from $26 to $30 weekly and to reduce the jobless tax rate for employers with stable employment records.

2. Administration fiscal sources indicated a final decision probably would be reached today or tomorrow on the amount of the promised pay raise to be given the state's 70,000 regular employes.

3. The Assembly Democratic leader, Irwin Steingut, said he favored a proposal by GOP Assemblywoman Janet Hill Gordon to create a commission to study the feasibility of easing New York's strict divorce law.

Bills Introduced

Identical compromise bills, drawn to soften dairy opposition, were introduced to repeal the ban against the manufacture and sale of pre-colored, yellow oleo.

They were sponsored by Assemblyman Myron D. Albro of Lounsberry, chairman of the agriculture committee; Assemblywoman Genesta M. Strong of Plandome, L. I., and Senator Mac Neil Mitchell of Manhattan, all Republicans.

The measures would require vigorous enforcement of restrictive regulations to prevent "fraud

Prospect of 'Quick' Tax Seems Doomed in Congress

Washington, Feb. 15 (AP)—The prospect of any "quickie" tax increase this spring has vanished.

Republicans said a decision the House Ways and Means Committee reached late yesterday also doomed President Truman's proposal for a two-package approach to raising the $16,500,000,000 he asked to meet mounting military costs.

Chairman Doughton (D.-N.C.) announced after an hour-long closed session of the committee that its current tax hearings will cover all revenue raising suggestions made by Secretary of the Treasury Snyder, and any other proposals that members of the committee desire to bring up.

Only after those hearings are completed, he said, will the committee decide whether to proceed with a two-package or one-package bill.

Mr. Truman and Snyder urged Congress to pass as quickly as possible a bill to raise taxes slightly more than $10,000,000,000 a year, dating it back to Jan. 1, and then to consider in more leisurely fashion still another. They said the second one should produce enough to balance Mr. Truman's $71,600,000,000 budget for the year starting July 1—about $6,500,000,000.

Rep. Reed (R.-N.Y.) told reporters the House group's decision was "tantamount" to rejection of the President's plan for that approach. Rep. Simpson (R.-Pa.) concurred in Reed's interpretation. Both are high-ranking G.O.P. members of the committee.

Although Doughton pledged that the committee would expedite things as much as possible while doing a good job, he also remarked that "we can't do this before breakfast."

In the course of yesterday's hearings, Rep. Harrison (D.-Va.) told Economic Stabilization Administrator Eric Johnston there is a "serious possibility" that no tax increase legislation can be laid on the President's desk before the middle of the year.

Johnston, who was pleading for swift enactment of a "tough and steep" tax increase, said any delay would make the problem of stabilizing the nation's economy more difficult, and even impossible if prolonged too much.

Johnston linked a drastic tax increase with economic controls, credit limitations and expanded production as indispensable ingredients of any prescription to stop inflation.

Extra Caution Given About Cheese Spread

Considerable information has been distributed recently relating to illness in California during January resulting from consumption of Liederkranz cheese spread in jars. This illness was restricted to a certain lot of the process cheese spread.

As a precautionary measure the Borden Company voluntarily initiated the recall of all of this spread. The Ulster County Health Department, in a news release, states that the Borden distributor in Poughkeepsie effectively collected all this product distributed to stores in Ulster county the latter part of January.

A recheck by the Ulster County Health Department has revealed no such cheese spread in local stores. However, as a matter of precaution should any person have any of this cheese spread in jars it is preferable for safety sake not to be used. Liederkranz cheese in foil as produced by this company has not been involved.

The first official American flag was displayed Jan. 1, 1776 in the American lines besieging Boston.

Twins Are Born

Los Angeles, Feb. 15 (AP)—A 15-year-old girl became a mother of twins yesterday, making grandparents of her mother and father both at the age of 32. Mrs. Barbara Solomon, Hawthorne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brannen, gave birth to premature babies at suburban Maywood Hospital. The twins, weighing four pounds, 11 ounces and four pounds seven ounces, were placed in incubators. Both they and their mother were reported in good condition.

Bills in Legislature

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 15 (AP)—A bill to ban radio broadcasts and other audible advertising in public travel facilities was introduced in the legislature today.

Republican Senator Thomas C. Desmond of Newburgh said his measure would "protect citizens from an unwarranted form of intrusion, and another irritation of daily travel."

The ban would affect buses, subway and surface trains, waiting rooms, and similar facilities.

Desmond said advertising by commercial broadcasting was "both useful and important in the business life of the state."

"But to what form of it they want to listen, and when, all persons have the right to decide for themselves," he declared.

A Queens Democrat, Assemblyman William G. Giaccio, sponsored another measure to double—from $400 to $800—the exemption for each dependent in the state's personal income tax.

Giaccio contended that the present exemption was "grossly inadequate with our high cost of living." He said the exemption should be doubled because "under our present economy our dollar is in fact really worth only 50 cents."

Another Democrat, Assemblyman Louis A. Cioffi of Manhattan, proposed that the legislature fix the maximum charge for electrical power at three cents a kilowatt hour, effective next July 1.

The state power authority, in a recent report, said the state's residential consumers paid an average of 3.59 cents a kilowatt-hour in 1949. The agency claimed this was 21 per cent higher than the national average.

A Kilowatt-hour is the amount of power necessary to burn ten 100-watt bulbs for one hour.

Other bills introduced would:

Require the State Board of Standards and Appeals to make rules for regulating the discharge of soot and fumes from industrial plants into the air. (Senator Seymour Halpern and Assemblyman Anthony P. Saverese, Jr., both R-Queens.)

Extend for another year, to July 1, 1952, free hunting privileges for servicemen stationed in New York State. (Senator Ernest I. Hatfield, R-Poughkeepsie.)

Repeal the controversial Feinberg law, which bans subversives from public school jobs.

Provide 10 per cent additional pay for attendants in state mental institutions.

Hanging Is Delayed

Landsberg, Germany, Feb. 15 (AP)—A last-ditch fight for life in a federal district court in Washington today staved off the scheduled hanging of seven German war criminals at a U. S. prison here. Col. W. R. Graham, prison commandant, said that as long as the U. S. court considers a habeas corpus action filed by an attorney for the seven condemned men, the executions will be stayed.

Healthy Interest, They Say

Supervisor Claude Bell of the town of Olive and Robert Haver, Democratic chairman of the town of Olive, who led the opposition to a $300,000 bond issue which was voted at a special school meeting of the Onteroa Central School District Tuesday evening, have issued the following statement: "We want to publicly thank the voters of the town of Olive for turning out in such large numbers to vote at the special school meeting held in Phoenicia Tuesday night. We feel it indicates a healthy interest in school affairs."

TO SPREAD THE TRUTH

Has the State Department the necessary qualifications for carrying out an expanded program for the Voice of America? This question has been brought to the fore by Senator William Benton of Connecticut, who was formerly assistant secretary of state in charge of the Voice program.

In a correspondence with Secretary Dean Acheson, Senator Benton declared that the Voice is not properly filling its appointed role in the present world situation. He asserted that the program should be vastly expanded and that the State Department should be relieved of its operation. Because of its vital importance, Senator Benton thinks this work should be carried out by as large and high-ranking a staff as that which handles the European Recovery Program.

The point of this proposal deserves thought. It is obvious that the Communist nations give a much more important place to propaganda than we do. It behooves us to find ways to put more energy into combatting Communist propaganda and into spreading our own story.

LEADERS FOR THE YOUNG

The anniversary observance of the Boy Scouts has brought many words of praise for the organization and for what it accomplishes in providing wholesome activity and citizenship training for boys. The observance past, the organization will go on with its activities, with the same leaders and committee members doing the work. And there is much work to be done.

The community sees only the surface of the projects, such as the Boy Scout program, for helping boys and girls develop into good citizens. Beneath the surface is a constant flow of supporting work—organization, material aid, guidance and direct leadership—which must be done by adults. When a youth group does well, this supporting work has much to do with its success. When one collapses, it is usually because of adult failure rather than lack of interest and cooperation by the young people.

None of these youth organizations ever has enough adult help. There are always more things which could be done by willing volunteers. Public awareness of the need for youth activities is fine. So is appreciation of the things they accomplish. It would be still better if more of this awareness and appreciation could be expressed in individual offers to help.

MORE SIGNS NEEDED

The new wide parkways and expressways, constructed for the purpose of expediting traffic in and around cities, are generally efficient. But their purpose may easily be defeated by a scarcity of clear directional signs.

Accidents are caused by the confusion resulting from such a lack. Detours made necessary by unfinished construction are often marked poorly, if at all, their victims complain. The loops and bypasses which admit and discharge traffic at intersections often have their directional signs too close to the point of entrance or exit, say motorists. The driver has not enough time in which to prepare himself for the change in direction, and for this reason he may cause an accident by his sudden change of pace.

This condition, where it exists, could be quickly and easily remedied, and should be taken care of in order that these modern roads may be used to the fullest advantage and with the greatest degree of safety. Future construction should take this need into account.

FITNESS FOR SERVICE

"I don't think there will be a recurrence of that this time," said General George C. Marshall, secretary of defense, before the House Armed Services Committee. He was referring to the anomaly in the last war by which athletes were rejected for military service because of perforated ear drums or some other defect, and then went out to play intercollegiate or professional baseball and football. There were a number of such cases.

These instances were little short of scandalous. If the standards of the armed forces did not permit these men to be accepted for general duty, there was plenty of other necessary military work which they could have performed. It is good news that our military authorities have profited from criticism.

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

INFANTRY IN FRONT

The great debate is to result in hearings before the Senate. A terrific array of brass is to be called—in uniform, bedecked and emblazoned. The principal witnesses will be doughboys—infantrymen, ground troops, Generals Marshall, Eisenhower and Bradley. The navy had a tough time when Louis Johnson was secretary of defense; now it is the navy and the air force who are silenced.

But infantry alone will not win a war. There are many effective, if not more effective functional groups: the airforce, the navy, artillery, cavalry (tanks), to say nothing of all the new scientific and psychological agencies.

Have you noticed how silent these branches have been? Have you noted that during the whole of the great debate General Hoyt Vandenberg of the airforce, who used to be quite vocal, has been silent as though he did not exist? And what has become of Admiral Forrest Sherman? Have these services no views to pass on to the Congress and to the American people?

Well, I have been asking these questions and I was told that effective December 12, 1950, "no speeches or public announcements will be made by armed forces personel until clearance has been obtained. Copies of future speeches, statements, or press releases concerning foreign or military policy must be submitted to this headquarters (Pentagon) for proper clearance.

"All personnel, particularly those overseas, will refrain from making public statements or communicating with news media on military or foreign policy without prior clearance with this headquarters. The purpose is not to curtail the flow of information to the American people but to insure that the information is accurate and in accord with the policies of the United States government."

Such instructions have not been unusual in recent years, but that last sentence is political nonsense. The head of the air force or the navy is accurate when he responsibly testifies before a congressional committee. Why should one assume that General Hoyt Vandenberg or Armiral Forrest Sherman, so testifying under oath, is less responsible and accurate than Generals George Marshall, Dwight Eisenhower or Omar Bradley? Does the infantry have a monopoly of the truth? There was a time when all military men sang together as perfectly as a Fred Waring Glee Club, but apparently those days are gone.

It has come to me, in an indirect manner, perhaps irresponsibly, that the following instructions were added to those of December 12:

"Officers may, upon their own responsibility and at their own discretion, make remarks concerning unclassified matters of foreign or military policies to selected groups for background purposes only and not for publication, without obtaining prior clearance, provided that their remarks are confined to the bounds of policies which have been publicly announced by the White House, State or Defense Departments."

In other words, what is permissible is that which has been politically cleared. While Congress gropes for the facts so that it may pass the legislation required to defend this country, high-ranking officers of our armed services have been gagged, by orders, requiring them to watch their politics.

Until these orders are withdrawn, these men may not speak truthfully if the truth contradicts policy. They are soldiers and are required by their profession to obey their superiors in a chain of command reaching upward to the President who, while a politician, is commander-in-chief.

Therefore, the Congress may never have the whole truth in open hearings. That does not mean that human nature, being what it is, does not in some manner, if only by rumor, assert itself.

For instance, no matter how great an effort was made in Washington to lower General MacArthur's prestige by calling the evacuation of Hungnam a Dunkirk, it never was that. Although General MacArthur has been criticized by American and British politicians for being too precise about the size of the Soviet Chinese army, it is true that General Lin Piao had an army of 500,000 men, even if knowledge of that fact did embarrass the appeasers in the United Nations. Such facts do get out.

A student might even make a comparison between the Anzio campaign in World War II and the Korean campaign, and the infantrymen would be very embarrassed.

But rumor and gossip do not serve as an honestly conducted congressional investigation can. The question then is: Shall we have a full hearing or another Pearl Harbor investigation, or worse still, another Tydings committee?

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

DISEASES WITHOUT SYMPTOMS

I was examining a powerfully built young man. Removing my stethoscope from his chest, I stepped back and looked at his face for a moment.

"What's the matter, doctor?" he asked.

"Why, you double-crossed me. When I saw your bulging eyes I expected a heart rate of at least 96 and it is only 72. I thought you had a severe form of goiter and I couldn't believe your heart rate."

"Oh, yes," he said, "I did have goiter but I had the thyroid gland removed several weeks ago. My heart slowed down and I'm less nervous, but my eyes haven't gone down completely yet."

In many ailments there are certain distinct signs and symptoms present which enable the physician to recognize the disease present immediately. In others, diagnosis is more difficult.

In Medical Clinics of North America, Dr. E. J. Stieglitz states that the physician who wishes to do his best for his patients is confronted with a dilemma. "Should he follow the old traditional method of waiting for symptoms before he studies his patient thoroughly, or should he put apparently well patients through many diagnostic tests and complete physical examinations in the hope of detecting serious disease early?"

Older physicians dislike the idea of these routine complete examinations, feeling that the physician is apt to depend too much on laboratory and other tests and gradually become more interested in the disease instead of in the patient. He becomes almost a mechanic and less of a diagnostician.

Diseases may be present when no symptoms are in evidence. These diseases, in their early stages, may be detected by laboratory tests, but if neglected, may mean chronic illness or death.

Some of the diseases mentioned by Dr. Stieglitz are (a) chronic infections of the heart muscle caused by rheumatism or syphilis, (b) hardening of the arteries causing apoplexy, coronary thrombosis, inflammation of the kidneys, (c) diabetes, gangrene, anemia and menopause due to gland changes, (d) cancer, (e) arthritis of various types.

All these diseases begin without symptoms and may be well advanced before the symptoms, felt by the patient but unknown to others, appear.

The suggestion is that the physician make as many tests as possible in his office when patient first consults him.

"But Think of the Experience Yuh Got!"

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—Some senators seem to believe that it is a criminal matter for a newspaper to criticize military mistakes. This is a view also shared by many brass hats—though not all.

However, mistakes are sometimes rectified chiefly through knowing about them, and a case in point is the magnificent manner in which Gen. Matthew Ridgway has profited from the mistakes of General MacArthur in turning a tragic defeat into Korean victory.

While the very loyal MacArthur clique may argue that he is still supreme commander in Tokyo, and therefore deserves credit for the current victory, the indisputable facts are that General Ridgway was sent to Korea direct from Washington where he had been deputy chief of staff and as such was in close contact with the Pentagon's views of warfare. It also is an indisputable fact that Ridgway won his victory with no new fresh troops and facing a somewhat stronger enemy than MacArthur.

According to military observers who read the battle dispatches, here is how Ridgway profited by mistakes and accomplished his remarkable feat:

Careful Intelligence — MacArthur conducted only limited patrolling for three or four days before launching his attack. Then, after the attack boomeranged, the Eighth Army retreated so fast that it lost all contact with the enemy and for several weeks didn't know where the Communists were.

In contrast, Ridgway conducted aggressive patrolling for eight to ten days before kicking off his offensive. He sent heavy patrols deep into enemy territory in so-called "reconnaissance in force." His orders were to disrupt any Communist build-up, to inflict as many casualties as possible and to survey enemy positions. The lack of patrolling by MacArthur failed to detect the Chinese Communist build-up that swept our armies back to the 38th Parallel. However, Ridgway's troops knew exactly what to expect.

Public Relations — MacArthur announced his offensive the same morning it was launched, predicting his troops would be "home by Christmas." Ridgway waited until his offensive had been rolling over 24 hours before announcing it.

Poor Battle Liaison — MacArthur struck in all directions at once. His troops were fanned out from one end of North Korea to the other, in no position to head off a surprise counterattack. The Eighth Army and Tenth Corps also had no battle liaison, had to coordinate their actions through Tokyo.

In contrast, Ridgway opened his attack on the western front, but didn't order his eastern front to move until nine days later—after he was sure all was going well. He had the added advantage of being in full command in the field, and wasn't forced to direct two fronts by remote control from Tokyo.

Contrast in Casualties — MacArthur suffered devastating casualties after the Chinese hit, lost more than 15,000 casualties in two weeks. Later, the marines, who broke out of the Chosin reservoir trap, mowed down the Chinese at a ratio of 20 to one. However, Ridgway's losses during the first two weeks of his offensive were the lightest of the Korean war. He suffered less than 1,500 casualties, at the same time taking a toll of 52,000 Communist casualties.

In fairness to MacArthur and in tribute to the air force, Ridgway has been meeting more scattered opposition. This is largely because the air force has raked enemy positions with devastating fire bombs and rocket fire. Ridgway's aggressive, armored patrols also killed and rooted out Communists along the path of the offensive. As a result, the main Chinese Communist force is reported to be digging in north of the 38th Parallel.

It should also be pointed out that MacArthur's supply lines in North Korea were stretched, whereas the Chinese Communists were then only a few miles from their supply bases. This situation has now been reversed.

Ridgway's advance patrolling and careful preparation, however, made the big difference between defeat and victory.

Both Hands and Feet

Sgt. Rolland McDonald of Fort Bliss, Texas, read in this column about a marine colonel who endorsed his state pension check over to Pfc. Robert L. Smith, who lost both arms and both legs in Korea, then had his teeth kicked out by a Chinese Communist. Sergeant McDonald was so touched that he wrote a check for $25 and asked Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas to forward it to the quadruple amputee.

"It was impressed upon me," wrote Sergeant McDonald, "that the Pfc. maybe has a little something coming from most of us who haven't yet been sent to Korea. At any rate, here is my attempt to pay a little of the debt that the citizens of the country owe him."

Fame Is Fleeing

Gen. "Wild Bill" Donovan, wartime boss of the cloak-and-dagger Office of Strategic Services, learned the other day how fleeting is fame.

The general returned to his old offices, now occupied by the successor outfit, Central Intelligence Agency, and was stopped by a conscientious guard. Then a receptionist politely asked him to fill out a card giving his full name, address and who he wanted to see.

Dutifully the man who once ruled supreme over this important office obeyed.

Explaining Foreign Policy

Secretary of State Dean Acheson got an education on the headaches of senators at a private luncheon for new members of the Foreign Relations Committee.

Over the coffee cups, Sen. Guy Gillette, the white-haired solon from Iowa, turned to Acheson.

"Every congressman has been swamped with mail on foreign policy," he said. "I've had 6,000 letters alone on this topic since Christmas. People are confused and bewildered. They want to know what our policy is and why. The hostility toward the State Department can be traced right back to the bewilderment of the people."

"Well what should we do about it?" Acheson inquired.

"Tell the story over and over again," was Gillette's advice. "Why are our boys fighting in Korea? Why do we need an army for the defense of western Europe? Why must we raise taxes and impose controls and rationing for defense? Tell the story simply."

"We are doing all we can, Senator," said the secretary of state. "Members of the department are speaking as never before."

"I made 22 speeches in the last 10 days," volunteered one of Acheson's aides.

Senator Gillette shook his head. "There are only two people who carry the weight to be listened to—the President and you, Mr. Secretary. You must stump the country, if need be, to explain and sell our foreign policy."

Note—Real fact is that a secretary of state almost has to be two people—a politician, in order to sell foreign policy to the public and the Senate; and a student of foreign affairs, in order to decide what that policy should be. It is hard to find a man who can do both.

It Is Hard to Explain Why British Persist in Giving Military News to Chinese Reds

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Feb. 15—It is utterly inexplicable why the British government persists in handing military information to the Chinese Communists, thus endangering the lives of our troops in Korea.

It is not being done deliberately, of course, or with the object of informing the enemy, but the net result is the same. Thus the following dispatch came through on one of the press association wires from London in the last 24 hours, and evidently nobody there thought it should be censored:

"British military experts believe that the U.N. forces in Korea should hold a strategic line roughly 10 to 25 miles south of the 38th Parallel frontier, well-informed sources said.

"It is likely that this view has been communicated to the U. S. in connection with the view of the Labor Government that for all political purposes the U.N. forces should not cross the parallel without full consultation among all countries which have troops under General MacArthur."

Now it has just been disclosed by Secretary Acheson that conferences are being held twice a week in Washington at which representatives of all U.N. countries having troops in Korea are present. These conferences are held in the Pentagon building with our own military chiefs, and have been going on since the latter part of last November. Hence, it seems fantastic that the prime minister of Great Britain, Clement Attlee, should have felt obligated to say publicly the other day what he could just as well have said privately, through his own military representatives in Washington, about crossing the 38th Parallel.

The view of any one government that the U.N. forces should not press beyond this or that line is extremely delicate information of a highly dangerous character to broadcast. It tells the enemy what risks they can take in moving against our troops. It tells them of important differences inside the military command. The enemy can gain a good deal of information as to our intended troop movements and plans if it knows what objections are being raised to our operations and strategy in Korea.

There used to be a time in diplomacy when, if the British government had anything of a military nature to communicate to the American government or any other government with which it was allied, it would be a private communication and not through the publicity of a speech in Parliament.

Coming, as this incident does, on top of the laxity of the British government in allowing Karl Fuchs, a British citizen of Communist origin, to slip through security lines and come to America where he was accepted on the "clearance" of the London government, there is bound to be a feeling that Great Britain and the United States are not working together as closely on security questions as they might be.

People generally have been given the impression abroad, moreover, that the United States has been pursuing its own way arbitrarily and without taking into account the military views of its allies. This is not true. Actually the United States has been giving the military representatives of Great Britain and other countries whose troops are in Korea a rather detailed account twice a week of what is going on and what is planned.

There isn't the slightest excuse, therefore, for the attitude of certain segments of the British press which, in endeavoring to find a scapegoat, have repeatedly criticized General MacArthur as indifferent to the wishes of the British government. It would have been more forthright to have criticized the U. S. joint chiefs of staff, who have been "briefing" the U. N. representatives here and listening to their suggestions, but that might have reacted against the Laborites in London.

The belief grows here that the Korean situation has become more and more of a political problem, as pressure is exerted against Prime Minister Attlee from the "left wingers" inside the Labor party. The affinity of the "left wing" Laborites with Communist objectives in the Far East has manifested itself recently in a demand that the Peiping regime be recognized by the United Nations and in the campaign to prevent the Red Chinese from being branded as aggressors.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Tucson, Arizona, Feb. 14—

Down by the Old Corral

I am just a lonely cowboy, a'cantering along
(Hi-yi-yippee-yi-ee!)
An' sometimes in the night I sing a melancholy song
About that pretty, little Sally Lee.
(Yippee-yi!)
Oh, I met her in the springtime in the Wagonwheel Saloon.
She was sweet as sugar-candy 'neath the pale, romantic moon.
But little did I reckon then that her of who I croon,
Would break my heart and leave my life a jumble and a ruin.
It was April, like I said, and I wish that I was dead,
The way that I got treated by that gal.
Oh she was so fair and purdy but she went and done me dirty.
(Oo-lee-ay-ee! Oo-lee-ay-ee! Sal! Whingety-whang-whang! Blang!)
I suppose I should have knew
That her love it was not true
Because I am a cowboy with a simple heart of gold
But when you hear my complaint, you'll agree I showed restraint
To not of blowered her head off, like in the old days of old.
I called her "Hon" and "Dear" and I lavished her with beer,
As many cans of beer as she could drink;
And potato chips galore like them gallant knights of yore,
Of expense I never stopped to even think!
(Whang! Whangity-whang! Blang!)
Now please listen to me, folks, for a ditty I would sing
To warn pore trusting cowboys to beware.
It is all about a vision that I met that fatal spring
With eyes of brown and ribbons in her hair.
My pore old mother told me, back when I was just a kid,
"Some women's like yore mother, son, but some is plum dam bad!"
She told me to be wary of some elfin, smilin' fairy
And not to be a sucker like a stupid Gallahad.
She is sleeping in a canyon where the willows they bend low,
Near that good old trail they call the Santa Fe.
My dear old paw is somewheres else—I would not rightly know—
He beat her up and maw to him did say:
"Get out of here, you dirty rat! You low-down dirty rat!
Or every bone yore body in, I'll bust!"
And after him she tho'owed his hat, she tho'owed to him his hat,
And paw, you couldn't see him for the dust!
(Hi-yi-yippetty-yi! Wha-ng! Blang! Yipp-ee-ee!)
So after Sally Lee she done me wrong that scurvy way,
I done the only thing a man could do.
I took me to a pawn-shop where ten dollars I did pay
For a guit-tar and some lessons how to play.
And I was blessed by nature, with a nose for singing through
To haunt the gal who to me swore she'd never be untrue.
There's a kind of mournful note, as I sing so soft and low,
But sometimes that is how things have to be.
I'm not really bowed with woe, but on the radio
My heart gets broke each afternoon at three.
But, I'm very well content,
Though that gal should have went
And left me broken-hearted and alone.
I have got six Cadillacs, after paying income tax,
And a mansion with a swimming-pool I own.
(Hi-yi-yippity-yi-yi-ee! Whangity-whang-whang-blang!)
Thank you, kindly, friends!
Thank you kindly for listening!
And, so, this is yore old friend, Piston Pete, saying so-long until the same time tomorrow for the romantic rustlers in the old wicky-up down by the old corral!

Questions — Answers

Q—For whom did Longfellow write his famous poem "Santa Filomena"?

A—Florence Nightingale was the subject of "Santa Filomena," a poem by Longfellow.

* * *

Q—When was the chimney to carry smoke from houses developed?

A—In medieval days a hole in the roof was the outlet for smoke, and it was not until the 12th century that fireplaces against the wall came into use.

* * *

Q—When did the dating of coins begin?

A—Toward the end of the 15th century, about the time Columbus was planning to seek new lands. English coins bore dates in the reign of Edward VI, 1547-1558, but the first dated coin is believed to be the silver crown of Austria of 1486.

* * *

Q—In what state was cranberry culture first commercialized?

A—In Massachusetts. Captain Henry Hall saw the commercial possibilities of cranberries and planted the first crop in 1810 in his garden. Cape Cod still produces 70 per cent of the world's supply.

TO SPREAD THE TRUTH

Has the State Department the necessary qualifications for carrying out an expanded program for the Voice of America? This question has been brought to the fore by Senator William Benton of Connecticut, who was formerly assistant secretary of state in charge of the Voice program.

In a correspondence with Secretary Dean Acheson, Senator Benton declared that the Voice is not properly filling its appointed role in the present world situation. He asserted that the program should be vastly expanded and that the State Department should be relieved of its operation. Because of its vital importance, Senator Benton thinks this work should be carried out by as large and high-ranking a staff as that which handles the European Recovery Program.

Beneath the surface is a constant flow of supporting work—organization, material aid, guidance and direct leadership—which must be done by adults. When a youth group does well, this supporting work has much to do with its success. When one collapses, it is usually because of adult failure rather than lack of interest and cooperation by the young people.

None of these youth organizations ever has enough adult help. There are always more things which could be done by willing volunteers. Public awareness of the need for youth activities is fine. So is appreciation of the things they accomplish. It would be still better if more of this awareness and appreciation could be expressed in individual offers to help.

MORE SIGNS NEEDED

The new wide parkways and expressways, constructed for the purpose of expediting traffic in and around cities, are generally efficient. But their purpose may easily be defeated by a scarcity of clear directional signs.

Accidents are caused by the confusion resulting from such a lack. Detours made necessary by unfinished construction are often marked poorly, if at all, their victims complain. The loops and bypasses which admit and discharge traffic at intersections often have their directional signs too close to the point of entrance or exit, say motorists. The driver has not enough time in which to prepare himself for the change in direction, and for this reason he may cause an accident by his sudden change of pace.

This condition, where it exists, could be quickly and easily remedied, and should be taken care of in order that these modern roads may be used to the fullest advantage and with the greatest degree of safety. Future construction should take this need into account.

FITNESS FOR SERVICE

"I don't think there will be a recurrence of that this time," said General George C. Marshall, secretary of defense, before the House Armed Services Committee. He was referring to the anomaly in the last war by which athletes were rejected for military service because of perforated ear drums or some other defect, and then went out to play intercollegiate or professional baseball and football. There were a number of such cases.

These instances were little short of scandalous. If the standards of the armed forces did not permit these men to be accepted for general duty, there was plenty of other necessary military work which they could have performed. It is good news that our military authorities have profited from criticism.

'These Days'

INFANTRY IN FRONT

The great debate is to result in hearings before the Senate. A terrific array of brass is to be called—in uniform, bedecked and emblazoned. The principal witnesses will be doughboys—infantrymen, ground troops, Generals Marshall, Eisenhower and Bradley. The navy had a tough time when Louis Johnson was secretary of defense; now it is the navy and the air force who are silenced.

But infantry alone will not win a war. There are many effective, if not more effective functional groups: the airforce, the navy, artillery, cavalry (tanks), to say nothing of all the new scientific and psychological agencies.

Have you noticed how silent these branches have been? Have you noted that during the whole of the great debate General Hoyt Vandenberg of the airforce, who used to be quite vocal, has been silent as though he did not exist? And what has become of Admiral Forrest Sherman? Have these services no views to pass on to the Congress and to the American people?

Well, I have been asking these questions and I was told that effective December 12, 1950, "no speeches or public announcements will be made by armed forces personel until clearance has been obtained. Copies of future speeches, statements, or press releases concerning foreign or military policy must be submitted to this headquarters (Pentagon) for proper clearance.

"All personnel, particularly those overseas, will refrain from making public statements or communicating with news media on military or foreign policy without prior clearance with this headquarters. The purpose is not to curtail the flow of information to the American people but to insure that the information is accurate and in accord with the policies of the United States government."

Such instructions have not been unusual in recent years, but that last sentence is political nonsense. The head of the air force or the navy is accurate when he responsibly testifies before a congressional committee. Why should one assume that General Hoyt Vandenberg or Armiral Forrest Sherman, so testifying under oath, is less responsible and accurate than Generals George Marshall, Dwight Eisenhower or Omar Bradley? Does the infantry have a monopoly of the truth? There was a time when all military men sang together as perfectly as a Fred Waring Glee Club, but apparently those days are gone.

It has come to me, in an indirect manner, perhaps irresponsibly, that the following instructions were added to those of December 12:

"Officers may, upon their own responsibility and at their own discretion, make remarks concerning unclassified matters of foreign or military policies to selected groups for background purposes only and not for publication, without obtaining prior clearance, provided that their remarks are confined to the bounds of policies which have been publicly announced by the White House, State or Defense Departments."

In other words, what is permissible is that which has been politically cleared. While Congress gropes for the facts so that it may pass the legislation required to defend this country, high-ranking officers of our armed services have been gagged, by orders, requiring them to watch their politics.

Until these orders are withdrawn, these men may not speak truthfully if the truth contradicts policy. They are soldiers and are required by their profession to obey their superiors in a chain of command reaching upward to the President who, while a politician, is commander-in-chief.

Therefore, the Congress may never have the whole truth in open hearings. That does not mean that human nature, being what it is, does not in some manner, if only by rumor, assert itself.

For instance, no matter how great an effort was made in Washington to lower General MacArthur's prestige by calling the evacuation of Hungnam a Dunkirk, it never was that. Although General MacArthur has been criticized by American and British politicians for being too precise about the size of the Soviet Chinese army, it is true that General Lin Piao had an army of 500,000 men, even if knowledge of that fact did embarrass the appeasers in the United Nations. Such facts do get out.

A student might even make a comparison between the Anzio campaign in World War II and the Korean campaign, and the infantrymen would be very embarrassed.

But rumor and gossip do not serve as an honestly conducted congressional investigation can. The question then is: Shall we have a full hearing or another Pearl Harbor investigation, or worse still, another Tydings committee?

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

DISEASES WITHOUT SYMPTOMS

I was examining a powerfully built young man. Removing my stethoscope from his chest, I stepped back and looked at his face for a moment.

"What's the matter, doctor?" he asked.

"Why, you double-crossed me. When I saw your bulging eyes I expected a heart rate of at least 96 and it is only 72. I thought you had a severe form of goiter and I couldn't believe your heart rate."

"Oh, yes," he said, "I did have goiter but I had the thyroid gland removed several weeks ago. My heart slowed down and I'm less nervous, but my eyes haven't gone down completely yet."

In many ailments there are certain distinct signs and symptoms present which enable the physician to recognize the disease present immediately. In others, diagnosis is more difficult.

In Medical Clinics of North America, Dr. E. J. Stieglitz states that the physician who wishes to do his best for his patients is confronted with a dilemma. "Should he follow the old traditional method of waiting for symptoms before he studies his patient thoroughly, or should he put apparently well patients through many diagnostic tests and complete physical examinations in the hope of detecting serious disease early?"

Older physicians dislike the idea of these routine complete examinations, feeling that the physician is apt to depend too much on laboratory and other tests and gradually become more interested in the disease instead of in the patient. He becomes almost a mechanic and less of a diagnotician.

Diseases may be present when no symptoms are in evidence. These diseases, in their early stages, may be detected by laboratory tests, but if neglected, may mean chronic illness or death.

Some of the diseases mentioned by Dr. Stieglitz are (a) chronic infections of the heart muscle caused by rheumatism or syphilis, (b) hardening of the arteries causing apoplexy, coronary thrombosis, inflammation of the kidneys, (c) diabetes, gangrene, anemia and menopause due to gland changes, (d) cancer, (e) arthritis of various types.

All these diseases begin without symptoms and may be well advanced before the symptoms, felt by the patient but unknown to others, appear.

The suggestion is that the physician make as many tests as possible in his office when patient first consults him.

"But Think of the Experience Yuh Got!"

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—Some senators seem to believe that it is a criminal matter for a newspaper to criticize military mistakes. This is a view also shared by many brass hats—though not all.

However, mistakes are sometimes rectified chiefly through knowing about them, and a case in point is the magnificent manner in which Gen. Matthew Ridgway has profited from the mistakes of General MacArthur in turning a tragic defeat into Korean victory.

While the very loyal MacArthur clique may argue that he is still supreme commander in Tokyo, and therefore deserves credit for the current victory, the indisputable facts are that General Ridgway was sent to Korea direct from Washington where he had been deputy chief of staff and as such was in close contact with the Pentagon's views of warfare. It also is an indisputable fact that Ridgway won his victory with no new fresh troops and facing a somewhat stronger enemy than MacArthur.

According to military observers who read the battle dispatches, here is how Ridgway profited by mistakes and accomplished his remarkable feat:

Careful Intelligence — MacArthur conducted only limited patrolling for three or four days before launching his attack. Then, after the attack boomeranged, the Eighth Army retreated so fast that it lost all contact with the enemy and for several weeks didn't know where the Communists were.

In contrast, Ridgway conducted aggressive patrolling for eight to ten days before kicking off his offensive. He sent heavy patrols deep into enemy territory in so-called "reconnaissance in force." His orders were to disrupt any Communist build-up, to inflict as many casualties as possible and to survey enemy positions. The lack of patrolling by MacArthur failed to detect the Chinese Communist build-up that swept our armies back to the 38th Parallel. However, Ridgway's troops knew exactly what to expect.

Public Relations — MacArthur announced his offensive the same morning it was launched, predicting his troops would be "home by Christmas." Ridgway waited until his offensive had been rolling over 24 hours before announcing it.

Poor Battle Liaison — MacArthur struck in all directions at once. His troops were fanned out from one end of North Korea to the other, in no position to head off a surprise counterattack. The Eighth Army and Tenth Corps also had no battle liaison, had to coordinate their actions through Tokyo.

In contrast, Ridgway opened his attack on the western front, but didn't order his eastern front to move until nine days later—after he was sure all was going well. He had the added advantage of being in full command in the field, and wasn't forced to direct two fronts by remote control from Tokyo.

Contrast in Casualties — MacArthur suffered devastating casualties after the Chinese hit, lost more than 15,000 casualties in two weeks. Later, the marines, who broke out of the Chosin reservoir trap, mowed down the Chinese at a ratio of 20 to one. However, Ridgway's losses during the first two weeks of his offensive were the lightest of the Korean war. He suffered less than 1,500 casualties, at the same time taking a toll of 52,000 Communist casualties.

In fairness to MacArthur and in tribute to the air force, Ridgway has been meeting more scattered opposition. This is largely because the air force has raked enemy positions with devastating fire bombs and rocket fire. Ridgway's aggressive, armored patrols also killed and rooted out Communists along the path of the offensive. As a result, the main Chinese Communist force is reported to be digging in north of the 38th Parallel.

It should also be pointed out that MacArthur's supply lines in North Korea were stretched, whereas the Chinese Communists were then only a few miles from their supply bases. This situation has now been reversed.

Ridgway's advance patrolling and careful preparation, however, made the big difference between defeat and victory.

Both Hands and Feet

Sgt. Rolland McDonald of Fort Bliss, Texas, read in this column about a marine colonel who endorsed his state pension check over to Pfc. Robert L. Smith, who lost both arms and both legs in Korea, then had his teeth kicked out by a Chinese Communist. Sergeant McDonald was so touched that he wrote a check for $25 and asked Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas to forward it to the quadruple amputee.

"It was impressed upon me," wrote Sergeant McDonald, "that the Pfc. maybe has a little something coming from most of us who haven't yet been sent to Korea. At any rate, here is my attempt to pay a little of the debt that the citizens of the country owe him."

Fame Is Fleeing

Gen. "Wild Bill" Donovan, wartime boss of the cloak-and-dagger Office of Strategic Services, learned the other day how fleeting is fame.

The general returned to his old offices, now occupied by the successor outfit, Central Intelligence Agency, and was stopped by a conscientious guard. Then a receptionist politely asked him to fill out a card giving his full name, address and who he wanted to see.

Dutifully the man who once ruled supreme over this important office obeyed.

Explaining Foreign Policy

Secretary of State Dean Acheson got an education on the headaches of senators at a private luncheon for new members of the Foreign Relations Committee.

Over the coffee cups, Sen. Guy Gillette, the white-haired solon from Iowa, turned to Acheson.

"Every congressman has been swamped with mail on foreign policy," he said. "I've had 6,000 letters alone on this topic since Christmas. People are confused and bewildered. They want to know what our policy is and why. The hostility toward the State Department can be traced right back to the bewilderment of the people."

"Well what should we do about it?" Acheson inquired.

"Tell the story over and over again," was Gillette's advice. "Why are our boys fighting in Korea? Why do we need an army for the defense of western Europe? Why must we raise taxes and impose controls and rationing for defense? Tell the story simply."

"We are doing all we can, Senator," said the secretary of state. "Members of the department are speaking as never before."

"I made 22 speeches in the last 10 days," volunteered one of Acheson's aides.

Senator Gillette shook his head. "There are only two people who carry the weight to be listened to—the President and you, Mr. Secretary. You must stump the country, if need be, to explain and sell our foreign policy."

Note—Real fact is that a secretary of state almost has to be two people—a politician, in order to sell foreign policy to the public and the Senate; and a student of foreign affairs, in order to decide what that policy should be. It is hard to find a man who can do both.

It Is Hard to Explain Why British Persist in Giving Military News to Chinese Reds

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Feb. 15—It is utterly inexplicable why the British government persists in handing military information to the Chinese Communists, thus endangering the lives of our troops in Korea.

It is not being done deliberately, of course, or with the object of informing the enemy, but the net result is the same. Thus the following dispatch came through on one of the press association wires from London in the last 24 hours, and evidently nobody there thought it should be censored:

"British military experts believe that the U.N. forces in Korea should hold a strategic line roughly 10 to 25 miles south of the 38th Parallel frontier, well-informed sources said.

"It is likely that this view has been communicated to the U. S. in connection with the view of the Labor Government that for all political purposes the U.N. forces should not cross the parallel without full consultation among all countries which have troops under General MacArthur."

Now it has just been disclosed by Secretary Acheson that conferences are being held twice a week in Washington at which representatives of all U.N. countries having troops in Korea are present. These conferences are held in the Pentagon building with our own military chiefs, and have been going on since the latter part of last November. Hence, it seems fantastic that the prime minister of Great Britain, Clement Attlee, should have felt obligated to say publicly the other day what he could just as well have said privately, through his own military representatives in Washington, about crossing the 38th Parallel.

The view of any one government that the U.N. forces should not press beyond this or that line is extremely delicate information of a highly dangerous character to broadcast. It tells the enemy what risks they can take in moving against our troops. It tells them of important differences inside the military command. The enemy can gain a good deal of information as to our intended troop movements and plans if it knows what objections are being raised to our operations and strategy in Korea.

There used to be a time in diplomacy when, if the British government had anything of a military nature to communicate to the American government or any other government with which it was allied, it would be a private communication and not through the publicity of a speech in Parliament.

Coming, as this incident does, on top of the laxity of the British government in allowing Karl Fuchs, a British citizen of Communist origin, to slip through security lines and come to America where he was accepted on the "clearance" of the London government, there is bound to be a feeling that Great Britain and the United States are not working together as closely on security questions as they might be.

People generally have been given the impression abroad, moreover, that the United States has been pursuing its own way arbitrarily and without taking into account the military views of its allies. This is not true. Actually the United States has been giving the military representatives of Great Britain and other countries whose troops are in Korea a rather detailed account twice a week of what is going on and what is planned.

There isn't the slightest excuse, therefore, for the attitude of certain segments of the British press which, in endeavoring to find a scapegoat, have repeatedly criticized General MacArthur as indifferent to the wishes of the British government. It would have been more forthright to have criticized the U. S. joint chiefs of staff, who have been "briefing" the U. N. representatives here and listening to their suggestions, but that might have reacted against the Laborites in London.

The belief grows here that the Korean situation has become more and more of a political problem, as pressure is exerted against Prime Minister Attlee from the "left wingers" inside the Labor party. The affinity of the "left wing" Laborites with Communist objectives in the Far East has manifested itself recently in a demand that the Peining regime be recognized by the United Nations and in the campaign to prevent the Red Chinese from being branded as aggressors.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Tucson, Arizona, Feb. 14—

Down by the Old Corral

I am just a lonely cowboy, a'cantering along
(Hi-yi-yippee-yi-ee!)
An' sometimes in the night I sing a melancholy song
About that pretty, little Sally Lee.
(Yippee-yi!)
Oh, I met her in the springtime in the Wagonwheel Saloon.
She was sweet as sugar-candy 'neath the pale, romantic moon.
But little did I reckon then that her of who I croon,
Would break my heart and leave my life a jumble and a ruin.
It was April, like I said, and I wish that I was dead,
The way that I got treated by that gal.
Oh she was so fair and purdy but she went and done me dirty.
(Oo-lee-ay-ee! Oo-lee-ay-ee! Sal! Whingety-whang-whang! Blang!)
I suppose I should have knew
That her love it was not true
Because I am a cowboy with a simple heart of gold
But when you hear my complaint, you'll agree I showed restraint
To not of blowered her head off, like in the old days of old.
I called her "Hon" and "Dear" and I lavished her with beer,
As many cans of beer as she could drink;
And potato chips galore like them gallant knights of yore,
Of expense I never stopped to even think!
(Whang! Whangity-whang! Blang!)
Now please listen to me, folks, for a ditty I would sing
To warn pore trusting cowboys to beware.
It is all about a vision that I met that fatal spring
With eyes of brown and ribbons in her hair.
My pore old mother told me, back when I was just a kid,
"Some women's like yore mother, son, but some is plum dam bad!"
She told me to be wary of some elfin, smilin' fairy
And not to be a sucker like a stupid Gallahad.
She is sleeping in a canyon where the willows they bend low,
Near that good old trail they call the Santa Fe.
My dear old paw is somewheres else—I would not rightly know—
He beat her up and maw to him did say:
"Get out of here, you dirty rat! You low-down dirty rat!
Or every bone yore body in, I'll bust!"
And after him she tho'owed his hat, she tho'owed to him his hat,
And paw, you couldn't see him for the dust!
(Hi-yi-yippetty-yi! Wha-ng! Blang! Yipp-ee-ee!)
So after Sally Lee she done me wrong that scurvy way,
I done the only thing a man could do.
I took me to a pawn-shop where ten dollars I did pay
For a guit-tar and some lessons how to play.
And I was blessed by nature, with a nose for singing through
To haunt the gal who to me swore she'd never be untrue.
There's a kind of mournful note, as I sing so soft and low,
But sometimes that is how things have to be.
I'm not really bowed with woe, but on the radio
My heart gets broke each afternoon at three.
But, I'm very well content, Though that gal should have went
And left me broken-hearted and alone.
I have got six Cadillacs, after paying income tax,
And a mansion with a swimming-pool I own.
(Hi-yi-yippity-yi-yi-ee! Whangity-whang-whang-blang!)
Thank you, kindly, friends! Thank you kindly for listening! And, so, this is yore old friend, Piston Pete, saying so-long until the same time tomorrow for the romantic rustlers in the old wicky-up down by the old corral!

Questions — Answers

Q—For whom did Longfellow write his famous poem "Santa Filomena"?

A—Florence Nightingale was the subject of "Santa Filomena," a poem by Longfellow.

* * *

Q—When was the chimney to carry smoke from houses developed?

A—In medieval days a hole in the roof was the outlet for smoke, and it was not until the 12th century that fireplaces against the wall came into use.

* * *

Q—When did the dating of coins begin?

A—Toward the end of the 15th century, about the time Columbus was planning to seek new lands. English coins bore dates in the reign of Edward VI, 1547-1558, but the first dated coin is believed to be the silver crown of Austria of 1486.

TO SPREAD THE TRUTH

Has the State Department the necessary qualifications for carrying out an expanded program for the Voice of America? This question has been brought to the fore by Senator William Benton of Connecticut, who was formerly assistant secretary of state in charge of the Voice program.

In a correspondence with Secretary Dean Acheson, Senator Benton declared that the Voice is not properly filling its appointed role in the present world situation. He asserted that the program should be vastly expanded and that the State Department should be relieved of its operation. Because of its vital importance, Senator Benton thinks this work should be carried out by as large and high-ranking a staff as that which handles the European Recovery Program.

The point of this proposal deserves thought. It is obvious that the Communist nations give a much more important place to propaganda than we do. It behooves us to find ways to put more energy into combatting Communist propaganda and into spreading our own story.

LEADERS FOR THE YOUNG

The anniversary observance of the Boy Scouts has brought many words of praise for the organization and for what it accomplishes in providing wholesome activity and citizenship training for boys. The observance past, the organization will go on with its activities, with the same leaders and committee members doing the work. And there is much work to be done.

The community sees only the surface of the projects, such as the Boy Scout program, for helping boys and girls develop into good citizens. Beneath the surface is a constant flow of supporting work—organization, material aid, guidance and direct leadership—which must be done by adults. When a youth group does well, this supporting work has much to do with its success. When one collapses, it is usually because of adult failure rather than lack of interest and cooperation by the young people.

None of these youth organizations ever has enough adult help. There are always more things which could be done by willing volunteers. Public awareness of the need for youth activities is fine. So is appreciation of the things they accomplish. It would be still better if more of this awareness and appreciation could be expressed in individual offers to help.

INFANTRY IN FRONT

The great debate is to result in hearings before the Senate. A terrific array of brass is to be called—in uniform, bedecked and emblazoned. The principal witnesses will be doughboys—infantrymen, ground troops, Generals Marshall, Eisenhower and Bradley. The navy had a tough time when Louis Johnson was secretary of defense; now it is the navy and the air force who are silenced.

And what has become of Admiral Forrest Sherman? Have these services no views to pass on to the Congress and to the American people?

Well, I have been asking these questions and I was told that effective December 12, 1950, "no speeches or public announcements will be made by armed forces personel until clearance has been obtained. Copies of future speeches, statements, or press releases concerning foreign or military policy must be submitted to this headquarters (Pentagon) for proper clearance.

"All personnel, particularly those overseas, will refrain from making public statements or communicating with news media on military or foreign policy without prior clearance with this headquarters. The purpose is not to curtail the flow of information to the American people but to insure that the information is accurate and in accord with the policies of the United States government."

Such instructions have not been unusual in recent years, but that last sentence is political nonsense. The head of the air force or the navy is accurate when he responsibly testifies before a congressional committee. Why should one assume that General Hoyt Vandenberg or Armiral Forrest Sherman, so testifying under oath, is less responsible and accurate than Generals George Marshall, Dwight Eisenhower or Omar Bradley? Does the infantry have a monopoly of the truth? There was a time when all military men sang together as perfectly as a Fred Waring Glee Club, but apparently those days are gone.

It has come to me, in an indirect manner, perhaps irresponsibly, that the following instructions were added to those of December 12:

"Officers may, upon their own responsibility and at their own discretion, make remarks concerning unclassified matters of foreign or military policies to selected groups for background purposes only and not for publication, without obtaining prior clearance, provided that their remarks are confined to the bounds of policies which have been publicly announced by the White House, State or Defense Departments."

In other words, what is permissible is that which has been politically cleared. While Congress gropes for the facts so that it may pass the legislation required to defend this country, high-ranking officers of our armed services have been gagged, by orders, requiring them to watch their politics.

Until these orders are withdrawn, these men may not speak truthfully if the truth contradicts policy. They are soldiers and are required by their profession to obey their superiors in a chain of command reaching upward to the President who, while a politician, is commander-in-chief.

Therefore, the Congress may never have the whole truth in open hearings. That does not mean that human nature, being what it is, does not in some manner, if only by rumor, assert itself.

For instance, no matter how great an effort was made in Washington to lower General MacArthur's prestige by calling the evacuation of Hungnam a Dunkirk, it never was that. Although General MacArthur has been criticized by American and British politicians for being too precise about the size of the Soviet Chinese army, it is true that General Lin Piao had an army of 500,000 men, even if knowledge of that fact did embarrass the appeasers in the United Nations. Such facts do get out.

A student might even make a comparison between the Anzio campaign in World War II and the Korean campaign, and the infantrymen would be very embarrassed.

But rumor and gossip do not serve as an honestly conducted congressional investigation can. The question then is: Shall we have a full hearing or another Pearl Harbor investigation, or worse still, another Tydings committee?

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

DISEASES WITHOUT SYMPTOMS

I was examining a powerfully built young man. Removing my stethoscope from his chest, I stepped back and looked at his face for a moment.

"What's the matter, doctor?" he asked.

"Why, you double-crossed me. When I saw your bulging eyes I expected a heart rate of at least 96 and it is only 72. I thought you had a severe form of goiter and I couldn't believe your heart rate."

"Oh, yes," he said, "I did have goiter but I had the thyroid gland removed several weeks ago. My heart slowed down and I'm less nervous, but my eyes haven't gone down completely yet."

In many ailments there are certain distinct signs and symptoms present which enable the physician to recognize the disease present immediately. In others, diagnosis is more difficult.

In Medical Clinics of North America, Dr. E. J. Stieglitz states that the physician who wishes to do his best for his patients is confronted with a dilemma. "Should he follow the old traditional method of waiting for symptoms before he studies his patient thoroughly, or should he put apparently well patients through many diagnostic tests and complete physical examinations in the hope of detecting serious disease early?"

Older physicians dislike the idea of these routine complete examinations, feeling that the physician is apt to depend too much on laboratory and other tests and gradually become more interested in the disease instead of in the patient. He becomes almost a mechanic and less of a diagnotician.

Diseases may be present when no symptoms are in evidence. These diseases, in their early stages, may be detected by laboratory tests, but if neglected, may mean chronic illness or death.

Some of the diseases mentioned by Dr. Stieglitz are (a) chronic infections of the heart muscle caused by rheumatism or syphilis, (b) hardening of the arteries causing apoplexy, coronary thrombosis, inflammation of the kidneys, (c) diabetes, gangrene, anemia and menopause due to gland changes, (d) cancer, (e) arthritis of various types.

All these diseases begin without symptoms and may be well advanced before the symptoms, felt by the patient but unknown to others, appear.

The suggestion is that the physician make as many tests as possible in his office when patient first consults him.

"But Think of the Experience Yuh Got!"

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—Some senators seem to believe that it is a criminal matter for a newspaper to criticize military mistakes. This is a view also shared by many brass hats—though not all.

However, mistakes are sometimes rectified chiefly through knowing about them, and a case in point is the magnificent manner in which Gen. Matthew Ridgway has profited from the mistakes of General MacArthur in turning a tragic defeat into Korean victory.

While the very loyal MacArthur clique may argue that he is still supreme commander in Tokyo, and therefore deserves credit for the current victory, the indisputable facts are that General Ridgway was sent to Korea direct from Washington where he had been deputy chief of staff and as such was in close contact with the Pentagon's views of warfare. It also is an indisputable fact that Ridgway won his victory with no new fresh troops and facing a somewhat stronger enemy than MacArthur.

According to military observers who read the battle dispatches, here is how Ridgway profited by mistakes and accomplished his remarkable feat:

Careful Intelligence — MacArthur conducted only limited patrolling for three or four days before launching his attack. Then, after the attack boomeranged, the Eighth Army retreated so fast that it lost all contact with the enemy and for several weeks didn't know where the Communists were.

In contrast, Ridgway conducted aggressive patrolling for eight to ten days before kicking off his offensive. He sent heavy patrols deep into enemy territory in so-called "reconnaissance in force." His orders were to disrupt any Communist build-up, to inflict as many casualties as possible and to survey enemy positions. The lack of patrolling by MacArthur failed to detect the Chinese Communist build-up that swept our armies back to the 38th Parallel. However, Ridgway's troops knew exactly what to expect.

Public Relations — MacArthur announced his offensive the same morning it was launched, predicting his troops would be "home by Christmas." Ridgway waited until his offensive had been rolling over 24 hours before announcing it.

Poor Battle Liaison — MacArthur struck in all directions at once. His troops were fanned out from one end of North Korea to the other, in no position to head off a surprise counterattack. The Eighth Army and Tenth Corps also had no battle liaison, had to coordinate their actions through Tokyo.

In contrast, Ridgway opened his attack on the western front, but didn't order his eastern front to move until nine days later—after he was sure all was going well. He had the added advantage of being in full command in the field, and wasn't forced to direct two fronts by remote control from Tokyo.

Contrast in Casualties — MacArthur suffered devastating casualties after the Chinese hit, lost more than 15,000 casualties in two weeks. Later, the marines, who broke out of the Chosin reservoir trap, mowed down the Chinese at a ratio of 20 to one. However, Ridgway's losses during the first two weeks of his offensive were the lightest of the Korean war. He suffered less than 1,500 casualties, at the same time taking a toll of 52,000 Communist casualties.

In fairness to MacArthur and in tribute to the air force, Ridgway has been meeting more scattered opposition. This is largely because the air force has raked enemy positions with devastating fire bombs and rocket fire. Ridgway's aggressive, armored patrols also killed and rooted out Communists along the path of the offensive. As a result, the main Chinese Communist force is reported to be digging in north of the 38th Parallel.

It should also be pointed out that MacArthur's supply lines in North Korea were stretched, whereas the Chinese Communists were then only a few miles from their supply bases. This situation has now been reversed.

Ridgway's advance patrolling and careful preparation, however, made the big difference between defeat and victory.

Both Hands and Feet

Sgt. Rolland McDonald of Fort Bliss, Texas, read in this column about a marine colonel who endorsed his state pension check over to Pfc. Robert L. Smith, who lost both arms and both legs in Korea, then had his teeth kicked out by a Chinese Communist. Sergeant McDonald was so touched that he wrote a check for $25 and asked Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas to forward it to the quadruple amputee.

"It was impressed upon me," wrote Sergeant McDonald, "that the Pfc. maybe has a little something coming from most of us who haven't yet been sent to Korea. At any rate, here is my attempt to pay a little of the debt that the citizens of the country owe him."

Fame Is Fleeing

Gen. "Wild Bill" Donovan, wartime boss of the cloak-and-dagger Office of Strategic Services, learned the other day how fleeting is fame.

The general returned to his old offices, now occupied by the successor outfit, Central Intelligence Agency, and was stopped by a conscientious guard. Then a receptionist politely asked him to fill out a card giving his full name, address and who he wanted to see.

Dutifully the man who once ruled supreme over this important office obeyed.

Explaining Foreign Policy

Secretary of State Dean Acheson got an education on the headaches of senators at a private luncheon for new members of the Foreign Relations Committee.

Over the coffee cups, Sen. Guy Gillette, the white-haired solon from Iowa, turned to Acheson.

"Every congressman has been swamped with mail on foreign policy," he said. "I've had 6,000 letters alone on this topic since Christmas. People are confused and bewildered. They want to know what our policy is and why. The hostility toward the State Department can be traced right back to the bewilderment of the people."

"Well what should we do about it?" Acheson inquired.

"Tell the story over and over again," was Gillette's advice. "Why are our boys fighting in Korea? Why do we need an army for the defense of western Europe? Why must we raise taxes and impose controls and rationing for defense? Tell the story simply."

"We are doing all we can, Senator," said the secretary of state. "Members of the department are speaking as never before."

"I made 22 speeches in the last 10 days," volunteered one of Acheson's aides.

Senator Gillette shook his head. "There are only two people who carry the weight to be listened to—the President and you, Mr. Secretary. You must stump the country, if need be, to explain and sell our foreign policy."

Note—Real fact is that a secretary of state almost has to be two people—a politician, in order to sell foreign policy to the public and the Senate; and a student of foreign affairs, in order to decide what that policy should be. It is hard to find a man who can do both.

It Is Hard to Explain Why British Persist in Giving Military News to Chinese Reds

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Feb. 15—It is utterly inexplicable why the British government persists in handing military information to the Chinese Communists, thus endangering the lives of our troops in Korea.

It is not being done deliberately, of course, or with the object of informing the enemy, but the net result is the same. Thus the following dispatch came through on one of the press association wires from London in the last 24 hours, and evidently nobody there thought it should be censored:

"British military experts believe that the U.N. forces in Korea should hold a strategic line roughly 10 to 25 miles south of the 38th Parallel frontier, well-informed sources said.

"It is likely that this view has been communicated to the U. S. in connection with the view of the Labor Government that for all political purposes the U.N. forces should not cross the parallel without full consultation among all countries which have troops under General MacArthur."

Now it has just been disclosed by Secretary Acheson that conferences are being held twice a week in Washington at which representatives of all U.N. countries having troops in Korea are present. These conferences are held in the Pentagon building with our own military chiefs, and have been going on since the latter part of last November. Hence, it seems fantastic that the prime minister of Great Britain, Clement Attlee, should have felt obligated to say publicly the other day what he could just as well have said privately, through his own military representatives in Washington, about crossing the 38th Parallel.

The view of any one government that the U.N. forces should not press beyond this or that line is extremely delicate information of a highly dangerous character to broadcast. It tells the enemy what risks they can take in moving against our troops. It tells them of important differences inside the military command. The enemy can gain a good deal of information as to our intended troop movements and plans if it knows what objections are being raised to our operations and strategy in Korea.

There used to be a time in diplomacy when, if the British government had anything of a military nature to communicate to the American government or any other government with which it was allied, it would be a private communication and not through the publicity of a speech in Parliament.

Coming, as this incident does, on top of the laxity of the British government in allowing Karl Fuchs, a British citizen of Communist origin, to slip through security lines and come to America where he was accepted on the "clearance" of the London government, there is bound to be a feeling that Great Britain and the United States are not working together as closely on security questions as they might be.

People generally have been given the impression abroad, moreover, that the United States has been pursuing its own way arbitrarily and without taking into account the military views of its allies. This is not true. Actually the United States has been giving the military representatives of Great Britain and other countries whose troops are in Korea a rather detailed account twice a week of what is going on and what is planned.

There isn't the slightest excuse, therefore, for the attitude of certain segments of the British press which, in endeavoring to find a scapegoat, have repeatedly criticized General MacArthur as indifferent to the wishes of the British government. It would have been more forthright to have criticized the U. S. joint chiefs of staff, who have been "briefing" the U. N. representatives here and listening to their suggestions, but that might have reacted against the Laborites in London.

The belief grows here that the Korean situation has become more and more of a political problem, as pressure is exerted against Prime Minister Attlee from the "left wingers" inside the Labor party. The affinity of the "left wing" Laborites with Communist objectives in the Far East has manifested itself recently in a demand that the Peiping regime be recognized by the United Nations and in the campaign to prevent the Red Chinese from being branded as aggressors.

AS·PEGLER SEES IT

Tucson, Arizona, Feb. 14—

Down by the Old Corral

I am just a lonely cowboy, a'cantering along
(Hi-yi-yippee-yi-ee!)
An' sometimes in the night I sing a melancholy song
About that pretty, little Sally Lee.
(Yippee-yi!)
Oh, I met her in the springtime in the Wagonwheel Saloon.
She was sweet as sugar-candy 'neath the pale, romantic moon.
But little did I reckon then that her of who I croon,
Would break my heart and leave my life a jumble and a ruin.
It was April, like I said, and I wish that I was dead,
The way that I got treated by that gal.
Oh she was so fair and purdy but she went and done me dirty.
(Oo-lee-ay-ee! Oo-lee-ay-ee! Sal! Whingety-whang-whang! Blang!)
I suppose I should have knew
That her love it was not true
Because I am a cowboy with a simple heart of gold
But when you hear my complaint, you'll agree I showed restraint
To not of blowered her head off, like in the old days of old.
I called her "Hon" and "Dear" and I lavished her with beer,
As many cans of beer as she could drink;
And potato chips galore like them gallant knights of yore,
Of expense I never stopped to even think!
(Whang! Whangity-whang! Blang!)
Now please listen to me, folks, for a ditty I would sing
To warn pore trusting cowboys to beware.
It is all about a vision that I met that fatal spring
With eyes of brown and ribbons in her hair.
My pore old mother told me, back when I was just a kid,
"Some women's like yore mother, son, but some is plum dam bad!"
She told me to be wary of some elfin, smilin' fairy
And not to be a sucker like a stupid Gallahad.
She is sleeping in a canyon where the willows they bend low,
Near that good old trail they call the Santa Fe.
My dear old paw is somewheres else—I would not rightly know—
He beat her up and maw to him did say:
"Get out of here, you dirty rat! You low-down dirty rat!
Or every bone yore body in, I'll bust!"
And after him she tho'owed his hat, she tho'owed to him his hat,
And paw, you couldn't see him for the dust!
(Hi-yi-yippetty-yi! Wha-ng! Blang! Yipp-ee-ee!)
So after Sally Lee she done me wrong that scurvy way,
I done the only thing a man could do.
I took me to a pawn-shop where ten dollars I did pay
For a guit-tar and some lessons how to play.
And I was blessed by nature, with a nose for singing through
To haunt the gal who to me swore she'd never be untrue.
There's a kind of mournful note, as I sing so soft and low,
But sometimes that is how things have to be.
I'm not really bowed with woe, but on the radio
My heart gets broke each afternoon at three.
But, I'm very well content,
Though that gal should have went
And left me broken-hearted and alone.
I have got six Cadillacs, after paying income tax,
And a mansion with a swimming-pool I own.
(Hi-yi-yippity-yi-yi-ee! Whangity-whang-whang-blang!)
Thank you, kindly, friends!
Thank you kindly for listening!
And, so, this is yore old friend,
Piston Pete, saying so-long until the same time tomorrow for the romantic rustlers in the old wicky-up down by the old corral!

Questions — Answers

Q—For whom did Longfellow write his famous poem "Santa Filomena"?

A—Florence Nightingale was the subject of "Santa Filomena," a poem by Longfellow.

* * *

Q—When was the chimney to carry smoke from houses developed?

A—In medieval days a hole in the roof was the outlet for smoke, and it was not until the 12th century that fireplaces against the wall came into use.

* * *

Q—When did the dating of coins begin?

A—Toward the end of the 13th century, about the time Columbus was planning to seek new lands. English coins bore dates in the reign of Edward VI, 1547-1558, but the first dated coin is believed to be the silver crown of Austria of 1486.

* * *

Q—In what state was cranberry culture first commercialized?

A—In Massachusetts. Captain Henry Hall saw the commercial possibilities of cranberries and planted the first crop in 1810 in his garden. Cape Cod still produces 70 per cent of the world's supply.

DuMond, Moriello Farm Delegates

C. Chester DuMond, Jr., of Ulster Park, and Michael Moriello of New Paltz have been chosen to represent the Ulster National Farm Loan Association of Kingston at the Federal Land Bank stockholder's meeting to be held in Springfield, Mass., February 20 and 21.

Secretary-Treasurer C. Kenneth Taber in making the announcement, stated that two farmer-directors and the secretary-treasurer from each of the 62 local cooperative national farm loan associations in the New England states, New York and New Jersey will be at the meeting. The Federal Land Bank of Springfield with capital stock of $3,616,705 is owned entirely by these 62 cooperatives whose members now have over 55 million in long-term mortgage loans.

Much of the program will consist of discussions led or participated in by these delegates. Prominent speakers on the program will include Land Bank Commissioner J. R. Isleib and Macdonald G. Newcomb, fiscal agent. At the banquet on Tuesday evening, H. B. Munger, president of the Farm Credit Administration of Springfield, will be toastmaster, and the main speaker will be Dr. F. F. Hill, head of the department of agricultural economics at Cornell and nationally known for his work in agricultural economics and the field of cooperative farm credit.

Catholic Books Are On Exhibit at Veteran Hall

In commemoration of February as Catholic Press Month, a committee of men from the Holy Name Society at Veteran, near Saugerties, have arranged an exhibit of periodicals for display at the parish hall after the 10 a. m. Mass on the 18th and the 8:30 a. m. Mass on the 25th.

Among the publications are: Catholic Worker; Black Friars From England; Liturgical Arts, a magazine devoted to church art; Orate Fratres, a book on liturgy; Integrity, and a variety of books suited to boys and girls of various ages.

Men of the book committee, who have begun a parish library with 50 of the publications, are anxious that a large number visit the exhibit. Refreshments will be served.

Asks Closer Screening

Washington, Feb. 15 (AP)—Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.) today urged President Truman's loyalty review board to insist on even closer screening of federal employes. The Michigan lawmaker applauded the board's recommendation that Mr. Truman authorize the firing of workers or refusal to hire in cases where there is a "reasonable doubt" of loyalty. At present an actual showing of disloyalty at the time the issue is raised is required.

DuMond, Moriello Farm Delegates

C. Chester DuMond, Jr., of Ulster Park, and Michael Moriello of New Paltz have been chosen to represent the Ulster National Farm Loan Association of Kingston at the Federal Land Bank stockholder's meeting to be held in Springfield, Mass., February 20 and 21.

Secretary-Treasurer C. Kenneth Taber in making the announcement, stated that two farmer-directors and the secretary-treasurer from each of the 62 local cooperative national farm loan associations in the New England states, New York and New Jersey will be at the meeting. The Federal Land Bank of Springfield with capital stock of $3,616,705 is owned entirely by these 62 cooperatives whose members now have over 55 million in long-term mortgage loans.

Much of the program will consist of discussions led or participated in by these delegates. Prominent speakers on the program will include Land Bank Commissioner J. R. Isleib and Macdonald G. Newcomb, fiscal agent. At the banquet on Tuesday evening, H. B. Munger, president of the Farm Credit Administration of Springfield, will be toastmaster, and the main speaker will be Dr. F. F. Hill, head of the department of agricultural economics at Cornell and nationally known for his work in agricultural economics and the field of cooperative farm credit.

Catholic Books Are On Exhibit at Veteran Hall

In commemoration of February as Catholic Press Month, a committee of men from the Holy Name Society at Veteran, near Saugerties, have arranged an exhibit of periodicals for display at the parish hall after the 10 a. m. Mass on the 18th and the 8:30 a. m. Mass on the 25th.

Among the publications are: Catholic Worker; Black Friars From England; Liturgical Arts, a magazine devoted to church art; Orate Fratres, a book on liturgy; Integrity, and a variety of books suited to boys and girls of various ages.

Men of the book committee, who have begun a parish library with 50 of the publications, are anxious that a large number visit the exhibit. Refreshments will be served.

Asks Closer Screening

Washington, Feb. 15 (AP)—Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.) today urged President Truman's loyalty review board to insist on even closer screening of federal employes. The Michigan lawmaker applauded the board's recommendation that Mr. Truman authorize the firing of workers or refusal to hire in cases where there is a "reasonable doubt" of loyalty. At present an actual showing of disloyalty at the time the issue is raised is required.

Customers' Corner

At this time each year we honor our founder, George Huntington Hartford, who gave us this basic policy:

"Always do what is honest, fair and sincere and in the best interests of our customers."

Today, as in our first store 92 years ago, the men and women of A&P strive constantly to live up to that policy.

If we should ever fail to do so, please let us know. Please write:

American women have been warned that Paris fashion designers want to force them into boned corsets, coffee diets, and "snake hip" skirts. So now, they can hardly wait until theyre forced into boned corsets, coffee diets, and "snake hips" skirts.

The explosive 38th Parallel, the damnable dividing line between U. S. and Russian zones as insidious as the one in Berlin and fully as dangerous....There is not a minute to waste!

(Quoted from a letter by Lt. Col. John C. Fairchild, F.A., U.S.A. from Korea, Feb. 1949)

Penicillin when first produced cost $65 per 100,000 units. Now it is about 45 cents for the same amount of the healing drug, brought about by private enterprise.

A friend of mine is so devoted to her dog that she takes him to work with her every day and sends him home in a taxicab alone at night.

H. Landry Picheloup,
New Iberia, La.

A tourist stopped at a New Hampshire farmhouse, nestling against one of those rock rills, to ask for a drink of water.

Farmer—Best in New Hampshire.

Tourist—But how do you plow up that hill? It's pretty steep.

Farmer—Don't plow it. The spring thaws bring down stones that tear it up so we can plant the corn.

Tourist—How do you plant it?

Farmer—Don't really plant it. I stand in the back door and shoot the seed in with a shotgun.

Tourist—Is that the truth?

Farmer—Of course not, that's conversation.

Here's something we saw framed and hanging in a hotel lobby a while back. We think it's worth passing along:

"A gentlemen is a man who is clean inside and outside; who neither looks up to the rich nor down on the poor; who can lose without squealing and who can win without bragging; who is considerate to women, children and old people; who is too brave to lie; too generous to cheat, and too sensible to loaf; who takes his share of the world's goods and lets other people take theirs."

Stayman Convention Can Tell a Lot

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

When North bid two clubs (the Stayman Convention) in the hand shown today, he was hoping to find a fit in one of the major suits. That was not, however, his only object—as Sam Stayman points out in his new book, Expert Bidding.

South's opening bid of one no-trump showed a hand of fairly definite high-card strength. Nevertheless, that strength might vary to the extent of a queen or so. If South had a "big" no-trump, within the limits of the strength allowed for such a bid, North was willing to get to game. If South had a "small" no-trump, within those same limits, North was satisfied to stay under game.

South's rebid of two diamonds showed a "small" no-trump, and everybody passed. South would have bid two no-trump with perhaps another jack in his hand. This would show a "big" no-trump, and North would go on to three no-trump.

When the hand was actually played, West opened the three of clubs, and East took the ace. East returned the eight of clubs, South played the jack, and West carefully played low instead of taking his king.

South led the king of hearts, knocking out East's ace. East then returning his remaining club, allowing West to take the king and ten of that suit. When West led his last club, all the other hands discarded low spades.

West shifted to the ten of diamonds, and dummy won with the ace. Declarer then cashed the queen and jack of hearts, hoping that dummy's last heart would become established. This hope was dashed when East discarded a diamond on the third round of hearts.

South next tried the diamonds, but discovered that his last diamond was also no good. His only chance was to lead the last diamond, handing the lead over to East. When East returned a spade, declarer let it ride to dummy's queen and thus made his contract.

Daughter Gets Job

Houston, Feb. 15 (AP)—The 18-year-old daughter of Houston millionaire and oilman Glenn McCarthy is in the oil business herself—running messages for Humble Oil & Refining Co. here. Humble officials said yesterday that Glenna Lee—now Mrs. George Pontikes—had applied for a job in the usual manner and had been hired the same way. They said she carries messages from office to office and tells workers when there is someone in the waiting room to see them. Glenna Lee and Pontikes—Rice Institute football player—eloped to Waco and got married by a justice of peace last Dec. 2. The secret marriage was not announced until several weeks later.

Volunteers to Meet

The regular monthly meeting of Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association will be held Tuesday, Feb. 20, at 8 p. m. in the firehouse of Ulster Hose Company No. 5, Town of Ulster. There will be a speaker and refreshments. The March meeting will be in Ellenville.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Stayman Convention Can Tell a Lot

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

When North bid two clubs (the Stayman Convention) in the hand shown today, he was hoping to find a fit in one of the major suits. That was not, however, his only object—as Sam Stayman points out in his new book, Expert Bidding.

South's opening bid of one no-trump showed a hand of fairly definite high-card strength. Nevertheless, that strength might vary to the extent of a queen or so. If South had a "big" no-trump, within the limits of the strength allowed for such a bid, North was willing to get to game. If South had a "small" no-trump, within those same limits, North was satisfied to stay under game.

South's rebid of two diamonds showed a "small" no-trump, and everybody passed. South would have bid two no-trump with perhaps another jack in his hand. This would show a "big" no-trump, and North would go on to three no-trump.

When the hand was actually played, West opened the three of clubs, and East took the ace. East returned the eight of clubs, South played the jack, and West carefully played low instead of taking his king.

Opening lead—♣3

South led the king of hearts, knocking out East's ace. East then returning his remaining club, allowing West to take the king and ten of that suit. When West led his last club, all the other hands discarded low spades.

West shifted to the ten of diamonds, and dummy won with the ace. Declarer then cashed the queen and jack of hearts, hoping that dummy's last heart would become established. This hope was dashed when East discarded a diamond on the third round of hearts.

South next tried the diamonds, but discovered that his last diamond was also no good. His only chance was to lead the last diamond, handing the lead over to East. When East returned a spade, declarer let it ride to dummy's queen and thus made his contract.

Daughter Gets Job

Houston, Feb. 15 (AP)—The 18-year-old daughter of Houston millionaire and oilman Glenn McCarthy is in the oil business herself—running messages for Humble Oil & Refining Co. here. Humble officials said yesterday that Glenna Lee—now Mrs. George Pontikes—had applied for a job in the usual manner and had been hired the same way. They said she carries messages from office to office and tells workers when there is someone in the waiting room to see them. Glenna Lee and Pontikes—Rice Institute football player—eloped to Waco and got married by a justice of peace last Dec. 2. The secret marriage was not announced until several weeks later.

Volunteers to Meet

The regular monthly meeting of Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association will be held Tuesday, Feb. 20, at 8 p. m. in the firehouse of Ulster Hose Company No. 5, Town of Ulster. There will be a speaker and refreshments. The March meeting will be in Ellenville.

Postman for Rural Section Ends 37½ Years of Service

An Ulster county mail carrier who had lugged enough of the written word to fill a library with volumes, and covered mileage enough in the Rondout valley to reach the moon and partly back, retired last Jan. 31 after 37½ years of service.

Percy W. Gazlay, of Accord, driver of the first rural mail wagon in Ulster county, when he ended his run last month, finished in the area where he had started in 1913.

A mailman as steady and well known as night and day throughout the area he served, he also won special notice among his colleagues in the state and nation. He had served two years, 1942 and 1943 as vice-president of the New York State Rural Letter Carriers Association, and in 1944 and 1945 he was president of the association.

In point of service he is the oldest rural carrier in the county and his many years of service were spent on the route covering Accord, Leibhardt, Lyonsville Krumville and Kripplebush.

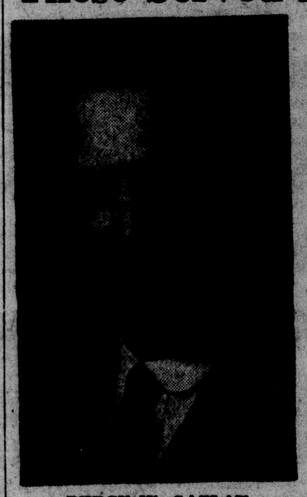
Picturesque Route

The 39 miles of road over which he traveled six days a week form one of the most interesting networks in an outstandingly picturesque area of the county. They are largely in the rolling country between the Shawangunks and the Catskills and extend through an area studded with old stone farm homes and back-country farm lands which add to the claim of the region as one of the most beautiful in the nation.

Mailman Gazlay started his route on Aug. 1, 1913, as a temporary rural carrier and on Sept. 1 he went on the job permanently. He started with a buckboard wagon which was the first rural mail carriers of its kind in the county.

Parcel post had started on July 1, 1913 and to handle this type mail, a box was tied to the rear of the vehicle. Later he got a larger horse-drawn mail wagon, and from 1917 to 1927 regular passenger automobiles were used on the summer runs. Then a Chevrolet ton truck with a snowmobile attachment was used for the winter runs and that was on the job until 1932 when the postal department ruled that passenger autos were sufficient. No horses were used after 1927.

These Served R.F.D. in County Many Years



PERCY W. GAZLAY

Going was rough over these roads

Mail car ready for a trip in 1935

Standard type cars with rear cushions removed were used for all runs after 1932, and these carried hundreds of loads of mail over the Rondout valley run.

Went 450,000 Miles

Carrier Gazlay said he has travelled approximately 39 miles a day for six days a week during his 37½ years of service. On this basis he has travelled more than 450,000 miles, and this would bring him to the Moon (238,857 miles from the earth) and a long way back again.

The mail run served 336 families, Gazlay said, and of these, he recalls only one family unaffected today by either transfers of property titles or deaths in the family.

A memorable bout with the elements, the mailman said, came after the flood of 1928 when bridges were out in the Martin's creek area from Leibhardt to a point where the the stream joins the Mombaccus at Mill Hook.

The flood split the route into two sections, one of which was covered in the morning and the other in the afternoon until the bridges were repaired.

Saw Postmaster Killed

Another memorable experience in those days of the past, he said, was the time Postmaster David Brown of Leibhardt was killed by a bull. Gazlay said he was carrying a locked pouch to the postmaster at the time.

The postmaster was leading the bull on a chain when it attacked him from the rear, he said, and he stopped on his route and helped carry him to his house. Gazlay conducted the Leibhardt post office until the postmaster was replaced.

More recently the mailman said, he discovered a fire while making his mail deliveries in the area. He saw smoke in a chicken house and gave the warning which resulted in a call to the Stone Ridge fire department.

The area within the bounds of his route, he said, now has more poultry than dairy farms, and he has noticed also that many of the smaller farms have been bought for summer residences.

Learned From Freeman

A helpful item in acquainting mailmen with their routes in the early days, he recalled, was the semi-weekly Freeman, which went to all rural areas of the county. There was no directory for the route when he first started on it, the mailman explained, and he learned the names along the route from the pasters on the newspapers as their owners claimed them.

Of all mail delivered, Gazlay stressed the most important he can remember, is "that registered letter carrying citizenship papers. It is a pleasure to deliver that kind of a letter and it always brings pleasure to the one who receives it." He had delivered many of those, he said, on the Rondout valley route.

Aside from the trouble caused by the 1928 flood, he said, there was some rough going in the winter on the route, but he usually managed to cover part of the route each day despite the severity of winter conditions.

Loves Ulster County

Asked how he liked the countryside over which he rode for so many years, the mailman said: "I have covered almost every road in New York state in my association work, and there is no country better than Ulster county and the Rondout valley."

Besides the state and national associations held by carrier Gazlay, he has held all offices in the Ulster County branch and Delaware-Hudson district.

An active member of the Rochester Reformed Church, Accord, he has worked as a member of its consistory, and treasurer. Other offices held were secretary of the Board of Fire Commissioners, and secretary-treasurer of the Accord Rural Cemetery Association.

Fraternally he is a member of Warwarsing Lodge 582, F. & A. M., Ellenville; Patroon Grange, Accord, and the Accord Fire Company.

When Mr. Gazlay was re-elected vice-president of the New York State Rural Letter Carriers Association in 1943, Mrs. Gazlay was elected to the executive committee of the ladies auxiliary, and both were delegates to the National Rural Carriers Convention in Cincinnati in August of that same year.

The Ulster county man served as one of a virtual army of 1,362 rural mail carriers in the state and 33,000 in the nation, and the offices he held were honors both for him and Ulster county.

Prudential Names Manager for Area

Appointment of George G. McCarthy as manager of the Prudential Insurance Co.'s district office in Kingston was announced today by James E. Rutherford, company vice president. McCarthy, regional supervisor in the Michigan-Indiana Region since May, 1949, replaces William C. Crabtree who now heads the company's district office in Manchester, N. H.

A graduate of the University of Texas, McCarthy started his Prudential career in 1935 in the home office at Newark. For eight of his 14 years there he was associated with district agency research. In 1946 he was named an assistant regional manager, and three years later assumed the duties of regional supervisor. A veteran of World War 2, he served with the U. S. Navy in the Atlantic and Pacific theatres, emerging in 1946 with the rank of lieutenant, junior grade. He is a member of the National Life Underwriters Association and the American Society of Life Underwriters.

The Kingston district office, located at 40 John street, has a staff of 56 agents and eight staff managers and services more than $63,000,000 of all types of Prudential insurance in force there and at branch offices in Catskill, Margaretville and Saugerties.

"Mach number," the term used to express the speed of jet planes, is derived from Prof. Ernst Mach, who died in Germany 35 years ago.

There were nearly 1,675,000 marriages in the United States in 1950, a 5 per cent increase over 1949.

Postman for Rural Section Ends 37½ Years of Service

An Ulster county mail carrier who had lugged enough of the written word to fill a library with volumes, and covered mileage enough in the Rondout valley to reach the moon and partly back, retired last Jan. 31 after 37½ years of service.

Percy W. Gazlay, of Accord, driver of the first rural mail wagon in Ulster county, when he ended his run last month, finished in the area where he had started in 1913.

A mailman as steady and well known as night and day throughout the area he served, he also won special notice among his colleagues in the state and nation. He had served two years, 1942 and 1943 as vice-president of the New York State Rural Letter Carriers Association, and in 1944 and 1945 he was president of the association.

In point of service he is the oldest rural carrier in the county and his many years of service were spent on the route covering Accord, Leibhardt, Lyonsville Krumville and Kripplebush.

Picturesque Route

The 39 miles of road over which he traveled six days a week form one of the most interesting networks in an outstandingly picturesque area of the county. They are largely in the rolling country between the Shawangunks and the Catskills and extend through an area studded with old stone farm homes and back-country farm lands which add to the claim of the region as one of the most beautiful in the nation.

Mailman Gazlay started his route on Aug. 1, 1913, as a temporary rural carrier and on Sept. 1 he went on the job permanently. He started with a buckboard wagon which was the first rural mail carriers of its kind in the county.

Parcel post had started on July 1, 1913 and to handle this type mail, a box was tied to the rear of the vehicle. Later he got a larger horse-drawn mail wagon, and from 1917 to 1927 regular passenger automobiles were used on the summer runs. Then a Chevrolet ton truck with a snow-mobile attachment was used for the winter runs and that was on the job until 1932 when the postal department ruled that passenger autos were sufficient. No horses were used after 1927.

PERCY W. GAZLAY

Standard type cars with rear cushions removed were used for all runs after 1932, and these carried hundreds of loads of mail over the Rondout valley run.

Went 450,000 Miles

Carrier Gazlay said he has travelled approximately 39 miles a day for six days a week during his 37½ years of service. On this basis he has travelled more than 450,000 miles, and this would bring him to the Moon (238,857 miles from the earth) and a long way back again.

The mail run served 336 families, Gazlay said, and of these, he recalls only one family unaffected today by either transfers of property titles or deaths in the family.

A memorable bout with the elements, the mailman said, came after the flood of 1928 when bridges were out in the Martin's creek area from Leibhardt to a point where the the stream joins the Mombaccus at Mill Hook.

The flood split the route into two sections, one of which was covered in the morning and the other in the afternoon until the bridges were repaired.

Saw Postmaster Killed

Another memorable experience in those days of the past, he said, was the time Postmaster David Brown of Leibhardt was killed by a bull. Gazlay said he was carrying a locked pouch to the postmaster at the time.

The postmaster was leading the bull on a chain when it attacked him from the rear, he said, and he stopped on his route and helped carry him to his house. Gazlay conducted the Leibhardt post office until the postmaster was replaced.

More recently the mailman said, he discovered a fire while making his mail deliveries in the area. He saw smoke in a chicken house and gave the warning which resulted in a call to the Stone Ridge fire department.

The area within the bounds of his route, he said, now has more poultry than dairy farms, and he has noticed also that many of the smaller farms have been bought for summer residences.

Learned From Freeman

A helpful item in acquainting mailmen with their routes in the early days, he recalled, was the semi-weekly Freeman which went to all rural areas of the county. There was no directory for the route when he first started on it, the mailman explained, and he learned the names along the route from the pasters on the newspapers as their owners claimed them.

Of all mail delivered, Gazlay stressed the most important he can remember, is "that registered letter carrying citizenship papers. It is a pleasure to deliver that kind of a letter and it always brings pleasure to the one who receives it." He had delivered many of those, he said, on the Rondout valley route.

Aside from the trouble caused by the 1928 flood, he said, there was some rough going in the winter on the route, but he usually managed to cover part of the route each day despite the severity of winter conditions.

Loves Ulster County

Asked how he liked the countryside over which he rode for so many years, the mailman said: "I have covered almost every road in New York state in my association work, and there is no country better than Ulster county and the Rondout valley."

Besides the state and national associations held by carrier Gazlay, he has held all offices in the Ulster County branch and Delaware-Hudson district.

An active member of the Rochester Reformed Church, Accord, he has worked as a member of its consistory, and treasurer. Other offices held were secretary of the Board of Fire Commissioners, and secretary-treasurer of the Accord Rural Cemetery Association.

Fraternally he is a member of Warwarsing Lodge 582, F. & A. M., Ellenville; Patroon Grange, Accord, and the Accord Fire Company.

When Mr. Gazlay was re-elected vice-president of the New York State Rural Letter Carriers Association in 1943, Mrs. Gazlay was elected to the executive committee of the ladies auxiliary, and both were delegates to the National Rural Carriers Convention in Cincinnati in August of that same year.

The Ulster county man served as one of a virtual army of 1,362 rural mail carriers in the state and 33,000 in the nation, and the offices he held were honors both for him and Ulster county.

Prudential Names Manager for Area

Appointment of George G. McCarthy as manager of the Prudential Insurance Co.'s district office in Kingston was announced today by James E. Rutherford, company vice president. McCarthy, regional supervisor in the Michigan-Indiana Region since May, 1949, replaces William C. Crabtree who now heads the company's district office in Manchester, N. H.

A graduate of the University of Texas, McCarthy started his Prudential career in 1935 in the home office at Newark. For eight of his 14 years there he was associated with district agency research. In 1946 he was named an assistant regional manager, and three years later assumed the duties of regional supervisor. A veteran of World War 2, he served with the U. S. Navy in the Atlantic and Pacific theatres, emerging in 1946 with the rank of lieutenant, junior grade. He is a member of the National Life Underwriters Association and the American Society of Life Underwriters.

The Kingston district office, located at 40 John street, has a staff of 56 agents and eight staff managers and services more than $63,000,000 of all types of Prudential insurance in force there and at branch offices in Catskill, Margaretville and Saugerties.

"Mach number," the term used to express the speed of jet planes, is derived from Prof. Ernst Mach, who died in Germany 35 years ago.

There were nearly 1,675,000 marriages in the United States in 1950, a 5 per cent increase over 1949.

Chamber Greets New Directors; Banquet Tonight

Committee reports, the annual banquet and a resolution of commendation to honor past President Robert E. Teetsel featured the meeting of the board of directors of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce Tuesday night. This was also the first regular meeting at which President Lawrence J. MacAvery presided. Recently elected directors welcomed to the meeting were L. V. Bogert, Edward M. Huben, Maynard Mizel and Elmer Rylance. Henry Singer, recently appointed to fill the unexpired term of Bernard Feeney was also welcomed. B. C. Anderson, Lawrence Quilty, and George N. Shivery, the other new directors, found it impossible to be present.

President MacAvery announced that John H. Haulenbeek, affiliated with the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation has been appointed as Chairman of Industrial Procurement Committee for 1951. A special committee, appointed to study the possibility of relocating the Uptown Post Office, has had several conferences. This committee was appointed because of the numerous complaints received regarding the present location. It was also reported that the steering committee for the 300th anniversary celebration of Kingston in 1952 has had several meetings and that an open meeting of organization representatives, to present proposed plans will be held on February 27th. It was also reported that the Chamber of Commerce will have a bowling team in the State tournament in Elmira on April 8th. Emil Boessneck will be the captain of this team.

President MacAvery also appointed a special committee consisting of James P. Byrne, Pratt Boice and Lawrence A. Quilty to draft a suitable resolution of commendation to honor past President Teetsel for service rendered and to be signed by all the officers and directors at the next meeting.

The application for membership of Henry Seigel of 220 Albany avenue was presented and accepted by the board.

A report was given on behalf of Howard C. St. John, chairman of the committee for the annual banquet Thursday night, that about 150 reservations have been received and that final details had been arranged. This yearf a brief narrative report of 1950 activities will appear in the printed program rather than presented by an officer. It was reported that a limited number of reservations can still be accepted.

Directors present in addition to those mentioned above included Emil G. Boessneck, Pratt Boice, J. Ellis Briggs, Eugene B. Carey, Byron S. Chatham, Joseph Deegan, Victor H. Roth, and Robert E. Teetsel.

Chamber Greets New Directors; Banquet Tonight

Committee reports, the annual banquet and a resolution of commendation to honor past President Robert E. Teetsel featured the meeting of the board of directors of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce Tuesday night. This was also the first regular meeting at which President Lawrence J. MacAvery presided. Recently elected directors welcomed to the meeting were L. V. Bogert, Edward M. Huben, Maynard Mizel and Elmer Rylance. Henry Singer, recently appointed to fill the unexpired term of Bernard Feeney was also welcomed. B. C. Anderson, Lawrence Quilty, and George N. Shivery, the other new directors, found it impossible to be present.

President MacAvery announced that John H. Haulenbeek, affiliated with the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation has been appointed as Chairman of Industrial Procurement Committee for 1951. A special committee, appointed to study the possibility of relocating the Uptown Post Office, has had several conferences. This committee was appointed because of the numerous complaints received regarding the present location. It was also reported that the steering committee for the 300th anniversary celebration of Kingston in 1952 has had several meetings and that an open meeting of organization representatives, to present proposed plans will be held on February 27th. It was also reported that the Chamber of Commerce will have a bowling team in the State tournament in Elmira on April 8th. Emil Boessneck will be the captain of this team.

President MacAvery also appointed a special committee consisting of James P. Byrne, Pratt Boice and Lawrence A. Quilty to draft a suitable resolution of commendation to honor past President Teetsel for service rendered and to be signed by all the officers and directors at the next meeting.

The application for membership of Henry Seigel of 220 Albany avenue was presented and accepted by the board.

A report was given on behalf of Howard C. St. John, chairman of the committee for the annual banquet Thursday night, that about 150 reservations have been received and that final details had been arranged. This yearf a brief narrative report of 1950 activities will appear in the printed program rather than presented by an officer. It was reported that a limited number of reservations can still be accepted.

Directors present in addition to those mentioned above included Emil G. Boessneck, Pratt Boice, J. Ellis Briggs, Eugene B. Carey, Byron S. Chatham, Joseph Deegan, Victor H. Roth, and Robert E. Teetsel.

Crews Says Crane Paid Fund $3,500

New York, Feb. 15 (AP)—A Brooklyn Republican leader said today John P. Crane, president of the Uniformed Firemen's Association, contributed $3,500 to the preconvention presidential campaign fund of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey in 1948.

The disclosure came from John R. Crews who said he turned the money over to Dewey's campaign committee.

The $3,500 apparently was part of the $135,000 withdrawn wtihout explanation from the treasury of the firemen's association. Under questioning Crane reportedly has said the withdrawals went to "good local friends."

District Attorney Frank S. Hogan recently questioned Crane at length on the disposition of the money. When the fireman refused to sign a waiver of immunity he was fired from the fire department.

Hogan's investigation reportedly is focused now on whether other UFA funds were contributed to the campaigns of Democratic candidates and to former Mayor William O'Dwyer's 1949 re-election campaign.

Two grand juries now are delving into affairs of the fire department and its line organizations. One phase of the investigation centers on a charge that some firemen paid for their promotions to officer rank.

Two Bard Students From Germany End 5,500-Mile 'Hike'

Two German exchange students studying at Bard College, Annandale-on-Hudson, are back in the state after a 5,500-mile hitch-hike tour of a large section of the United States during the annual field period.

The two expressed their appreciation yesterday in an interview with a New York Times reporter in New York of the almost uniformly friendly attitude of the American people.

After a 5,500-mile hitch-hike tour of a large section of the United States, two German exchange students expressed here yesterday appreciation of the almost uniformly friendly attitude of the American people.

The young men — Herbert Spaekner, 19 years old, of Bamberg, and Gunther Remmling, 21, of Berlin—are participants in a program for German students that is sponsored under the auspices of the State Department and is administered by the Institute of International Education here.

The travelers, who speak English fluently, each carried a suitcase, passports, introductory letters from Dean Edwin Casady of Bard, and a sign reading: "Foreign Students Seeing America." They obtained rides in 105 cars on their visit in Pennsylvania, Virginia, the Carolinas, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas, Tennessee, Kentucky and Ohio. On strict budgets, the youths spent an average of $2.50 a day each for lodging and food.

One Unfriendly Driver

They said they met only one unfriendly driver. He ordered them out of his car as soon as he learned they were German. Texans and Georgians seemed the most friendly, they reported. They found that most of the people they met favored aid to Germany to help ward off Soviet aggression, they said.

Pole Asks Asylum In United States

Washington, Feb. 15 (AP)—State Department officials said last night the Polish embassy's second ranking diplomat, Zygmunt Litynski, has resigned and asked for asylum in the United States.

Litynski, commercial counselor, has been with the embassy for five years. His resignation was effective Jan. 29.

His request for sanctuary in the U. S. is under study in the State Department and immigration office. Several such defections from Iron Curtain embassies and offices in this country have been reported recently.

Other recent defections from the Polish embassy include Grezegorz Leyfell, a clerk, and a maid to Ambassador Josef Winiewicz's wife, a State Department official said.

Tillson Company Names Fire Carnival Chairman

At the regular monthly meeting of the Tillson Volunteer Fire Company, Inc., Tuesday evening in the firehouse, Anthony Guerrera accepted the appointment of chairman of the annual carnival committee, which will soon start making plans for the annual event.

Proposed changes in the by-laws were read by James J. Burke, Sr., secretary, and it was announced that it would be necessary to read these again at both the March and April meeetings before voting upon them for acceptance or rejection.

Chief Engineer Frank Minnikine stated that during the past month there were no fires within the Tillson Fire District.

Chris Rappolt, a recently retired New York policeman and member of the fire company, was selected as chief of the fire police team.

Theatre Manager Paid Inspectors

New York, Feb. 15 (AP)—The manager of the Paris Theatre, showing the controversial film "The Miracle," has admitted paying fire inspectors $20 monthly—but without a thought of buying favors.

The showing of "The Miracle" has been opposed by Roman Catholic groups.

The fire department has accused the Paris Theatre of breaking safety regulations by allowing standees inside.

Chief Fire Marshal Martin Scott said yesterday that the manager, Edgar Van Blohm, admitted the violation and also told of paying $20 a month to two inspectors on their routine inspection tours.

Herman McCarthy, attorney for the theatre, agreed that the clampdown by the fire department had nothing to do with the controversial nature of the movie.

McCarthy said the Paris thought the payoffs were "a universal practice among all local motion picture theatres" and were made "without any intention of seeking favors."

Van Blohm said the payments went out over a two-year period until the Division of Licensed Places underwent a shakeup recently. McCarthy said the payments were stopped last month when the theatre learned that such practices were forbidden.

The theatre manager said he could not identify the inspectors who accepted payments, but Scott said he will try to learn their names during his probe of the matter.

Taxi Damage Suit

An action involving property damage to two taxicabs was taken up for trial in County Court Wednesday and was still on trial at the afternoon adjournment. Max Loeb, owner of a taxi, driven by J. O. Newmark of New York en route from New York to this area in the summer of 1949, brings an action against Frank Soully of Kingston who was driving his fare south on Route 9W near Orchard Inn at Port Ewen. Andrew J. Cook, Jr., appears for the plaintiff, Loeb, and Charles Gaffney, trial counsel appears for N. LeVan Haver attorney of record for defendant.

Baumans in Photo For News Feature

Woodstock, Feb. 15—Mr. and Mrs. Ed Bauman of Woodstock were among a group of residents of Peter Cooper Village photographed for a feature picture story which appeared in the Sunday News, on February 11. The story was captioned "'Hi, Neighbor' Party's a Hit," and presents a group of apartment-dwellers, living on the same floor, getting acquainted, at the invitation of their hosts, Mr. and Mrs. John M. Grogan. The Grogans, newlyweds, decided to do something about the sorry state of affairs in which those living in the same apartment seldom develop little more than a nodding acquaintance with one another.

According to Bauman, the photos were taken about six months ago while they still had their apartment in Peter Cooper Village in New York. Recently the Baumans moved to their newly completed home on the Mead Mt. Road.

Two Bard Students From Germany End 5,500-Mile 'Hike'

Two German exchange students studying at Bard College, Annandale-on-Hudson, are back in the state after a 5,500-mile hitch-hike tour of a large section of the United States during the annual field period.

The two expressed their appreciation yesterday in an interview with a New York Times reporter in New York of the almost uniformly friendly attitude of the American people.

After a 5,500-mile hitch-hike tour of a large section of the United States, two German exchange students expressed here yesterday appreciation of the almost uniformly friendly attitude of the American people.

The young men — Herbert Speckner, 19 years old, of Bamberg, and Gunther Remmling, 21, of Berlin—are participants in a program for German students that is sponsored under the auspices of the State Department and is administered by the Institute of International Education here.

The travelers, who speak English fluently, each carried a suitcase, passports, introductory letters from Dean Edwin Casady of Bard, and a sign reading: "Foreign Students Seeing America." They obtained rides in 105 cars on their visit in Pennsylvania, Virginia, the Carolinas, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas, Tennessee, Kentucky and Ohio. On strict budgets, the youths spent an average of $2.50 a day each for lodging and food.

One Unfriendly Driver

They said they met only one unfriendly driver. He ordered them out of his car as soon as he learned they were German. Texans and Georgians seemed the most friendly, they reported. They found that most of the people they met favored aid to Germany to help ward off Soviet aggression, they said.

Creamery to Be Button Factory

The original plant of the Rondout Valley Creamery Corporation near Kyserike was sold Wednesday to a New York wood products manufacturer.

The purchaser is Moritz Schoen, who has operated for 18 years under the name of M. Schoen at East 76th street, Manhattan. The firm manufactures wood buttons and novelties, specializing in a type of finish known as the Czechoslovakian finish.

Schoen has begun moving woodworking machinery into the Kyserike building, and according to information received here, hopes to go into production here by the end of March. The firm may employ about 35 persons, using local help where possible.

The building, of brick and concrete block construction, was built about 40 years ago by the Roudout Valley Creamery Corporation, which has since moved to another location in the vicinity. The original building was acquired by J. Sanford Cross, who has used it for lumber storage in recent years. It is located near the New York, Ontario and Western railroad tracks near Kyserike.

In addition to the main building, the property contains a 24 by 100 foot shed, which has been enclosed by the new owner for future expansion.

The transaction was completed Wednesday through John A. Cole, Inc., real estate dealers of Kingston. J. Sanford Cross, owner of the building, was represented by Attorney Lloyd LeFever. Purchaser was represented by Attorney William A. Kaercher.

Traffic Cravats Banned

Asbury Park, N. J., Feb. 15 (AP)—A city magistrate flashed a stop signal yesterday on a shortlived police plan to hand out safety-slogan neckties to errant motorists instead of summonses. In forbidding the practice to continue, Magistrate Eugene Capibianco said it was "a mockery of the judicial process." The ties were liberally covered with brightly-colored stop signs, speed limit signs, traffic lights and highway markers. Police Chief Fred Lembke said the ties were a gag. He said out of four cravats made up as part of a safety campaign Monday only one was handed out to a motorist.

Scarlet Fever Reported

Several cases of scarlet fever have been reported to the Ulster County Department of Health, but the number is considered "nothing unusual," and has not neared epidemic proportions, Dr. Robert H. Broad, county health commissioner, said today. A total of 10 cases was reported in the county in January, of which total six cases were reported in the town of Lloyd. So far this month, five cases were reported in the county, including one in the city of Kingston. Only one case was in the town of Lloyd in February, indicating that there will be no general outbreak in that area.

Ships Washed Ashore

Washington, Feb. 15 (AP)—The navy reported today five American vessels, including the submarine Bugara, were washed aground by a storm yesterday in Tokyo Bay. A spokesman said no loss of life was reported in preliminary accounts received from Tokyo. Neither was anything available about the condition of the vessels.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Feb. 15 (AP) — Gold mining stocks were the featured performer in a limited stock market advance today.

Leaving out the gold issues, the move to higher ground was a feeble, somewhat tentative affair. Nevertheless, it was the first time this week prices were not in retreat.

Gains for gold shares ranged up to $2, while for the rest of the market the advances were from a few cents to around $1.50 a share. Losses were plentiful, but seldom exceeded $1.

The fading of prospects for a quick tax boost was one factor that enabled stocks to pull out of the slow decline of the past two sessions.

Steels, motors, aircrafts, chemicals and mail order issues were mixed. Beter were rubbers, radio-TV, utilities, motion pictures and airlines. Rails, oils and building materials stocks generaly were trimmed.

About the Folks

Mrs. Susanna R. Flowers of Rifton has returned to her home from the Benedictine Hospital, where she was a patient for three weeks.

'Physician' Unmasked As Ex-Convict in Court

Hutchinson, Kas., Feb. 15 (AP)—A man who sued for $40,000 damages, claiming an automobile crash had ruined his future as a physician was unmasked dramatically in court yesterday as an ex-convict using an insane friend's medical diploma.

James H. Phillips alias Dr. Arthur O. Phillips, had been living here a year and a half. Last June 15, his car collided with a consumer's cooperative truck. He brought suit alleging injuries suffered had damaged his ability to practice.

On the stand yesterday, Defense Attorney George Powers produced photostatic copies of Phillips' record showing he had served terms in Georgia, Idaho, California, Arizona and Kansas penitentiaries.

The "doctor" admitted in two hours of cross examination he was not a doctor but had used the medical diploma of an insane man and had been convicted six times for illegal medical practice since 1920.

The suit was dismissed.

HIGHLAND

A daughter, Deborah Elliott, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Victor E. Allen Monday in Kingston Hospital. Mrs. Allen is the former Miss Emily Jane Bradshaw of Highland whose home is now in Woodstock.

The Rev. Oscar Jelsma gave the charge to the pastor Sunday night in the installation of the Rev. Marshall L. Smith over the Marlborough Presbyterian Church. The services were conducted by North River Presbytery with the moderator, the Rev. Wilbur Franklin, Newburgh presiding.

The Ash Wednesday services held in the Methodist Church last week were attended by over 100 children from school. Permission was given by their parents to be present at the service.

Jack Meekins and his roommate John Zoller from Colgate University were recent week-end guests of the former's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Carl Foster Meekins. Jack has completed the studies of the last half of his junior year and is now enrolled as a senior.

The U. D. Society will be entertained Saturday by Mrs. George F. DuBois, Tilson avenue.

Virgil Tompkins, New York, returned Monday night after spending the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Theron Tompkins.

John Crowley drove to his home in Wilmington over the week-end.

Owing to the inclement weather and traveling the meeting of the Ganse church school society was omitted for this month. The March meeting will be with Mrs. Gordon E. Wilcox when Miss Ethel Haines will give the program prepared for this month.

Mrs. Samuel D. Farnham is spending some time at the home of her son, Frank near Poughkeepsie, owing to the illness of Mrs. Frank Farnham.

Mrs. Charles Patrick accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Roumelis and Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Patrick on their two weeks trip south. Her daughter is with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Cluett Schantz, Marlborough.

At the recent meeting of the Legion Auxiliary, members voted to send $5 to the polio drive. During the month of January the auxiliary sent 68 newspapers and three magazines to the men in service from the Town of Lloyd. Miss Eleanor Flint, child welfare chairman, distributed 95 pounds of new and used clothing to needy families. Members of the auxiliary contributed linen, towels, wash cloths and pillow cases to the fire victims in Milton. It was voted to send $7 to the Woman's Infirmary at the American Legion camp. This amount will take care of one woman for one day. The money from coupons brought in by members each month go toward the Woman's Infirmary. The American Legion and Auxiliary meeting for the county will be held in Highland Monday, March 26. The chairman of community service reported 10 hours spent on Brownie work during the month of January.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Thomas have closed their apartment in Albany and are now with her father, Jay R. Melius. They formerly lived in Kingston.

Local Death Record

The funeral of Maj. Frank Conlon, U. S. Army, retired, who died Sunday night at his home on Fortner street, Hurley, was held Wednesday at 2 p. m., from the Woolworth Memorial Chapel, Woodlawn Cemetery, New York city. A military service was conducted by the Rev. John Wing, associate pastor of St. Thomas' Episcopal Church, New York city, who is chaplain of the New York Seventh Regiment, of which Maj. Conlon was a life member. Friends and neighbors called at the funeral home Tuesday afternoon and evening. Burial was in Woodlawn Cemetery. Arrangements were in charge of the Sweet and Keyser Funeral Service.

'From Adolf Hitler'

Beirut, Lebanon (AP)—A revolver with "from Adolf Hitler to General Rommel in recognition of his bravery" engraved on it was found here recently by police making a routine search for prohibited arms. They found the gun, which holds 30 cartridges, when they searched a local Arab named Ahmed Eljardi. Ahmer didn't say where he got the gun, but he offered almost $1,000 to get it back. Police confiscated the revolver.

Motorboats Must Carry Children's Life Belts

New York, Feb. 15 — Rear Admiral Louis B. Olson, commander of the Coast Guard's eastern area and third district, today issued an important reminder to all owners and operators of motorboats and motor vessels carrying passengers for hire, regardless of the waters in which they operate. Effective Saturday, Feb. 17, the following regulation will be in effect:

"Motorboats which carry passengers for hire shall be provided with an approved life preserver for each person carried, and with an additional number of approved life preservers suitable for children, equal to at least 10 percent of the total number of persons carried."

LEIBHARDT

Leibhardt, Feb. 15—Merritt A. Kiff of West Hurley was a local caller on Saturday.

Barbara Gail Pollack celebrated her 11th birthday last Wednesday. She received many cards and gifts.

THE RUMINATOR

A Column of Contrary Opinion
By HUMPHREY B. NEILL

With your permission, I'd like to discuss again the terribly important situation that has arisen between the Federal Reserve Banks and the Administration.

To me this is the most significant political development since former President Roosevelt attempted to "pack" the Supreme Court with extra members of his own choosing.

Because this situation has to do with monetary affairs it is next to impossible to arouse public indignation as was the case at the time of the Supreme Court affair.

It is my hope, if you become concerned about this problem, that you will write or wire your senators urging them to get to the bottom of the impasse. The Federal Reserve System was set up by the Congress to be an independent agency free of political interference. Its function is to aid in the regulation of credit and money to the end that serious inflations and deflations do not occur.

The Congress has been so particular to keep the agency independent that about 15 years ago the law was amended in order to eliminate the Secretary of the Treasury and the Comptroller of the Currency as ex-officio members of the board. This, I think, emphasizes the point that the Federal Reserve System is not a government agency but an independent institution set up to serve banks and the people in the free regulation of monetary policies.

In recent months, as you know, the Secretary of the Treasury has been at odds with the Federal Reserve over the question of interest rates on government bonds. The Treasury Department has insisted upon a low rate of interest—2½ per cent—on long-term bonds because it felt that the interest charges on the public debt must be kept low. Yet, at the same time it is recognized in banking circles that "cheap money" is one of the most potent "engines of inflation."

The Treasury Department, of course, has the responsibility of establishing the interest rates on bonds. However, the Federal Reserve System also "controls" the returns, or yields, on bonds by what is known as "open-market operations."

Using today's situation as the example, here is what happens.

The two-and-a-half per-cent rate is not attractive to institution and other buyers of bonds. Accordingly, the demand for government bonds is not sufficient to absorb the heavy selling in these securities which has transpired in recent months. The Federal Reserve System, therefore, has "stood in the market" and taken all bonds offered at a "pegged price" in order to maintain the 2½ per cent yield.

If the Federal Reserve were to allow the bonds to find their own "free" level the prices would undoubtedly fall somewhat, thereby forcing the yield on long-term issues to a slightly higher rate than 2½ per cent.

This is what the government does not want to see happen. And, week before last the president did the unprecedented thing of calling in the Board members of the Federal Reserve System and also five presidents of district Federal Reserve Banks (thus including the Open Market Committee) and practically dictating to them that the Treasury's 2½ per cent rate must be maintained. This is just as serious as if he were to call in the Supreme Court and tell the Judges how to rule on cases before them.

Apparently from reports, the group was not at all in accord with the president, but after the conference the president wrote a letter to Chairman McCabe of the Board "thanking" him, as it were, for concurring. This is an old political trick, to cover up disagreements, as visitors to the president dislike to contradict him.

In this case, however, a public hearing should undoubtedly be instigated by the Congress in order to accomplish two vitally important results: (1) To educate the public on the inflationary aspects of the Federal Reserve's huge buying of government bonds (over $3.5 billion in the last few months); and (2) to bring the unprecedented action of Mr. Truman's dictatorial interference with the Federal Reserve System.

This is why the Ruminator urges that you wire or write your Congressmen (as he did) to investigate this very serious threat to inflation and to our free economy. We are in a monetary inflation, because of this impasse, and it will lead to a hyper-inflation of the currency if it is not stopped.

Creamery to Be Button Factory

The purchaser is Moritz Schoen, who has operated for 18 years under the name of M. Schoen at East 76th street, Manhattan. The firm manufactures wood buttons and novelties, specializing in a type of finish known as the Czechoslovakian finish.

Schoen has begun moving woodworking machinery into the Kyserike building, and according to information received here, hopes to go into production here by the end of March. The firm may employ about 35 persons, using local help where possible.

The building, of brick and concrete block construction, was built about 40 years ago by the Roudout Valley Creamery Corporation, which has since moved to another location in the vicinity. The original building was acquired by J. Sanford Cross, who has used it for lumber storage in recent years. It is located near the New York, Ontario and Western railroad tracks near Kyserike.

In addition to the main building, the property contains a 24 by 100 foot shed, which has been enclosed by the new owner for future expansion.

The transaction was completed Wednesday through John A. Cole, Inc., real estate dealers of Kingston. J. Sanford Cross, owner of the building, was represented by Attorney Lloyd LeFever. Purchaser was represented by Attorney William A. Kaercher.

Traffic Cravats Banned

Asbury Park, N. J., Feb. 15 (AP)—A city magistrate flashed a stop signal yesterday on a shortlived police plan to hand out safety-slogan necktties to errant motorists instead of summonses. In forbidding the practice to continue, Magistrate Eugene Capibianco said it was "a mockery of the judicial process." The ties were liberally covered with brightly-colored stop signs, speed limit signs, traffic lights and highway markers. Police Chief Fred Lembke said the ties were a gag. He said out of four cravats made up as part of a safety campaign Monday only one was handed out to a motorist.

Urges Tax Rise

Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston urges a "tough and steep" tax increase in testimony before the House Ways and Means Committee in Washington. He said he believes present controls on wages, prices and production can be lifted in two or three years, "barring a full scale attack." (AP Wirephoto).

Scarlet Fever Reported

Several cases of scarlet fever have been reported to the Ulster County Department of Health, but the number is considered "nothing unusual," and has not neared epidemic proportions, Dr. Robert H. Broad, county health commissioner, said today. A total of 10 cases was reported in the county in January, of which total six cases were reported in the town of Lloyd. So far this month, five cases were reported in the county, including one in the city of Kingston. Only one case was in the town of Lloyd in February, indicating that there will be no general outbreak in that area.

Ships Washed Ashore

Washington, Feb. 15 (AP)—The navy reported today five American vessels, including the submarine Bugara, were washed aground by a storm yesterday in Tokyo Bay. A spokesman said no loss of life was reported in preliminary accounts received from Tokyo. Neither was anything available about the condition of the vessels.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Feb. 15 (AP) — Gold mining stocks were the featured performer in a limited stock market advance today.

Leaving out the gold issues, the move to higher ground was a feeble, somewhat tentative affair. Nevertheless, it was the first time this week prices were not in retreat.

Gains for gold shares ranged up to $2, while for the rest of the market the advances were from a few cents to around $1.50 a share. Losses were plentiful, but seldom exceeded $1.

The fading of prospects for a quick tax boost was one factor that enabled stocks to pull out of the slow decline of the past two sessions.

Steels, motors, aircrafts, chemicals and mail order issues were mixed. Beter were rubbers, radio-TV, utilities, motion pictures and airlines. Rails, oils and building materials stocks generaly were trimmed.

'Physician' Unmasked As Ex-Convict in Court

Hutchinson, Kas., Feb. 15 (AP)—A man who sued for $40,000 damages, claiming an automobile crash had ruined his future as a physician was unmasked dramatically in court yesterday as an ex-convict using an insane friend's medical diploma.

James H. Phillips alias Dr. Arthur O. Phillips, had been living here a year and a half. Last June 15, his car collided with a consumer's cooperative truck. He brought suit alleging injuries suffered had damaged his ability to practice.

On the stand yesterday, Defense Attorney George Powers produced photostatic copies of Phillips' record showing he had served terms in Georgia, Idaho, California, Arizona and Kansas penitentiaries.

The "doctor" admitted in two hours of cross examination he was not a doctor but had used the medical diploma of an insane man and had been convicted six times for illegal medical practice since 1920.

The suit was dismissed.

HIGHLAND

A daughter, Deborah Elliott, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Victor E. Allen Monday in Kingston Hospital. Mrs. Allen is the former Miss Emily Jane Bradshaw of Highland whose home is now in Woodstock.

The Rev. Oscar Jelsma gave the charge to the pastor Sunday night in the installation of the Rev. Marshall L. Smith over the Marlborough Presbyterian Church. The services were conducted by North River Presbytery with the moderator, the Rev. Wilbur Franklin, Newburgh presiding.

The Ash Wednesday services held in the Methodist Church last week were attended by over 100 children from school. Permission was given by their parents to be present at the service.

Jack Meekins and his roommate John Zoller from Colgate University were recent week-end guests of the former's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Carl Foster Meekins. Jack has completed the studies of the last half of his junior year and is now enrolled as a senior.

The U. D. Society will be entertained Saturday by Mrs. George F. DuBois, Tilson avenue.

John Crowley drove to his home in Wilmington over the week-end.

Owing to the inclement weather and traveling the meeting of the Ganse church school society was omitted for this month. The March meeting will be with Mrs. Gordon E. Wilcox when Miss Ethel Haines will give the program prepared for this month.

Mrs. Samuel D. Farnham is spending some time at the home of her son, Frank near Poughkeepsie, owing to the illness of Mrs. Frank Farnham.

Mrs. Charles Patrick accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Roumelis and Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Patrick on their two weeks trip south. Her daughter is with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Cluett Schantz, Marlborough.

At the recent meeting of the Legion Auxiliary, members voted to send $5 to the polio drive. During the month of January the auxiliary sent 68 newspapers and three magazines to the men in service from the Town of Lloyd. Miss Eleanor Flint, child welfare chairman, distributed 95 pounds of new and used clothing to needy families. Members of the auxiliary contributed linen, towels, wash cloths and pillow cases to the fire victims in Milton. It was voted to send $7 to the Woman's Infirmary at the American Legion camp. This amount will take care of one woman for one day. The money from coupons brought in by members each month go toward the Woman's Infirmary. The American Legion and Auxiliary meeting for the county will be held in Highland Monday, March 26. The chairman of community service reported 10 hours spent on Brownie work during the month of January.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Thomas have closed their apartment in Albany and are now with her father, Jay R. Melius. They formerly lived in Kingston.

'From Adolf Hitler'

Beirut, Lebanon (AP)—A revolver with "from Adolf Hitler to General Rommel in recognition of his bravery" engraved on it was found here recently by police making a routine search for prohibited arms. They found the gun, which holds 30 cartridges, when they searched a local Arab named Ahmed Eljardi. Ahmer didn't say where he got the gun, but he offered almost $1,000 to get it back. Police confiscated the revolver.

Motorboats Must Carry Children's Life Belts

New York, Feb. 15—Rear Admiral Louis B. Olson, commander of the Coast Guard's eastern area and third district, today issued an important reminder to all owners and operators of motorboats and motor vessels carrying passengers for hire, regardless of the waters in which they operate. Effective Saturday, Feb. 17, the following regulation will be in effect:

"Motorboats which carry passengers for hire shall be provided with an approved life preserver for each person carried, and with an additional number of approved life preservers suitable for children, equal to at least 10 percent of the total number of persons carried."

Creamery to Be Button Factory

The original plant of the Rondout Valley Creamery Corporation near Kyserike was sold Wednesday to a New York wood products manufacturer.

The purchaser is Moritz Schoen, who has operated for 18 years under the name of M. Schoen at East 76th street, Manhattan. The firm manufactures wood buttons and novelties, specializing in a type of finish known as the Czechoslovakian finish.

Schoen has begun moving woodworking machinery into the Kyserike building, and according to information received here, hopes to go into production here by the end of March. The firm may employ about 35 persons, using local help where possible.

The building, of brick and concrete block construction, was built about 40 years ago by the Roudout Valley Creamery Corporation, which has since moved to another location in the vicinity. The original building was acquired by J. Sanford Cross, who has used it for lumber storage in recent years. It is located near the New York, Ontario and Western railroad tracks near Kyserike.

In addition to the main building, the property contains a 24 by 100 foot shed, which has been enclosed by the new owner for future expansion.

The transaction was completed Wednesday through John A. Cole, Inc., real estate dealers of Kingston. J. Sanford Cross, owner of the building, was represented by Attorney Lloyd LeFever. Purchaser was represented by Attorney William A. Kaercher.

Traffic Cravats Banned

Asbury Park, N. J., Feb. 15 (AP)—A city magistrate flashed a stop signal yesterday on a shortlived police plan to hand out safety-slogan neckties to errant motorists instead of summonses. In forbidding the practice to continue, Magistrate Eugene Capibianco said it was "a mockery of the judicial process." The ties were liberally covered with brightly-colored stop signs, speed limit signs, traffic lights and highway markers. Police Chief Fred Lembke said the ties were a gag. He said out of four cravats made up as part of a safety campaign Monday only one was handed out to a motorist.

Urges Tax Rise

Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston urges a "tough and steep" tax increase in testimony before the House Ways and Means Committee in Washington. He said he believes present controls on wages, prices and production can be lifted in two or three years, "barring a full scale attack." (AP Wirephoto).

Scarlet Fever Reported

Several cases of scarlet fever have been reported to the Ulster County Department of Health, but the number is considered "nothing unusual," and has not neared epidemic proportions, Dr. Robert H. Broad, county health commissioner, said today. A total of 10 cases was reported in the county in January, of which total six cases were reported in the town of Lloyd. So far this month, five cases were reported in the county, including one in the city of Kingston. Only one case was in the town of Lloyd in February, indicating that there will be no general outbreak in that area.

Ships Washed Ashore

Washington, Feb. 15 (AP)—The navy reported today five American vessels, including the submarine Bugara, were washed aground by a storm yesterday in Tokyo Bay. A spokesman said no loss of life was reported in preliminary accounts received from Tokyo. Neither was anything available about the condition of the vessels.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Feb. 15 (AP) — Gold mining stocks were the featured performer in a limited stock market advance today.

Leaving out the gold issues, the move to higher ground was a feeble, somewhat tentative affair. Nevertheless, it was the first time this week prices were not in retreat.

Gains for gold shares ranged up to $2, while for the rest of the market the advances were from a few cents to around $1.50 a share. Losses were plentiful, but seldom exceeded $1.

The fading of prospects for a quick tax boost was one factor that enabled stocks to pull out of the slow decline of the past two sessions.

Steels, motors, aircrafts, chemicals and mail order issues were mixed. Beter were rubbers, radio-TV, utilities, motion pictures and airlines. Rails, oils and building materials stocks generaly were trimmed.

Saugerties Man Has Fatal Seizure

George Francis Lawless, 56, landscape gardener of Saugerties, died of a heart attack as he was attempting to pull a boat from the ice-covered Esopus creek at Saugerties on Wednesday afternoon.

Taken to the office of Dr. George D. Pace at 123 Market street, Lawless was pronounced dead on arrival. Coroner Michael Galietta said death was due to a heart attack.

The funeral will be held Saturday at 9:30 a. m. from the late residence on East Bridge street, and at 10 a. m. from St. Mary's Church in Saugerties. Burial will be in St. Mary's Cemetery, Barclay Heights.

Congress instituted the U. S. land offices in 1800 to help get people settled on western homesteads.

A Column of Contrary Opinion
By HUMPHREY B. NEILL

With your permission, I'd like to discuss again the terribly important situation that has arisen between the Federal Reserve Banks and the Administration.

To me this is the most significant political development since former President Roosevelt attempted to "pack" the Supreme Court with extra members of his own choosing.

Because this situation has to do with monetary affairs it is next to impossible to arouse public indignation as was the case at the time of the Supreme Court affair.

It is my hope, if you become concerned about this problem, that you will write or wire your senators urging them to get to the bottom of the impasse. The Federal Reserve System was set up by the Congress to be an independent agency free of political interference. Its function is to aid in the regulation of credit and money to the end that serious inflations and deflations do not occur.

The Congress has been so particular to keep the agency independent that about 15 years ago the law was amended in order to eliminate the Secretary of the Treasury and the Comptroller of the Currency as ex-officio members of the board. This, I think, emphasizes the point that the Federal Reserve System is not a government agency but an independent institution set up to serve banks and the people in the free regulation of monetary policies.

In recent months, as you know, the Secretary of the Treasury has been at odds with the Federal Reserve over the question of interest rates on government bonds. The Treasury Department has insisted upon a low rate of interest—2½ per cent—on long-term bonds because it felt that the interest charges on the public debt must be kept low. Yet, at the same time it is recognized in banking circles that "cheap money" is one of the most potent "engines of inflation."

The Treasury Department, of course, has the responsibility of establishing the interest rates on bonds. However, the Federal Reserve System also "controls" the returns, or yields, on bonds by what is known as "open-market operations."

Using today's situation as the example, here is what happens.

The two-and-a-half per-cent rate is not attractive to institution and other buyers of bonds. Accordingly, the demand for government bonds is not sufficient to absorb the heavy selling in these securities which has transpired in recent months. The Federal Reserve System, therefore, has "stood in the market" and taken all bonds offered at a "pegged price" in order to maintain the 2½ per cent yield.

If the Federal Reserve were to allow the bonds to find their own "free" level the prices would undoubtedly fall somewhat, thereby forcing the yield on long-term issues to a slightly higher rate than 2½ per cent.

This is what the government does not want to see happen. And, week before last the president did the unprecedented thing of calling in the Board members of the Federal Reserve System and also five presidents of district Federal Reserve Banks (thus including the Open Market Committee) and practically dictating to them that the Treasury's 2½ per cent rate must be maintained. This is just as serious as if he were to call in the Supreme Court and tell the Judges how to rule on cases before them.

Apparently from reports, the group was not at all in accord with the president, but after the conference the president wrote a letter to Chairman McCabe of the Board "thanking" him, as it were, for concurring. This is an old political trick, to cover up disagreements, as visitors to the president dislike to contradict him.

In this case, however, a public hearing should undoubtedly be instigated by the Congress in order to accomplish two vitally important results: (1) To educate the public on the inflationary aspects of the Federal Reserve's huge buying of government bonds (over $3.5 billion in the last few months); and (2) to bring the unprecedented action of Mr. Truman's dictatorial interference with the Federal Reserve System.

This is why the Ruminator urges that you wire or write your Congressmen (as he did) to investigate this very serious threat to inflation and to our free economy. We are in a monetary inflation, because of this impasse, and it will lead to a hyper-inflation of the currency if it is not stopped.

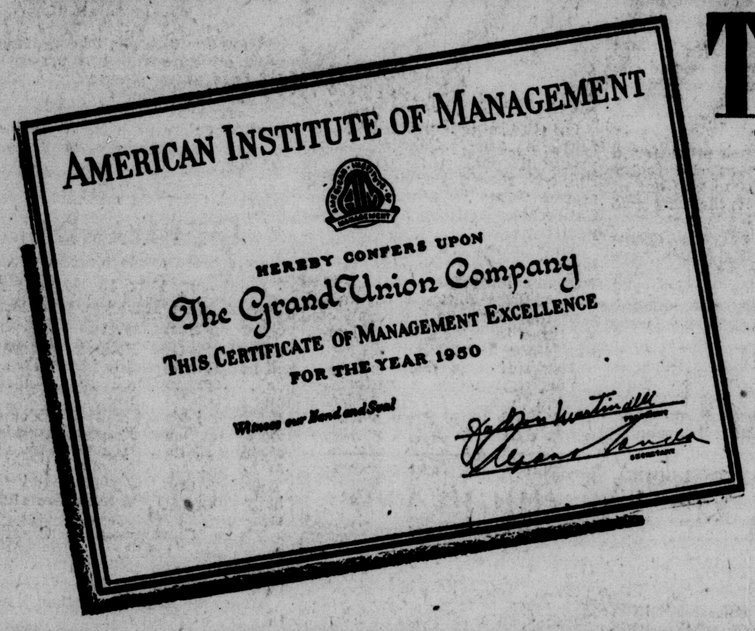
Jazz No Rage in Israel

Tel Aviv (AP) — What surprises me most in this country is that nobody seems to care for jazz," Larry Adler, famed harmonica player, said here. At the end of each concert here, which ranges from Bach to Stravinsky, Adler usually asks his audience what else they would like to hear. Jazz music, he says, is generally a favorite. But not in Israel. People here, he said, ask for Mozart, Brahms, Schubert, Tschaikowsky and for "Bab el Wad," a soldier's song from the Arab-Jewish war.

HERE'S WHY MORE PEOPLE ARE JOINING THE GRAND PARADE TO GRAND UNION



The American Institute of Management in making its award says:

- The "sales vigor" of the Grand Union Company received a perfect score and was ranked first among 2000 corporations studied by the American Institute of Management in a recent survey.
- The purpose of the survey was to select the best points of ten leading United States companies which in combination would represent the ideal of excellent management.
- In a report of how the top ten companies were selected, the Institute described Grand Union's record since 1938 as "proof of sheer selling genius."
- "Deserving of commendation," the Institute declared, "is the Grand Union Company's sustained, successful and profitable attempt to bring the best quality food to the American people at the lowest possible price . . .
- "Grand Union was among the first to employ modern merchandising methods including the 'Meateries' and 'Food-O-Mat' . . .
- "The sales staff undergoes preliminary training in a central training school . . .
- "Among employees courtesy is insisted upon. Prize awards are given each month to the 'Courtesy Store of the Month' . . ."

The Management Institute concludes: "Grand Union's selling job has been superb."

added protection for linens! There's a special reason why economy-minded housewives launder their costly linens with Clorox. For Clorox conserves precious linens... it's free from caustic, extra gentle! So if it's cotton or linen, white or color-fast, trust Clorox to make it beautifully snowy-white, color-bright... with a gentleness that means maximum life for your linens!

added protection for health! After dinner come the dishes...and disinfection of sink and drainboard with Clorox. That's a health habit in millions of American homes because Clorox not only removes stains and deodorizes, it disinfects... better, quicker than any other product of its kind! There are many such ways to protect your family's health with Clorox. You'll find them on the label.

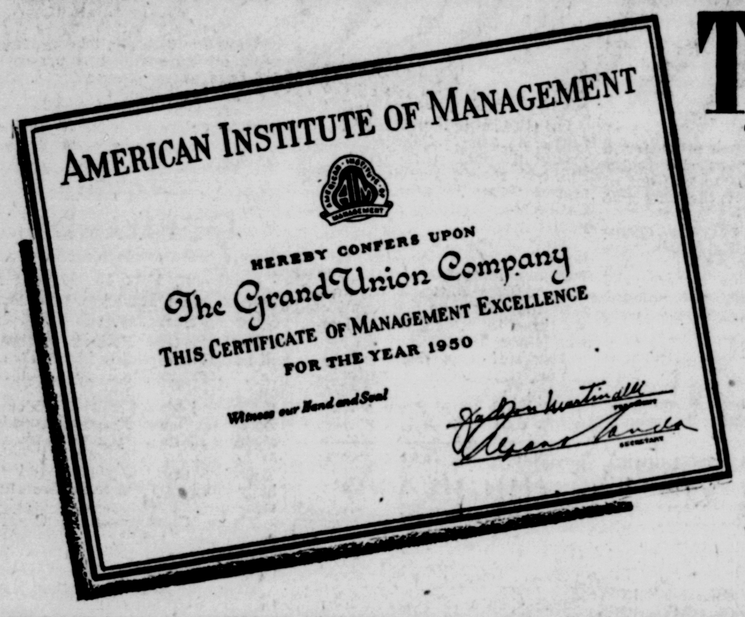
Jazz No Rage in Israel

Tel Aviv (AP) — What surprises me most in this country is that nobody seems to care for jazz," Larry Adler, famed harmonica player, said here. At the end of each concert here, which ranges from Bach to Stravinsky, Adler usually asks his audience what else they would like to hear. Jazz music, he says, is generally a favorite. But not in Israel. People here, he said, ask for Mozart, Brahms, Schubert, Tschaikowsky and for "Bab el Wad," a soldier's song from the Arab-Jewish war.

HERE'S WHY MORE PEOPLE ARE JOINING THE GRAND PARADE TO GRAND UNION



The American Institute of Management in making its award says:

- The "sales vigor" of the Grand Union Company received a perfect score and was ranked first among 2000 corporations studied by the American Institute of Management in a recent survey.
- The purpose of the survey was to select the best points of ten leading United States companies which in combination would represent the ideal of excellent management.
- In a report of how the top ten companies were selected, the Institute described Grand Union's record since 1938 as "proof of sheer selling genius."
- "Deserving of commendation," the Institute declared, "is the Grand Union Company's sustained, successful and profitable attempt to bring the best quality food to the American people at the lowest possible price . . .
- "Grand Union was among the first to employ modern merchandising methods including the 'Meateries' and 'Food-O-Mat' . . .
- "The sales staff undergoes preliminary training in a central training school . . .
- "Among employees courtesy is insisted upon. Prize awards are given each month to the 'Courtesy Store of the Month' . . ."

SHOKAN

Shokan, Feb. 14 — Mrs. John Valland and daughter, Evelyn were week-end visitors to their summer home in the village.

One of the local traffic observers opines that more skiers went down the Onteora Trail late Sunday afternoon than on any preceding day of the winter.

Word has been received here that Joseph Farrell was married recently and is residing in Hollywood, Calif. Joe previous to last summer was a member of the U. S. Marine Corps for several years.

Allan Rowe, one of Woodstock's hustling young businessmen, was a caller in the hub of the reservoir country Tuesday. Allan suffers from a carbuncle on the back of his neck and is under the care of Dr. Hans Cohn.

Don O. Riehl of Kingston was a caller here Tuesday in company with J. F. Healy of Albany. Don is the son of Orrie Riehl, salesman for a Kingston wholesale firm, and his mother was a member of the Brown's Station DuBois family.

Dr. Abram Rottkov with his wife and small daughter moved last week from the Hazel Byrne house in Ashokan to Fleischmanns. The doctor, a War 2 veteran, came here two years ago and soon built up a large practice in the reservoir country. Thus, for the fourth time in little more than a decade, Olive is again without a resident physician.

John and Jim Rutherford of the Tonche Mountain neighborhood, were Sundays callers in the village center. The bachelor brothers, farm residents of these parts for about 70 years, say they have chopped some 50 cords of wood this winter.

Birthdays falling on Thursday, Feb. 15, include that of Alva Buley, Sr., who was born at Long Dock, Shandaken, son of Wesley Buley, a Civil War veteran who with his family came to Olive and lived for several years on the present George W. Pratt place, adjoining Alva's present farm home. He is married to the former Catherine Kellerhouse and they have two children, Alva, Jr., Ashokan, and Ethel Lockwood, of Old Hurley.

The first Postmaster General under the Continental Congress was Benjamin Franklin.

EAT WELL for Less

PIZZA IS WELCOME MEATLESS DISH

PIZZA PIE, a welcome meatless dish that young folks cheer about.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

For Lenten meals, or just because pizza is a highly flavored main dish with steadily increasing admirers, you'll welcome this tested recipe:

Pizza
(Serves 4)

Scald ¾ cup milk. Stir in ¼ cup sugar, 2¼ teaspoons salt and 4½ tablespoons shortening. Set aside to cool to lukewarm.

Sprinkle 1 package active dry yeast into ¾ cup warm, not hot, water, or crumble 1 cake compressed yeast into ¾ cup lukewarm water. Stir until dissolved. Combine milk and yeast mixture.

Add and stir in 2¼ cups sifted enriched flour. Beat until smooth. Add and stir in an additional 2¼ cups sifted enriched flour or enough to make a dough. Turn out on board and knead 8 to 10 minutes.

Put dough into greased bowl; brush top lightly with salad oil. Cover with a cloth. Let rise in a warm place, free from draft until double in bulk, about 1½ hours. Punch down; place on board and knead lightly. Divide into four even pieces. Roll each piece into a very thin circle to fit inside 7-inch pie pans. Trim excess dough from around edges. If desired, add a fancy edging by cutting ½-inch strips of dough with a pastry wheel, and cutting through the strips about every ¼-inch. Moisten edge of dough in pans with water and place on extra strip. Brush dough with olive or salad oil.

Grate enough cheddar cheese to make 2 cups. Drain and chop No. 2 can solid-pack tomatoes. Mix together cheese and tomatoes. Add 1 teaspoon garlic salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper and ⅛ teaspoon oregano (a dried herb).

Place ¼ of the mixture in each pie shell. Bake at 450 degrees F. (hot oven) 20 to 25 minutes. Serve immediately.

TOMORROW'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Prunes or prune juice, ready-to-eat cereal, soft-cooked eggs, enriched toast, butter or fortified margarine, marmalade, coffee milk.

LUNCHEON: Potato soup with croutons, whole wheat bread, butter or fortified margarine, baked apples, warm gingerbread, tea, milk.

NEW HURLEY

New Hurley, Feb. 15—Mrs. Abram Atkins has returned home after spending some time at the home of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Tracy Atkins in Clintondale.

Mrs. Lawrence Dolan and children, Jimmie and Sally, are spending some time at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Smith at Grahamsville. Mrs. Dolan is caring for her mother who is ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Powell and Miss Bertha Sutton called on their cousins, Mrs. Lulu H. Sutton and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Sutton at Clintondale last Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Fledeline of Fairfield, Conn., called at the home of their uncle and aunts, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Heidke, and Miss Rose Belknap on Saturday afternoon.

SHOKAN

Shokan, Feb. 14 — Mrs. John Valland and daughter, Evelyn were week-end visitors to their summer home in the village.

One of the local traffic observers opines that more skiers went down the Onteora Trail late Sunday afternoon than on any preceding day of the winter.

Word has been received here that Joseph Farrell was married recently and is residing in Hollywood, Calif. Joe previous to last summer was a member of the U. S. Marine Corps for several years.

Allan Rowe, one of Woodstock's hustling young businessmen, was a caller in the hub of the reservoir country Tuesday. Allan suffers from a carbuncle on the back of his neck and is under the care of Dr. Hans Cohn.

Don O. Riehl of Kingston was a caller here Tuesday in company with J. F. Healy of Albany. Don is the son of Orrie Riehl, salesman for a Kingston wholesale firm, and his mother was a member of the Brown's Station DuBois family.

Dr. Abram Rottkov with his wife and small daughter moved last week from the Hazel Byrne house in Ashokan to Fleischmanns. The doctor, a War 2 veteran, came here two years ago and soon built up a large practice in the reservoir country. Thus, for the fourth time in little more than a decade, Olive is again without a resident physician.

John and Jim Rutherford of the Tonche Mountain neighborhood, were Sundays callers in the village center. The bachelor brothers, farm residents of these parts for about 70 years, say they have chopped some 50 cords of wood this winter.

Birthdays falling on Thursday, Feb. 15, include that of Alva Buley, Sr., who was born at Long Dock, Shandaken, son of Wesley Buley, a Civil War veteran who with his family came to Olive and lived for several years on the present George W. Pratt place, adjoining Alva's present farm home. He is married to the former Catherine Kellerhouse and they have two children, Alva, Jr., Ashokan, and Ethel Lockwood, of Old Hurley.

The first Postmaster General under the Continental Congress was Benjamin Franklin.

PIZZA IS WELCOME MEATLESS DISH

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

For Lenten meals, or just because pizza is a highly flavored main dish with steadily increasing admirers, you'll welcome this tested recipe:

Pizza
(Serves 4)

Scald ⅝ cup milk. Stir in ⅛ cup sugar, 2¼ teaspoons salt and 4½ tablespoons shortening. Set aside to cool to lukewarm.

Sprinkle 1 package active dry yeast into ⅝ cup warm, not hot, water, or crumble 1 cake compressed yeast into ⅝ cup lukewarm water. Stir until dissolved. Combine milk and yeast mixture.

Add and stir in 2¼ cups sifted enriched flour. Beat until smooth. Add and stir in an additional 2¼ cups sifted enriched flour or enough to make a dough. Turn out on board and knead 8 to 10 minutes.

Put dough into greased bowl; brush top lightly with salad oil. Cover with a cloth. Let rise in a warm place, free from draft until double in bulk, about 1½ hours. Punch down; place on board and knead lightly. Divide into four even pieces. Roll each piece into a very thin circle to fit inside 7-inch pie pans. Trim excess dough from around edges. If desired, add a fancy edging by cutting ½-inch strips of dough with a pastry wheel, and cutting through the strips about every ¼-inch. Moisten edge of dough in pans with water and place on extra strip. Brush dough with olive or salad oil.

Grate enough cheddar cheese to make 2 cups. Drain and chop No. 2 can solid-pack tomatoes. Mix together cheese and tomatoes. Add 1 teaspoon garlic salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper and ½ teaspoon oregano (a dried herb).

Place ¼ of the mixture in each pie shell. Bake at 450 degrees F. (hot oven) 20 to 25 minutes. Serve immediately.

TOMORROW'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Prunes or prune juice, ready-to-eat cereal, soft-cooked eggs, enriched toast, butter or fortified margarine, marmalade, coffee milk.

LUNCHEON: Potato soup with croutons, whole wheat bread, butter or fortified margarine, baked apples, warm gingerbread, tea, milk.

Retail Meat Prices Take Some Jumps; Poultry, Eggs Up

(By The Associated Press)

Retail meat prices held close to last week's high levels and even climbed a little more in many places this week, reflecting rising livestock quotations and reduced shipments blamed on storms and icy roads.

Poultry prices advanced two to four cents a pound in scattered sections. Some store chain spokesmen said heavy demand for chickens probably was a result of consumers switching from higher-priced meats.

Boosts of two to four cents a dozen in eggs also were attributed to lively demand, at least partly stemming from increased consumption during the Lenten season.

The only price cuts noted were on some fresh fruits and vegetables, like oranges, grapes, celery and lettuce which tipped downward as markets received supplies delayed last week by the railroad switchmen's strike.

Grapefruit, good quality pears, beets, cabbage, carrots and Spanish onions cost more in most markets. Some of these increases were attributed to smaller supplies following freeze damage to crops in Texas and elsewhere.

Trend Still Is Up

At the wholesale level, the overall trend was still upward. The Dun & Bradstreet wholesale food price index advanced four cents to $7.25—only 1½ per cent below the record high established in mid-July of 1948. This index represents the total cost at wholesale of a pound each of 31 foods in general use. This week it was 21.6 per cent above the level just before the Korean war started.

The action of the Office of Price Stabilization in controlling livestock slaughterers was hailed by meat distributors as a step in the right direction toward blocking black marketing. But some meat surveyors in cities which have no livestock supply or adequate slaughtering facilities within hundreds of miles contended that additional controls on wholesaling and distribution of meat are needed.

Joseph Conn, executive director of the Meat Trade Institute in New York, charged that some big meat packers anticipated the price freeze order and created special prices during the base period which did not actually prevail in most of their transactions. Some of these "ceilings" now are actually higher than New York processors can charge their consumers, he said. Conn also reported that his organization's members, who supply two-thirds of New York city's meat and meat products, are being asked to buy "tie-in" items like dog food or canned soup in order to get meat cuts they normally sell.

At Philadelphia, Arthur E. Dennis, vice president of the National Meat Industry Council, said "prices on meat will rise and wholesale violation is being invited unless price administrators move quickly to fix the price on livestock and establish more specific ceilings on every level of the industry."

Food Supply To Gain

The civilian food supply probably will be somewhat larger this year than in 1950, when it was 12 per cent larger on a per capita basis than in the pre-war years 1935-39, the Bureau of Agricultural Economics reported.

However, consumer demand for food will expand even more, Bae said, reflecting higher consumer incomes resulting from fuller employment, longer hours worked and shifts to higher paid jobs. Also, food will likely get a larger share of the income which would normally go for durable goods as these get scarcer. Military buying of food will be the largest since 1945, with the emphasis on meats, processed fruits, vegetables and dairy products, Bae added. This will tend to be offset by increases in livestock production—particularly pork—and large crops, and by reduced food exports.

Shirt Workers Are To Aid Boys Club

At its meeting this week, Local 186, Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, installed officers for the year and pledged its support to the financial drive for the Kingston Boys' Club.

President of Amalgamated is Frank McMahon. Other officers are: Mabel Fisher, business agent; George Dempsey, treasurer, and Jeanette Nagele, secretary.

Also serving for the year is an executive board made up of workers from the shirt factories of F. Jacobson and Manhattan Shirt Co.

After talks by Alexander "Pop" Fuhrman, director of the Kingston Boys Club and Frederick Verry, representative of the National Boys Club, President McMahon said he would appoint a committee to help on the forthcoming drive for funds.

"We all know that 'Pop' Fuhrman has done a wonderful job for the kids in Kingston," said Mabel Fisher, business agent for the local. "But, we also know," she added, "that kind words cannot pay for the things the boys need. We pledge our assistance to this drive to raise money for this worthy cause, and to publicize the work of the Boys Club among the workers of Kingston."

Retail Meat Prices Take Some Jumps; Poultry, Eggs Up

(By The Associated Press)

Retail meat prices held close to last week's high levels and even climbed a little more in many places this week, reflecting rising livestock quotations and reduced shipments blamed on storms and icy roads.

Poultry prices advanced two to four cents a pound in scattered sections. Some store chain spokesmen said heavy demand for chickens probably was a result of consumers switching from higher-priced meats.

Boosts of two to four cents a dozen in eggs also were attributed to lively demand, at least partly stemming from increased consumption during the Lenten season.

The only price cuts noted were on some fresh fruits and vegetables, like oranges, grapes, celery and lettuce which tipped downward as markets received supplies delayed last week by the railroad switchmen's strike.

Grapefruit, good quality pears, beets, cabbage, carrots and Spanish onions cost more in most markets. Some of these increases were attributed to smaller supplies following freeze damage to crops in Texas and elsewhere.

Trend Still Is Up

At the wholesale level, the overall trend was still upward. The Dun & Bradstreet wholesale food price index advanced four cents to $7.25—only 1½ per cent below the record high established in mid-July of 1948. This index represents the total cost at wholesale of a pound each of 31 foods in general use. This week it was 21.6 per cent above the level just before the Korean war started.

The action of the Office of Price Stabilization in controlling livestock slaughterers was hailed by meat distributors as a step in the right direction toward blocking black marketing. But some meat surveyors in cities which have no livestock supply or adequate slaughtering facilities within hundreds of miles contended that additional controls on wholesaling and distribution of meat are needed.

Joseph Conn, executive director of the Meat Trade Institute in New York, charged that some big meat packers anticipated the price freeze order and created special prices during the base period which did not actually prevail in most of their transactions. Some of these "ceilings" now are actually higher than New York processors can charge their consumers, he said. Conn also reported that his organization's members, who supply two-thirds of New York city's meat and meat products, are being asked to buy "tie-in" items like dog food or canned soup in order to get meat cuts they normally sell.

At Philadelphia, Arthur E. Dennis, vice president of the National Meat Industry Council, said "prices on meat will rise and wholesale violation is being invited unless price administrators move quickly to fix the price on livestock and establish more specific ceilings on every level of the industry."

Food Supply To Gain

The civilian food supply probably will be somewhat larger this year than in 1950, when it was 12 per cent larger on a per capita basis than in the pre-war years 1935-39, the Bureau of Agricultural Economics reported.

However, consumer demand for food will expand even more, Bae said, reflecting higher consumer incomes resulting from fuller employment, longer hours worked and shifts to higher paid jobs. Also, food will likely get a larger share of the income which would normally go for durable goods as these get scarcer. Military buying of food will be the largest since 1945, with the emphasis on meats, processed fruits, vegetables and dairy products, Bae added. This will tend to be offset by increases in livestock production—particularly pork—and large crops, and by reduced food exports.

Shirt Workers Are To Aid Boys Club

At its meeting this week, Local 186, Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, installed officers for the year and pledged its support to the financial drive for the Kingston Boys' Club.

President of Amalgamated is Frank McMahon. Other officers are: Mabel Fisher, business agent; George Dempsey, treasurer, and Jeanette Nagele, secretary.

Also serving for the year is an executive board made up of workers from the shirt factories of F. Jacobson and Manhattan Shirt Co.

After talks by Alexander "Pop" Fuhrman, director of the Kingston Boys Club and Frederick Verry, representative of the National Boys Club, President McMahon said he would appoint a committee to help on the forthcoming drive for funds.

"We all know that 'Pop' Fuhrman has done a wonderful job for the kids in Kingston," said Mabel Fisher, business agent for the local. "But, we also know," she added, "that kind words cannot pay for the things the boys need. We pledge our assistance to this drive to raise money for this worthy cause, and to publicize the work of the Boys Club among the workers of Kingston."

Retail Meat Prices Take Some Jumps; Poultry, Eggs Up

(By The Associated Press)

Retail meat prices held close to last week's high levels and even climbed a little more in many places this week, reflecting rising livestock quotations and reduced shipments blamed on storms and icy roads.

Poultry prices advanced two to four cents a pound in scattered sections. Some store chain spokesmen said heavy demand for chickens probably was a result of consumers switching from higher-priced meats.

Boosts of two to four cents a dozen in eggs also were attributed to lively demand, at least partly stemming from increased consumption during the Lenten season.

The only price cuts noted were on some fresh fruits and vegetables, like oranges, grapes, celery and lettuce which tipped downward as markets received supplies delayed last week by the railroad switchmen's strike.

Grapefruit, good quality pears, beets, cabbage, carrots and Spanish onions cost more in most markets. Some of these increases were attributed to smaller supplies following freeze damage to crops in Texas and elsewhere.

Trend Still Is Up

At the wholesale level, the overall trend was still upward. The Dun & Bradstreet wholesale food price index advanced four cents to $7.25—only 1½ per cent below the record high established in mid-July of 1948. This index represents the total cost at wholesale of a pound each of 31 foods in general use. This week it was 21.6 per cent above the level just before the Korean war started.

The action of the Office of Price Stabilization in controlling livestock slaughterers was hailed by meat distributors as a step in the right direction toward blocking black marketing. But some meat surveyors in cities which have no livestock supply or adequate slaughtering facilities within hundreds of miles contended that additional controls on wholesaling and distribution of meat are needed.

Joseph Conn, executive director of the Meat Trade Institute in New York, charged that some big meat packers anticipated the price freeze order and created special prices during the base period which did not actually prevail in most of their transactions. Some of these "ceilings" now are actually higher than New York processors can charge their consumers, he said. Conn also reported that his organization's members, who supply two-thirds of New York city's meat and meat products, are being asked to buy "tie-in" items like dog food or canned soup in order to get meat cuts they normally sell.

At Philadelphia, Arthur E. Dennis, vice president of the National Meat Industry Council, said "prices on meat will rise and wholesale violation is being invited unless price administrators move quickly to fix the price on livestock and establish more specific ceilings on every level of the industry."

Food Supply To Gain

The civilian food supply probably will be somewhat larger this year than in 1950, when it was 12 per cent larger on a per capita basis than in the pre-war years 1935-39, the Bureau of Agricultural Economics reported.

However, consumer demand for food will expand even more, Bae said, reflecting higher consumer incomes resulting from fuller employment, longer hours worked and shifts to higher paid jobs. Also, food will likely get a larger share of the income which would normally go for durable goods as these get scarcer. Military buying of food will be the largest since 1945, with the emphasis on meats, processed fruits, vegetables and dairy products, Bae added. This will tend to be offset by increases in livestock production—particularly pork—and large crops, and by reduced food exports.

Shirt Workers Are To Aid Boys Club

At its meeting this week, Local 186, Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, installed officers for the year and pledged its support to the financial drive for the Kingston Boys' Club.

President of Amalgamated is Frank McMahon. Other officers are: Mabel Fisher, business agent; George Dempsey, treasurer, and Jeanette Nagele, secretary.

Also serving for the year is an executive board made up of workers from the shirt factories of F. Jacobson and Manhattan Shirt Co.

After talks by Alexander "Pop" Fuhrman, director of the Kingston Boys Club and Frederick Verry, representative of the National Boys Club, President McMahon said he would appoint a committee to help on the forthcoming drive for funds.

"We all know that 'Pop' Fuhrman has done a wonderful job for the kids in Kingston," said Mabel Fisher, business agent for the local. "But, we also know," she added, "that kind words cannot pay for the things the boys need. We pledge our assistance to this drive to raise money for this worthy cause, and to publicize the work of the Boys Club among the workers of Kingston."

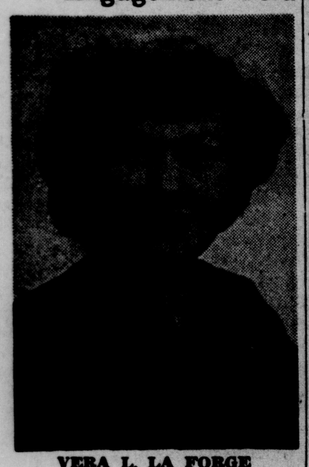
Baines-La Forge Engagement Told



VERA L. LA FORGE

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd LaForge of 61 Wrentham street announce the engagement of their daughter, Vera L., to Paul D. Baines, son of the Rev. and Mrs. R. Baines of Hyde Park.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Loyal Workers Elect Officers

A meeting of the Loyal Workers of the Clinton Avenue Methodist Church, held Tuesday evening in the Epworth parlors, the year's officers were named. Officers are as follows: Miss Edna Snyder, president; Mrs. George Lawrence, vice-president; Mrs. Lena Ostrander, secretary; Mrs. Frank Lasher, assistant secretary; and Mrs. Ida LeFevre, treasurer.

At the close of the meeting Mrs. Myron De Puy, and Mrs. Lena Ostrander served refreshments.

Party Set for Tonight

The Ponckhockie Congregational Sunday School's Valentine party, which was originally scheduled for last night, will be held tonight at 7 o'clock. The party is for members only.

Nuptials Are Held For Miss A. Weber And John Cerasaro

Miss Alice Weber, daughter of Lt. Col. and Mrs. George Weber, formerly of Golden Hill, now overseas with American forces, was married to John Peter Cerasaro, son of Mrs. Anna Cerasaro of 34 Roosevelt avenue, and the late Augusto Cerasaro Sunday, Feb. 11, at the Reformed Church of the Comforter. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Raymond J. Pontier of that congregation.

The bride wore a street length, two piece dress of light brown taffeta, with green accessories, and carried brown orchids.

Edward Crough of Washington, D. C. was best man for Mr. Cerasaro.

A small reception followed the ceremony at the Nieuw Dorp, Hurley. The couple are spending a week on a skiing trip. When they return they will make their home at 115 Harding avenue.

The bride is a graduate of Albany Academy for Girls, and Bates College, Lewiston, Me. She is now employed by Electrol Incorporated.

Mr. Cerasaro is a graduate of Ohio Wesleyan College, Delaware, O., and is now a partner in Cerasaro Brothers Sport Center, Clinton avenue.

County Christian Endeavor Union Will Meet Friday

A meeting of officers of the Ulster County Christian Endeavor Union has been called for Friday, Feb. 18, it was announced today. The meeting, scheduled to be held in the First Baptist Church, Albany avenue, will also include representatives of member societies, interested clergy, and past presidents of the Union.

The organization, which has been inactive during the past season, has been reported as "very greatly missed in the life of the Protestant churches of Ulster county." Among those present will be Russell Gowdey of Bloomingburg, president of the New York State Christian Endeavor Union; Jack Walker, president of the Orange County Christian Endeavor; and Etta Attreed, west Hudson regional director of the state Union. All three will help in the effort being made for reorganization.

Of great importance on the agenda, it was disclosed, will be the question whether or not in the new organization which may be established, young people's church groups not following the Christian Endeavor program may participate. It was explained that many feel it a definite loss to all concerned that these groups are not united in some sort of fellowship, although this has apparently never been seriously attempted in Ulster county.

Rumor Clinic Medics

'Rumor Clinic' Is Given by Ewig For A.A.U.W. Group

A "Rumor Clinic" both entertained and instructed members at the Tuesday evening meeting of the Kingston Branch of the American Association of University Women, held in the Governor Clinton Hotel. The clinic, which effectively demonstrated the difficulties incurred when persons attempt to describe a scene accurately, was given by Attorney Arthur Ewig, assisted by Herman Eaton and five A.A.U.W. members: Miss Rose Abernathy and the Mmes. Vincent Connelly, Gordon Boyce, Herman Roosa, and Phyllis Smith. Clinic demonstrations, which are carried on by means of a tape recorder, showed the distortions a story undergoes in retelling.

The group also heard Miss Florence Friedman, Prisma award winner who was sent to France last summer, describe her experiences there. Miss Friedman, who shared the home of a large French family in Paris, relatives of the great impressionist painter Monet, was able to see at first hand the French mode of living. She commented on the rich family life the French enjoy, living in a society geared to a much slower pace than our own.

Hopes to Return

Miss Friedman also spoke of how in Paris, and in trips through France, she grew to understand the French people, and to appreciate their sincere cordiality, which lies beneath a surface formality. Her experiences last summer, she said, had increased her desire to return again to Europe and to France.

During the business meeting the group voted to hold a card party and food sale for the benefit of the local scholarship fund. A chairman for this affair will be announced soon.

To Do TB Work

Mrs. John Clair, chairman of the social studies committee, reported that several members of the group will work with the Tuberculosis Hospital service group, with activities scheduled to begin after the first of April. Mrs. Vincent Connelly gave a brief report on the A.A.U.W. state executive board meeting which was held last week in Albany.

Mrs. James Betts suggested that members who wish to go on conducted tours of the Tumor Clinic, or to see the newest cancer film, should notify her.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Bernhardt Kramer and Miss Mildred Kirshenblum. The A.A.U.W. will meet again at the Governor Clinton Hotel March 13, when Miss Amelia Altamari will give a lecture-piano recital. Members will have the privilege of bringing guests to this meeting.

Santa Fe Trail

The Santa Fe trail was the overland route used by explorers and traders from Independence and Westport, Mo., to Santa Fe. It was not a clearly defined road but a combination of Indian trails.

On Tour of the South

Mrs. Robert S. Porter, the former Rose Mitchell of East Kingston, as she looked prior to her wedding Sunday, Feb. 11. S/Sgt. and Mrs. Porter will make their home at West Point. (Sterling Photo)

Rose Mitchell Is Married Sunday To Staff Sgt. Porter

Miss Rose Mitchell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Mitchell of East Kingston, was married Sunday, Feb. 11 at 2 p. m. to S/Sgt. Robert S. Porter, now stationed at West Point. Staff Sergeant Porter is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Porter of Independence, Iowa.

The ceremony was performed in St. Colman's Church, East Kingston, by the Rev. Edmond V. Radford of that parish. The altar was trimmed with flowers for the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white satin gown cut with an off-shoulder neckline trimmed with seed pearls. Her fingertip veil was caught to a beaded crown, and she carried a bridal bouquet.

Miss Mary Mitchell of East Kingston, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Miss Mitchell selected a yellow satin gown, cut with a bustle back trimmed with violet sweetpeas. She carried a bouquet of tea roses and violet sweetpeas.

Sgt. Alex Pasquale of West Point was best man.

On their wedding trip the couple will tour the south. The bride wore a velvet dress with black velvet accessories for her traveling ensemble. Her costume was completed with a gray fur coat, and a white orchid corsage.

Upon their return Staff Sergeant and Mrs. Porter will make their home at West Point.

Leaders' Club Hears Reports on Progress Of Reorganization

The Kingston District Girl Scout Leaders' Club had as guests at its Monday night meeting Mrs. Everett Coty, county commissioner, and Mrs. Helen Oakley, camp committee chairman.

Both Mrs. Albert Kurdt, leaders' representative on the steering committee, and Mrs. Coty spoke, reporting on the progress to date in the reorganization of the council. Both also emphasized the importance of leaders in the girl-centered program, and asked for the continued cooperation of leaders and troop committee members.

The group unanimously decided to accept an offer from members of the "Freeman" staff to guide scouts interested in journalism through the downtown plant. The tentative date set for the group's first visit was February 22.

Mrs. Coty announced that there will be a sectional conference at West Point April 27, with all adults engaged in scouting invited.

The next workshop meeting has been postponed until April 23, due to the Easter vacation in March. The next Leaders' Club meeting will be held March 11.

Golden Age Club Is Shown Movies

The Golden Age Club, when it met Friday, Feb. 9, at the Y.W.C.A. saw colored movies shown by Clarence Dumm, and heard a brief talk by Mrs. Ronald Herrick on the Y.W.C.A.'s hobby show, which has been scheduled for the late spring.

Mr. Dumm's movies included colored scenes of a trip he and Mrs. Dumm took to California, and a reel of May Day festivities which was shot several years ago. There was also a movie, coupled with a sound track, on the waters of New York State, released by the New York State Department of Commerce.

Following the movies Golden Agers matched valentines to find their partners for refreshments, and a valentine was presented to Miss Mary Lord, the eldest guest, and another to Mrs. William DuBois. Miss Lord is 89 years old, and Mrs. DuBois 85.

Refreshments were served by the Mmes. A. Noble Graham, William Kingman, Mary LeFever, Alexander Embree, John Pope, Raymond Woodard and Miss Jessie Allan. Transportation was provided by Mrs. Ralph Harper and Mrs. Harry Reppert. Miss Louise Merikle and Mrs. Raymond Craft were the hostesses.

The Golden Age Club will meet again at the Y.W.C.A. Friday, Feb. 23.

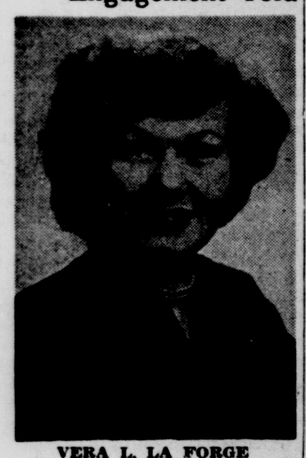
Baines-La Forge Engagement Told



VERA L. LA FORGE

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd LaForge of 61 Wrentham street announce the engagement of their daughter, Vera L., to Paul D. Baines, son of the Rev. and Mrs. R. Baines of Hyde Park.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Loyal Workers Elect Officers

A meeting of the Loyal Workers of the Clinton Avenue Methodist Church, held Tuesday evening in the Epworth parlors, the year's officers were named. Officers are as follows: Miss Edna Snyder, president; Mrs. George Lawrence, vice-president; Mrs. Lena Ostrander, secretary; Mrs. Frank Lasher, assistant secretary; and Mrs. Ida LeFevre, treasurer.

At the close of the meeting Mrs. Myron De Puy, and Mrs. Lena Ostrander served refreshments.

Party Set for Tonight

The Ponckhockie Congregational Sunday School's Valentine party, which was originally scheduled for last night, will be held tonight at 7 o'clock. The party is for members only.

Nuptials Are Held For Miss A. Weber And John Cerasaro

Miss Alice Weber, daughter of Lt. Col. and Mrs. George Weber, formerly of Golden Hill, now overseas with American forces, was married to John Peter Cerasaro, son of Mrs. Anna Cerasaro of 34 Roosevelt avenue, and the late Augusto Cerasaro Sunday, Feb. 11, at the Reformed Church of the Comforter. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Raymond J. Pontier of that congregation.

The bride wore a street length, two piece dress of light brown taffeta, with green accessories, and carried brown orchids.

Edward Crough of Washington, D. C. was best man for Mr. Cerasaro.

A small reception followed the ceremony at the Nieuw Dorp, Hurley. The couple are spending a week on a skiing trip. When they return they will make their home at 115 Harding avenue.

The bride is a graduate of Albany Academy for Girls, and Bates College, Lewiston, Me. She is now employed by Electrol Incorporated.

Mr. Cerasaro is a graduate of Ohio Wesleyan College, Delaware, O., and is now a partner in Cerasaro Brothers Sport Center, Clinton avenue.

County Christian Endeavor Union Will Meet Friday

A meeting of officers of the Ulster County Christian Endeavor Union has been called for Friday, Feb. 18, it was announced today. The meeting, scheduled to be held in the First Baptist Church, Albany avenue, will also include representatives of member societies, interested clergy, and past presidents of the Union.

The organization, which has been inactive during the past season, has been reported as "very greatly missed in the life of the Protestant churches of Ulster county." Among those present will be Russell Gowdey of Bloomingburg, president of the New York State Christian Endeavor Union; Jack Walker, president of the Orange County Christian Endeavor; and Etta Attreed, west Hudson regional director of the state Union. All three will help in the effort being made for reorganization.

Of great importance on the agenda, it was disclosed, will be the question whether or not in the new organization which may be established, young people's church groups not following the Christian Endeavor program may participate. It was explained that many feel it a definite loss to all concerned that these groups are not united in some sort of fellowship, although this has apparently never been seriously attempted in Ulster county.

'Rumor Clinic' Is Given by Ewig For A.A.U.W. Group

A "Rumor Clinic" both entertained and instructed members at the Tuesday evening meeting of the Kingston Branch of the American Association of University Women, held in the Governor Clinton Hotel. The clinic, which effectively demonstrated the difficulties incurred when persons attempt to describe a scene accurately, was given by Attorney Arthur Ewig, assisted by Herman Eaton and five A.A.U.W. members: Miss Rose Abernathy and the Mmes. Vincent Connelly, Gordon Boyce, Herman Roosa, and Phyllis Smith. Clinic demonstrations, which are carried on by means of a tape recorder, showed the distortions a story undergoes in retelling.

The group also heard Miss Florence Friedman, Prisma award winner who was sent to France last summer, describe her experiences there. Miss Friedman, who shared the home of a large French family in Paris, relatives of the great impressionist painter Monet, was able to see at first hand the French mode of living. She commented on the rich family life the French enjoy, living in a society geared to a much slower pace than our own.

Hopes to Return

Miss Friedman also spoke of how in Paris, and in trips through France, she grew to understand the French people, and to appreciate their sincere cordiality, which lies beneath a surface formality. Her experiences last summer, she said, had increased her desire to return again to Europe and to France.

During the business meeting the group voted to hold a card party and food sale for the benefit of the local scholarship fund. A chairman for this affair will be announced soon.

To Do TB Work

Mrs. John Clair, chairman of the social studies committee, reported that several members of the group will work with the Tuberculosis Hospital service group, with activities scheduled to begin after the first of April. Mrs. Vincent Connelly gave a brief report on the A.A.U.W. state executive board meeting which was held last week in Albany.

Mrs. James Betts suggested that members who wish to go on conducted tours of the Tumor Clinic, or to see the newest cancer film, should notify her.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Bernhardt Kramer and Miss Mildred Kirshenblum. The A.A.U.W. will meet again at the Governor Clinton Hotel March 13, when Miss Amelia Altamari will give a lecture-piano recital. Members will have the privilege of bringing guests to this meeting.

Santa Fe Trail

The Santa Fe trail was the overland route used by explorers and traders from Independence and Westport, Mo., to Santa Fe. It was not a clearly defined road but a combination of Indian trails.

On Tour of the South

Mrs. Robert S. Porter, the former Rose Mitchell of East Kingston, as she looked prior to her wedding Sunday, Feb. 11. S/Sgt. and Mrs. Porter will make their home at West Point. (Sterling Photo)

Rose Mitchell Is Married Sunday To Staff Sgt. Porter

Miss Rose Mitchell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Mitchell of East Kingston, was married Sunday, Feb. 11 at 2 p. m. to S/Sgt. Robert S. Porter, now stationed at West Point. Staff Sergeant Porter is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Porter of Independence, Iowa.

The ceremony was performed in St. Colman's Church, East Kingston, by the Rev. Edmond V. Radford of that parish. The altar was trimmed with flowers for the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white satin gown cut with an off-shoulder neckline trimmed with seed pearls. Her fingertip veil was caught to a beaded crown, and she carried a bridal bouquet.

Miss Mary Mitchell of East Kingston, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Miss Mitchell selected a yellow satin gown, cut with a bustle back trimmed with violet sweetpeas. She carried a bouquet of tea roses and violet sweetpeas.

Sgt. Alex Pasquale of West Point was best man.

On their wedding trip the couple will tour the south. The bride wore a velvet dress with black velvet accessories for her traveling ensemble. Her costume was completed with a gray fur coat, and a white orchid corsage.

Upon their return Staff Sergeant and Mrs. Porter will make their home at West Point.

Leaders' Club Hears Reports on Progress Of Reorganization

The Kingston District Girl Scout Leaders' Club had as guests at its Monday night meeting Mrs. Everett Coty, county commissioner, and Mrs. Helen Oakley, camp committee chairman.

Both Mrs. Albert Kurdt, leaders' representative on the steering committee, and Mrs. Coty spoke, reporting on the progress to date in the reorganization of the council. Both also emphasized the importance of leaders in the girl-centered program, and asked for the continued cooperation of leaders and troop committee members.

The group unanimously decided to accept an offer from members of the "Freeman" staff to guide scouts interested in journalism through the downtown plant. The tentative date set for the group's first visit was February 22.

Mrs. Coty announced that there will be a sectional conference at West Point April 27, with all adults engaged in scouting invited.

The next workshop meeting has been postponed until April 23, due to the Easter vacation in March. The next Leaders' Club meeting will be held March 11.

Golden Age Club Is Shown Movies

The Golden Age Club, when it met Friday, Feb. 9, at the Y.W.C.A. saw colored movies shown by Clarence Dumm, and heard a brief talk by Mrs. Ronald Herrick on the Y.W.C.A.'s hobby show, which has been scheduled for the late spring.

Mr. Dumm's movies included colored scenes of a trip he and Mrs. Dumm took to California, and a reel of May Day festivities which was shot several years ago. There was also a movie, coupled with a sound track, on the waters of New York State, released by the New York State Department of Commerce.

Following the movies Golden Agers matched valentines to find their partners for refreshments, and a valentine was presented to Miss Mary Lord, the eldest guest, and another to Mrs. William DuBois. Miss Lord is 89 years old, and Mrs. DuBois 85.

Refreshments were served by the Mmes. A. Noble Graham, William Kingman, Mary LeFever, Alexander Embree, John Pope, Raymond Woodard and Miss Jessie Allan. Transportation was provided by Mrs. Ralph Harper and Mrs. Harry Reppert. Miss Louise Merikle and Mrs. Raymond Craft were the hostesses.

The Golden Age Club will meet again at the Y.W.C.A. Friday, Feb. 23.

Ensign E. F. Brayton, Former Resident, Is Recent Bride in Baltimore, Md.

Ensign Edythe Frances Brayton, Nurses Corps, U.S.N., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Brayton of Baltimore, Md., and formerly of this city, was married Saturday, Feb. 3, to Dr. Robert Calvin Grier, Jr., Lieutenant, Medical Corps, U.S.N., son of Dr. and Mrs. Grier of Due West, S. C. The double ring ceremony was performed at 2 p. m. in the Roland Park Chapel, Baltimore, with the Rev. Donald Kerr officiating. Following the ceremony a reception was held at Peter's Inn for the immediate families and a few close friends.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a chapel length gown of antique ivory satin, princess style, with a rosepoint lace bodice, and a starched rosepoint lace cap, embroidered with seed pearls and rhinestones. She carried white orchids on a prayer book, with satin ribbons, and baby hyacinths.

Miss Marilyn Crane, R.N., of Riverhead, L. I., a former resident of this city, and granddaughter of the late Walter Crane, former mayor of this city, was maid of honor. She was dressed in navy blue, with navy blue accessories and a matching cloche. Her flowers were gathered into an old fashioned bouquet.

Dr. James Dodd of the Baltimore City Hospital was best man.

The bride attended St. Mary's School, this city, and was graduated from Germantown High School, Philadelphia, Pa. She attended Temple University, Philadelphia, for one year, and entered the Mount Sinai Hospital School of Nursing, New York, where she graduated in the February class of '50. She received her commission as an ensign in the U.S.N. Nurses Corps June 21, and left for active duty at the U. S. Naval Hospital, Charleston, S. C., September 21.

Lieutenant Grier was graduated from Erskine College, Due West, where his father, Dr. Grier, is president of the college. He attended Vanderbilt University Medical School, Nashville, Tenn., and interned at the Baltimore City Hospital. He has been on active duty for 21 months.

After a 15-day wedding trip to Florida the couple will return to active duty at the U. S. Naval Hospital, Charleston, where they are both stationed.

Samuel Osgood was the first Postmaster General under the Constitution. He was appointed Sept. 26, 1789.

MODENA

Modena, Feb. 15—The February meeting of the public health nursing committee of the Town of Plattekill met Monday night at the home of Mrs. Lillian Courter, president. A satisfactory sum has been realized from the traveling baskets visits throughout the community, but inasmuch as a few had not been returned, the report was incomplete. Attending were public health nurses, Mrs. Joyce Kopf and Miss Dorothy Meredith of Wallkill; Mrs. Ferris Briggs, Mrs. Russell Minard and Mrs. Howard Simpson, Clintondale; Mrs. Frank Coy, Mrs. Simon DuBois, Mrs. Burton Ward, Mrs. Earl DeWitt Sr., and Mrs. Courter. The March meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Milton Van Duser at Sylva, unless otherwise announced.

Mrs. Frank Coy entertained a group at her home Wednesday morning. Mrs. Roy Jensen, Mrs. Gershom Mount, Mrs. Ira Hyatt, Mrs. Fred Bernard, Mrs. Martin Tonneson and Mrs. Lillian Courter were those attending.

Regular clinics for infants and pre-school children of the Town of Plattekill will be resumed after being omitted during the past few months at the Hasbrouck Memorial Hall Monday, Feb. 26. Dr. Mathiasen of the Vassar Hospital staff will be in charge unless otherwise stated.

Mrs. Lester Arnold entertained at her home Wednesday afternoon for Mrs. Emory Conklin, Mrs. Lillian Courter, Mrs. DuBois Grimm, Mrs. Amanda Thorne, Mrs. Eber H. Smith, Mrs. Eldred A. Smith, Mrs. Joseph Dragotta, Mrs. George Rinehart and Mrs. Gerald DuBois.

Mrs. Vernard B. Wager of Plattekill was a supper guest of Mrs. A. D. Wager and daughter, Friday night.

Mrs. Myron Shultis entertained at her home Friday afternoon for Mrs. Earl DeWitt Sr., Mrs. Lillian Courter, Mrs. Tony Mouzithras, Mrs. Alvina Matheisen, Mrs. Lois Black, Mrs. J. E. Hasbrouck, Mrs. Lester Arnold and Mrs. Martin Tonneson.

Ransel J. Wager was a caller in Esopus Thursday.

The late Hans C. Anderson Jr. was a former clerk in the general store of DuBois Grimm, in Modena, and later conducted a diner in New Paltz. He has lived in Long Island for about 20 years.

Mrs. Frank E. Keeser and infant son, Edward Charles arrived home Saturday from the Kingston Hospital. Cpl. Keeser was granted an emergency leave from Fort Sill, Okla., where he was stationed and accompanied his family home.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Denton and daughter, Nancy were visitors in Kingston Saturday.

Philip Rappelyea was among students of the Wallkill Central school inducted at an impressive ceremony in the Shawangunk Chapter of the National Honor Society at a student assembly recently.

Will Present Program

Pupils of the Immaculate Conception School will present a "Catholic Press" program Sunday, Feb. 18, at 4 p. m. in White Eagle Hall, Delaware avenue. The public is invited to attend the admission free program.

KIDNEYS MUST REMOVE EXCESS WASTE

When kidney function slows down, many folks complain of nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness. Don't suffer longer with these discomforts if reduced kidney function is getting you down—due to such common causes as stress and strain, over-exertion or exposure to cold. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages.

Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. While often otherwise caused, it's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief from these discomforts—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

Glenford Newlyweds

Miss Barbara Evelyn Downes, Glenford, Is Wed Sunday to William Judson Gray

The marriage of Miss Barbara Evelyn Downes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Gray of Glenford, and William Judson Gray, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Gray of Glenford, was solemnized Sunday, Feb. 11 in the Glenford Methodist Church at 4 p. m. The Rev. Harold Ryan of that congregation preformed the double ring ceremony.

Miss Marlene Moore, organist, accompanied Mrs. Edwin Secor who sang, "Because," and "The Lord's Prayer." The church was decorated with assorted flowers.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her step-father, Richard Gray, wore a white satin gown, with a white satin Bertha collar. The gown was cut with a dropped, shirred waist, falling to a full train. Her fingertip veil was fastened to a pearl crown, and she carried white roses.

Miss Madeline Downes of Flushing, L. I., sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a bouffant gown of gold satin, with a net overskirt, A bolero, and matching headpiece. She carried an old fashioned bouquet of yellow tea roses.

The bride's other attendants included another sister, Miss Lois Ann Downes of Glenford, and Miss Sylvia Bell of Brown Station. Miss Downes wore a blue satin gown with a dropped neckline, and a matching blue satin headpiece. She carried pink roses. Miss Bell was dressed in rose colored satin, and carried an old fashioned bouquet of talisman roses, with a matching satin headpiece.

The best man for the groom was his cousin, Ronald Gray of Glenford. Ushering were the groom's uncle, Gilbert Gray, and his cousin, Gilbert Gray, Jr., both of this city.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Glenford Church hall for approximately 85 guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Gray will visit Florida on their wedding trip, making their home in Glenford upon their return. The bride wore a navy blue suit for traveling. with a gold topper, and a white rose corsage.

Mrs. Gray attended Kingston High School, where she was a member of the class of '51, and is employed with the W. T. Grant Co., this city.

Mr. Gray was graduated from Kingston High School with the class of '47, and is now employed with James Stoutenburgh, well driller, of Glenford.

Medical Society Elects 4 Members

At a regular meeting of the Medical Society of Ulster County held at the city laboratory on February 6, four new members were elected. They were Dr. Herbert Derman, M.D., pathologist at the City of Kingston Laboratory who transferred from Kings county; Dr. Ted R. Smalldon, roentgenologist at the Kingston Hospital, who transferred membership from the county of New York; Dr. Ira Wickner of Wallkill and Dr. Thomas S. Ingarra of 143 St. James street, both transferred from Orange county.

Routine business was transacted by the society and Dr. Frederic Holcomb, Jr., introduced the speaker of the evening, Dr. W. Brandon Macomber, chief of plastic surgery at Albany Hospital. Dr. Macomber spoke on the topic, "The Scope of Plastic Surgery as Related to the General Surgeon and General Practitioner." An additional speaker was Thomas E. Walsh, attorney for the Public Relations Bureau of the Medical Society of the State of New York, who spoke on the matters of public relations and the value of the survey that was made to determine whether Ulster county needs an Emergency Medical Service.

Would Give Tabs

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 15 (AP)—A Queens legislator says you should be permitted to advertise that you are a safe driver, if you have shown you deserve the rating. Democratic Assemblyman William E. Clancy of Ridgewood introduced a bill yesterday that would require the state motor vehicle commissioner to issue to deserving persons with each license plate a separate tag with the inscription "Safe Driver." The commissioner would set up rules to determine which drivers had earned the special tag.

Attend Dinner

County Clerk Harry D. Sutton, Deputy County Clerks Ward B. Tongue and Clifford S. Van Valkenburg and County Auditor Joseph Gentile attended the fifth annual legislative dinner of the New York State Association of County Clerks at Albany last evening. The dinner was held at Jack's Oyster House. Among the guest speakers was Lieut. Governor Frank C. Moore and Comptroller J. Raymond McGovern.

$15,000 Goal Set by Finance Group for Local Can-Am Franchise

Sum Would Meet All Early Expenses; $3,400 Is Pledged

Boys' Club Buys First $10 Share of Stock

A finance committee which set its goal at $15,000 to carry the Kingston franchise through the first two months of the 1951 Class C Canadian-American Baseball League was named during Wednesday night's meeting at the Stuyvesant Hotel.

Al Kurdt, executive secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, who made the announcement this morning, said that the $15,000 would be sufficient to meet all expenses for the early part of the new campaign without any help from gate receipts.

The finance group will meet again next Wednesday night to outline plans for its drive and will elect a chairman at the same time.

Those named on the committee were Dave Popick, Ed Murphy, Frank O'Neill, Harry Streifer, Fred Davi, Dr. Fred Holcomb, Jr., Myron Goldman, Victor H. Roth, Frederick J. Ertel and Joe Beichert.

$3,400 Already Pledged

Kurdt also stated this morning that $3,400 already has been peldged to the finance committee by various fans throughout the city and county. This sum, Kurdt, explained, was pledged since last week's initial meeting when it was formally decided to enter the Class C Can-Am League.

Eleven shares of stock were purchased during last night's parley after it was revealed that the par value of the club's stock would be reduced from $100 to $10.

The first share last night was bought by members of the Kingston Boys' Club. Others who purchased shares included W. R. Martin, five shares; Richard Leonard, three; Jake Chichelsky, one; and Alex "Pop" Fuhrman, director of the Boys' Club, one.

Old Debts Are Erased

Enthusiastic response greeted the announcement last night that all old debts incurred by former professional franchises in the city had been erased.

"We'll be able to start from scratch this year," Kurdt said in making the report. He added that about $25,000 invested by old stockholders had cleared up all liens against the club. Kurdt also said that $1,000 is still due the Kingston organization out of the $25,000 balance and will be forwarded to the group soon from George C. Trautman, commissioner of minor league baseball.

About 50 fans attended last night's meeting, including several from out of town. Two Phoenicia backers, Bill and Clarence Jansen said they were throwing their entire support behind the Class C Can-Am franchise.

Hermanski Inks Pact

Gene Hermanski, Dodger outfielder who has outlasted the bevies of phenoms that the Brooks always have striving for every position, has returned his signed 1951 contract to the Brooklyn office. Two other Dodgers also were reported to be satisfied with terms for the coming season, Don Thompson, rookie from Montreal, and Phil Haugstad, a pitcher. The only unsigned Brooks are Preacher Roe, Billy Cox and Eddie Miksis.

Orange Halts Cadets

After trailing 34-25 at halftime, Syracuse went on to notch its 11th victory of the season Wednesday afternoon at the West Point Field House by defeating Army, 64 to 57. Ed Miller topped the Orange cagers with 11 points. Chuck Aakhus, Army forward, led the Cadets with 16. Ed Weaver and Captain Ed Tixier followed with 11 points each for the Black Knights. Army will be host to Villanova Saturday night at the field house.

Trotters Name Director

Boston, Feb. 15 (AP)—William T. Maybury of Dexter, Me., whose stable races on the grand circuit, was elected a director of the District 10 Board of the U. S. Trotting Association last night. He succeeds Ralph A. Jewell of Fairfield, Me., a member of the board since it was organized in 1939. The hold-over District 10 directors are Dunbar W. Bostwick of Shelburne, Vt., and W. H. Dickenson of Hatfield, Mass. They, with Maybury, considered appeals taken by owners and drivers on decisions handed down during the 1950 harness racing season in the New England states.

Ticonderoga Cops Race

Nassau, Bahamas, Feb. 15 (AP)—The last of 17 yachts in the Miami-Nassau sailing race pulled into port today, completing the 184-mile deep-water journey. First to finish was the Ticonderoga, 72-foot ketch owned by Allen Carlisle of Miami and chartered to Charles Granville of Wilton, Conn. The "Big Ti," scratch boat in the 13th annual event, crossed the finish line at 5:13:23, yesterday, followed closely by the Caribee, 57-foot yawl owned by Carleton Mitchell of Annapolis, Md.

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Freeman Sports Editor

One of the most exciting items during the team shooting of the 15th annual city bowling tournament was the conversion of the 7-10 split by Lou Nardi. Rare enough under ordinary circumstances, it becomes a prize accomplishment in the stress and pressure of tournament play. Nardi cleaned up the spare by ricocheting the 7-pin off the kickback into the No. 10. You can bow once from the waist, uncle.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk had high praise for the K.B.A. in a speech during the pre-opening ceremonies. Louis G. Bruhn, defender of the law and president of the K.B.A., and Addison Jones, tournament manager, spoke briefly. Pressure of business forced Peter Keresman, co-founder of the K.B.A., to miss the opening for the first time. Before the start of Sunday's squads, the bowlers observed a moment of silent prayer out of respect to the memory of the late Jasper Martalto, a topnotch sponsor through the years. Biggest round of applause was reserved for the oldest kegler in the tournament, John Raible of the Fuller Company. A couple of bowlers with the tournament touch . . . Joe Misasi and Joe Kwasney, the golfer-bowler. Misasi anchored the ill-fated Hutton Brick squad, while Kwasney came up with a 631 series the second time out. John MacLellan rolled three of the most consistent triples in Class A and did an outstanding job as master of ceremonies and as commentator for instructions and other highlights during two busy days.

Amoco Gas' victory in the team event was a tribute to their fighting spirit. Everything else being equal, the team with the greater esprit de corps will win. Comparatively low "A" totals, excluding Amocos, reflected the generally stiff conditions. The Bowlatorium management cooperated beautifully with K.B.A. to keep the alleys as uniform as possible. Spotting the team shifts 2 hours, 15 minutes apart eliminates confusion and results in orderly bowling. One bowler showed up in a condition definitely unsuited for bowling and required a substitute. A.B.C. rules prohibit drinks on the alley floor during a tournament.

It is an ironic co-incidence that both the K.W.B.A. and K.B.A. tournaments suffered rhubarbs. The situation in the K.W.B.A. wherein a squad used the same lineup twice on successive shifts is without precedent so far as this corner is concerned. If the scores are upheld by the local, state or national associations then our whole concept of the eligibility laws for tournament competition will have to undergo a drastic revision. The rhubarb in the K.B.A. reflects the exacting requirements of the "substitute rule" in tournament play. Simply enough, it states that any bowler who appears as a substitute (vz: rolling with any team other than one with which he is regularly affiliated) can roll only once in a city tournament. In other words, if John Smith is a member of four teams and then suddenly decides to fill in as a substitute for another squad, he automatically disqualifies himself from his regular four teams and his tournament activity is confined to ONLY one team. It is a sound rule because it discourages the practice of importing sharpers for tournament play.

Ad Jones was roundly applauded for setting a new record for entries in every division. The 109 team total would have been considerably higher if this were a handicap tournament.. It also marked the last time, perhaps, that the annual championships will be confined to week-ends. The problem of properly placing more than 100 teams on five shifts is a staggering one and it is difficult to please everyone. Furthermore it imposes a heavy burden on the tournament committees and the schedule problem is one that we wouldn't wish on our worst enemy. Most of the difficulties were overcome by having teams make swaps with others but, in mapping the original schedule, the K.B.A. finds itself too restricted to allot all requested dates. The simple solution is to return to the old format of running the competition over a week's period, with double shifts every night. The singles and doubles can be handled effectively during a week-end because the bowlers appear only once.

The action transfers to the Bowlodrome Saturday night at 7 o'clock and by 9 p. m. Sunday the greatest tournament in K.B.A. annals will have been written into the record books.

Favorites Galore In Rio Grande Open

Harlingen, Tex., Feb. 15 (AP)—The $10,000 Rio Grande Valley Open began today with more favorites than you could shake a stick at.

The Harlingen municipal course with its par 71 is quite short—only 6,095 yards—and the man with the hottest putter probably will be the fellow taking home the $2,000 first money. But the field of 137—119 professionals and 18 amateurs bulges with fellows who are death on the greens.

Lloyd Mangrum of Chicago, leading money winner of the year and the only golfer taking two tournaments on the winter tour—is mentioned most prominently as the man to beat. But young Jack Burke Jr., of Houston, the defending champion, E. J. Harrison of Standrews, Ill. and Doug Ford of Briarcliff, N. Y., who tied for first in the Texas Open and 10 or 20 others are named by the touring pros as likely to succeed.

Eighteen holes are scheduled daily with the field being reduced to the low 60 scores and ties tomorrow night.

Giants Sign Maguire

The Giants still have four unsigned players including Jim Hearn, after the signing yesterday of Jack Maguire, a utility outfielder. Hearn, who is believed to be the most serious of holdouts, is listed with Whitey Lockman, Jack Kramer and Bill Jennings as other players still outside of the fold.

14,802 See Robinson Dethrone LaMotta as Middleweight King

Sugar Ray Is Awarded T.K.O. in 13th Round

Chicago, Feb. 15 (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson today became the first man in ring history to win one championship and lose another all in the same battle.

The rythmic New York Negro, defeated only once in 124 contests, last night won the world's middleweight championship by hammering durable Jake LaMotta, 160-pound title holder, to defeat on a 13 round technical knockout before 14,802 frenzied spectators in the Chicago Stadium.

As his right-gloved fist was raised in victory, Robinson automatically relinquished his welterweight crown. H. was forced to surrender it under a ruling of the National Boxing Association and also by decision of Eddie Eagan, chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission, which operates independently of the N.B.A.

May Waive Return Bout

Under the terms of last night's match, Robinson is required to give LaMotta a return bout, probably in New York, next June. However, Truman Gibson, secretary of the sponsoring International Boxing Club, wondered if LaMotta wanted to face the prospect of absorbing another beating from his conqueror.

LaMotta remained in an unfavorable condition for two hours after he walked from the ring under his own power. He was immediately administered oxygen when he reached his dressing room. He was completely exhausted and suffered chills.

Dr. J. H. Houston of the Illinois Athletic Commission and Jake's own personal physician, Dr. Philip Burnori, New York, remained in constant attendance until he was able to leave for his downtown hotel quarters with his wife, Vicki.

The attendance gate was $180,619 and the net was $138,939. The attendance exceeded expectation despite television and its estimated 30,000,000 viewers. LaMotta's share of the gate was $62,520 and Robinson received $20,840. Each fighter also had a TV cut of $1,500.

Jake Is Helpless

LaMotta held the middleweight championship two days short of 20 months. He won it from the late Marcel Cerdan of France at Detroit, June 16, 1949. He successfully defended it twice. Robinson had ruled the welterweights since Dec. 20, 1946.

The rugged LaMotta, never knocked off his feet in 95 contests, retained this dubious honor in losing to Robinson. The bout was stopped at 2:04 of the 13th round.

The "Bronx Bull" was battered into a state of helplessness which prompted Referee Frank Sikora to step between the men and order Robinson to his corner.

La Motta, the only man ever to defeat Robinson, never fought more determinedly than he did last night. For eight rounds he actually forced the battle. He bothered the confident Robinson with resounding body blows and jolting lefts to the head and often forced him into retreat with his two-fisted attack.

The jolting La Motta had the spirit to triumph, but did not have the stamina for the 15-round championship route. He outweighed Robinson 4½ pounds, scaling 160 at yesterday's weigh-in.

Tide Turns in 9th

The tide turned in Robinson's favor in the ninth round when Jake began losing his aggressiveness and ability to escape from Robinson's shattering punches. He turned into little less than a target for the welterweight champion.

The bout then began to move to its inevitable conclusion.

Jake was virtually helpless all through the 12th as Robinson stung him with every blow he could pitch. The wilting LaMotta sought the refuge of the ropes and was unable to fight back.

The contest, now one-sided, continued into the 13th and although the outcome was obvious the crowd was cheering wildly that La Motta was still on his feet as Robinson whaled away at him.

White Scores 50 In L.I.U. Victory

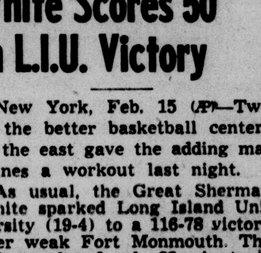
As usual, the Great Sherman White sparked Long Island University (19-4) to a 116-78 victory over weak Fort Monmouth. The 6-7 ace played only 26 minutes—little more than half the game—but scored 50 points, well above his 26-point-a-game clip.

Only Bill Mlkvy of Temple tops White among the nation's leading major college scorers. Mlkvy has led for several weeks but White's 50 last night might shoot him ahead when next week's statistics are released by the NCAA.

Ernie Beck, Penn's sophomore star, dropped in five points in the last 35 seconds to carry the Quakers from behind for a 67-63 victory over Navy. In all, Beck scored 26 points, boosting his average to about 20 points a game.

Lions Cop 16th

Columbia maintained its record as the country's only major undefeated team. The New Yorkers scored their 16th straight of the season in trouncing Yale, 79-49. Columbia needs two more victories to win the Ivy League title and an NCAA tournament bid.



LET'S DREAM

Kingston, N. Y., Feb. 15—Remember last summer when you pulled in that big one? Why, fishin' was so much fun and you were so busy doin' it you didn't have any time to think about the tackle you lost and the things you promised you'd have for yourself next year.

Plenty of time to think now, and plenty of time to do something about it, too. It's really a lot of fun to browse around at Potter Bros....it's a man's world, with rifles, fishing tackle, golf equipment and stuff like that to pick up and imagine yourself owning.

$15,000 Goal Set by Finance Group for Local Can-Am Franchise

Sum Would Meet All Early Expenses; $3,400 Is Pledged

Boys' Club Buys First $10 Share of Stock

A finance committee which set its goal at $15,000 to carry the Kingston franchise through the first two months of the 1951 Class C Canadian-American Baseball League was named during Wednesday night's meeting at the Stuyvesant Hotel.

Al Kurdt, executive secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, who made the announcement this morning, said that the $15,000 would be sufficient to meet all expenses for the early part of the new campaign without any help from gate receipts.

The finance group will meet again next Wednesday night to outline plans for its drive and will elect a chairman at the same time.

Those named on the committee were Dave Popick, Ed Murphy, Frank O'Neill, Harry Streifer, Fred Davi, Dr. Fred Holcomb, Jr., Myron Goldman, Victor H. Roth, Frederick J. Ertel and Joe Beichert.

$3,400 Already Pledged

Kurdt also stated this morning that $3,400 already has been peldged to the finance committee by various fans throughout the city and county. This sum, Kurdt, explained, was pledged since last week's initial meeting when it was formally decided to enter the Class C Can-Am League.

Eleven shares of stock were purchased during last night's parley after it was revealed that the par value of the club's stock would be reduced from $100 to $10.

Old Debts Are Erased

Enthusiastic response greeted the announcement last night that all old debts incurred by former professional franchises in the city had been erased.

"We'll be able to start from scratch this year," Kurdt said in making the report. He added that about $25,000 invested by old stockholders had cleared up all liens against the club. Kurdt also said that $1,000 is still due the Kingston organization out of the $25,000 balance and will be forwarded to the group soon from George C. Trautman, commissioner of minor league baseball.

About 50 fans attended last night's meeting, including several from out of town. Two Phoenicia backers, Bill and Clarence Jansen said they were throwing their entire support behind the Class C Can-Am franchise.

Hermanski Inks Pact

Gene Hermanski, Dodger outfielder who has outlasted the bevies of phenoms that the Brooks always have striving for every position, has returned his signed 1951 contract to the Brooklyn office. Two other Dodgers also were reported to be satisfied with terms for the coming season, Don Thompson, rookie from Montreal, and Phil Haugstad, a pitcher. The only unsigned Brooks are Preacher Roe, Billy Cox and Eddie Miksis.

Orange Halts Cadets

After trailing 34-25 at halftime, Syracuse went on to notch its 11th victory of the season Wednesday afternoon at the West Point Field House by defeating Army, 64 to 57. Ed Miller topped the Orange cagers with 11 points. Chuck Aakhus, Army forward, led the Cadets with 16. Ed Weaver and Captain Ed Tixier followed with 11 points each for the Black Knights. Army will be host to Villanova Saturday night at the field house.

Trotters Name Director

Boston, Feb. 15 (AP)—William T. Maybury of Dexter, Me., whose stable races on the grand circuit, was elected a director of the District 10 Board of the U. S. Trotting Association last night. He succeeds Ralph A. Jewell of Fairfield, Me., a member of the board since it was organized in 1939. The hold-over District 10 directors are Dunbar W. Bostwick of Shelburne, Vt., and W. H. Dickenson of Hatfield, Mass. They, with Maybury, considered appeals taken by owners and drivers on decisions handed down during the 1950 harness racing season in the New England states.

Ticonderoga Cops Race

Nassau, Bahamas, Feb. 15 (AP)—The last of 17 yachts in the Miami-Nassau sailing race pulled into port today, completing the 184-mile deep-water journey. First to finish was the Ticonderoga, 72-foot ketch owned by Allen Carlisle of Miami and chartered to Charles Granville of Wilton, Conn. The "Big Ti," scratch boat in the 13th annual event, crossed the finish line at 5:13:23, yesterday, followed closely by the Caribee, 57-foot yawl owned by Carleton Mitchell of Annapolis, Md.

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Freeman Sports Editor

One of the most exciting items during the team shooting of the 15th annual city bowling tournament was the conversion of the 7-10 split by Lou Nardi. Rare enough under ordinary circumstances, it becomes a prize accomplishment in the stress and pressure of tournament play. Nardi cleaned up the spare by ricocheting the 7-pin off the kickback into the No. 10. You can bow once from the waist, uncle.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk had high praise for the K.B.A. in a speech during the pre-opening ceremonies. Louis G. Bruhn, defender of the law and president of the K.B.A., and Addison Jones, tournament manager, spoke briefly. Pressure of business forced Peter Keresman, co-founder of the K.B.A., to miss the opening for the first time. Before the start of Sunday's squads, the bowlers observed a moment of silent prayer out of respect to the memory of the late Jasper Martalto, a topnotch sponsor through the years. Biggest round of applause was reserved for the oldest kegler in the tournament, John Raible of the Fuller Company. A couple of bowlers with the tournament touch . . . Joe Misasi and Joe Kwasney, the golfer-bowler. Misasi anchored the ill-fated Hutton Brick squad, while Kwasney came up with a 631 series the second time out. John MacLellan rolled three of the most consistent triples in Class A and did an outstanding job as master of ceremonies and as commentator for instructions and other highlights during two busy days.

Amoco Gas' victory in the team event was a tribute to their fighting spirit. Everything else being equal, the team with the greater esprit de corps will win. Comparatively low "A" totals, excluding Amocos, reflected the generally stiff conditions. The Bowlatorium management cooperated beautifully with K.B.A. to keep the alleys as uniform as possible. Spotting the team shifts 2 hours, 15 minutes apart eliminates confusion and results in orderly bowling. One bowler showed up in a condition definitely unsuited for bowling and required a substitute. A.B.C. rules prohibit drinks on the alley floor during a tournament.

It is an ironic co-incidence that both the K.W.B.A. and K.B.A. tournaments suffered rhubarbs. The situation in the K.W.B.A. wherein a squad used the same lineup twice on successive shifts is without precedent so far as this corner is concerned. If the scores are upheld by the local, state or national associations then our whole concept of the eligibility laws for tournament competition will have to undergo a drastic revision. The rhubarb in the K.B.A. reflects the exacting requirements of the "substitute rule" in tournament play. Simply enough, it states that any bowler who appears as a substitute (vz: rolling with any team other than one with which he is regularly affiliated) can roll only once in a city tournament. In other words, if John Smith is a member of four teams and then suddenly decides to fill in as a substitute for another squad, he automatically disqualifies himself from his regular four teams and his tournament activity is confined to ONLY one team. It is a sound rule because it discourages the practice of importing sharpers for tournament play.

Ad Jones was roundly applauded for setting a new record for entries in every division. The 109 team total would have been considerably higher if this were a handicap tournament.. It also marked the last time, perhaps, that the annual championships will be confined to week-ends. The problem of properly placing more than 100 teams on five shifts is a staggering one and it is difficult to please everyone. Furthermore it imposes a heavy burden on the tournament committees and the schedule problem is one that we wouldn't wish on our worst enemy. Most of the difficulties were overcome by having teams make swaps with others but, in mapping the original schedule, the K.B.A. finds itself too restricted to allot all requested dates. The simple solution is to return to the old format of running the competition over a week's period, with double shifts every night. The singles and doubles can be handled effectively during a week-end because the bowlers appear only once.

The action transfers to the Bowlodrome Saturday night at 7 o'clock and by 9 p. m. Sunday the greatest tournament in K.B.A. annals will have been written into the record books.

Favorites Galore In Rio Grande Open

Harlingen, Tex., Feb. 15 (AP)—The $10,000 Rio Grande Valley Open began today with more favorites than you could shake a stick at.

The Harlingen municipal course with its par 71 is quite short—only 6,095 yards—and the man with the hottest putter probably will be the fellow taking home the $2,000 first money. But the field of 137—119 professionals and 18 amateurs bulges with fellows who are death on the greens.

Lloyd Mangrum of Chicago, leading money winner of the year and the only golfer taking two tournaments on the winter tour—is mentioned most prominently as the man to beat. But young Jack Burke Jr., of Houston, the defending champion, E. J. Harrison of Standrews, Ill. and Doug Ford of Briarcliff, N. Y., who tied for first in the Texas Open and 10 or 20 others are named by the touring pros as likely to succeed.

Eighteen holes are scheduled daily with the field being reduced to the low 60 scores and ties tomorrow night.

Giants Sign Maguire

The Giants still have four unsigned players including Jim Hearn, after the signing yesterday of Jack Maguire, a utility outfielder. Hearn, who is believed to be the most serious of holdouts, is listed with Whitey Lockman, Jack Kramer and Bill Jennings as other players still outside of the fold.

14,802 See Robinson Dethrone LaMotta as Middleweight King

Sugar Ray Is Awarded T.K.O. in 13th Round

Chicago, Feb. 15 (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson today became the first man in ring history to win one championship and lose another all in the same battle.

The rythmic New York Negro, defeated only once in 124 contests, last night won the world's middleweight championship by hammering durable Jake LaMotta, 160-pound title holder, to defeat on a 13 round technical knockout before 14,802 frenzied spectators in the Chicago Stadium.

About 50 fans attended last night's meeting, including several from out of town. Two Phoenicia backers, Bill and Clarence Jansen said they were throwing their entire support behind the Class C Can-Am franchise.

Hermanski Inks Pact

Gene Hermanski, Dodger outfielder who has outlasted the bevies of phenoms that the Brooks always have striving for every position, has returned his signed 1951 contract to the Brooklyn office. Two other Dodgers also were reported to be satisfied with terms for the coming season, Don Thompson, rookie from Montreal, and Phil Haugstad, a pitcher. The only unsigned Brooks are Preacher Roe, Billy Cox and Eddie Miksis.

Orange Halts Cadets

After trailing 34-25 at halftime, Syracuse went on to notch its 11th victory of the season Wednesday afternoon at the West Point Field House by defeating Army, 64 to 57. Ed Miller topped the Orange cagers with 11 points. Chuck Aakhus, Army forward, led the Cadets with 16. Ed Weaver and Captain Ed Tixier followed with 11 points each for the Black Knights. Army will be host to Villanova Saturday night at the field house.

Trotters Name Director

Boston, Feb. 15 (AP)—William T. Maybury of Dexter, Me., whose stable races on the grand circuit, was elected a director of the District 10 Board of the U. S. Trotting Association last night. He succeeds Ralph A. Jewell of Fairfield, Me., a member of the board since it was organized in 1939. The hold-over District 10 directors are Dunbar W. Bostwick of Shelburne, Vt., and W. H. Dickenson of Hatfield, Mass. They, with Maybury, considered appeals taken by owners and drivers on decisions handed down during the 1950 harness racing season in the New England states.

Ticonderoga Cops Race

Nassau, Bahamas, Feb. 15 (AP)—The last of 17 yachts in the Miami-Nassau sailing race pulled into port today, completing the 184-mile deep-water journey. First to finish was the Ticonderoga, 72-foot ketch owned by Allen Carlisle of Miami and chartered to Charles Granville of Wilton, Conn. The "Big Ti," scratch boat in the 13th annual event, crossed the finish line at 5:13:23, yesterday, followed closely by the Caribee, 57-foot yawl owned by Carleton Mitchell of Annapolis, Md.

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. TIANO

One of the most exciting items during the team shooting of the 15th annual city bowling tournament was the conversion of the 7-10 split by Lou Nardi. Rare enough under ordinary circumstances, it becomes a prize accomplishment in the stress and pressure of tournament play. Nardi cleaned up the spare by ricocheting the 7-pin off the kickback into the No. 10. You can bow once from the waist, uncle.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk had high praise for the K.B.A. in a speech during the pre-opening ceremonies. Louis G. Bruhn, defender of the law and president of the K.B.A., and Addison Jones, tournament manager, spoke briefly. Pressure of business forced Peter Keresman, co-founder of the K.B.A., to miss the opening for the first time. Before the start of Sunday's squads, the bowlers observed a moment of silent prayer out of respect to the memory of the late Jasper Martalto, a topnotch sponsor through the years. Biggest round of applause was reserved for the oldest kegler in the tournament, John Raible of the Fuller Company. A couple of bowlers with the tournament touch . . . Joe Misasi and Joe Kwasney, the golfer-bowler. Misasi anchored the ill-fated Hutton Brick squad, while Kwasney came up with a 631 series the second time out. John MacLellan rolled three of the most consistent triples in Class A and did an outstanding job as master of ceremonies and as commentator for instructions and other highlights during two busy days.

Amoco Gas' victory in the team event was a tribute to their fighting spirit. Everything else being equal, the team with the greater esprit de corps will win. Comparatively low "A" totals, excluding Amocos, reflected the generally stiff conditions. The Bowlatorium management cooperated beautifully with K.B.A. to keep the alleys as uniform as possible. Spotting the team shifts 2 hours, 15 minutes apart eliminates confusion and results in orderly bowling. One bowler showed up in a condition definitely unsuited for bowling and required a substitute. A.B.C. rules prohibit drinks on the alley floor during a tournament.

It is an ironic co-incidence that both the K.W.B.A. and K.B.A. tournaments suffered rhubarbs. The situation in the K.W.B.A. wherein a squad used the same lineup twice on successive shifts is without precedent so far as this corner is concerned. If the scores are upheld by the local, state or national associations then our whole concept of the eligibility laws for tournament competition will have to undergo a drastic revision. The rhubarb in the K.B.A. reflects the exacting requirements of the "substitute rule" in tournament play. Simply enough, it states that any bowler who appears as a substitute (vz: rolling with any team other than one with which he is regularly affiliated) can roll only once in a city tournament. In other words, if John Smith is a member of four teams and then suddenly decides to fill in as a substitute for another squad, he automatically disqualifies himself from his regular four teams and his tournament activity is confined to ONLY one team. It is a sound rule because it discourages the practice of importing sharpers for tournament play.

Ad Jones was roundly applauded for setting a new record for entries in every division. The 109 team total would have been considerably higher if this were a handicap tournament. It also marked the last time, perhaps, that the annual championships will be confined to week-ends. The problem of properly placing more than 100 teams on five shifts is a staggering one and it is difficult to please everyone. Furthermore it imposes a heavy burden on the tournament committees and the schedule problem is one that we wouldn't wish on our worst enemy. Most of the difficulties were overcome by having teams make swaps with others but, in mapping the original schedule, the K.B.A. finds itself too restricted to allot all requested dates. The simple solution is to return to the old format of running the competition over a week's period, with double shifts every night. The singles and doubles can be handled effectively during a week-end because the bowlers appear only once.

The action transfers to the Bowlodrome Saturday night at 7 o'clock and by 9 p. m. Sunday the greatest tournament in K.B.A. annals will have been written into the record books.

Favorites Galore In Rio Grande Open

Harlingen, Tex., Feb. 15 (AP)—The $10,000 Rio Grande Valley Open began today with more favorites than you could shake a stick at.

The Harlingen municipal course with its par 71 is quite short—only 6,095 yards—and the man with the hottest putter probably will be the fellow taking home the $2,000 first money. But the field of 137—119 professionals and 18 amateurs bulges with fellows who are death on the greens.

Lloyd Mangrum of Chicago, leading money winner of the year and the only golfer taking two tournaments on the winter tour—is mentioned most prominently as the man to beat. But young Jack Burke Jr., of Houston, the defending champion, E. J. Harrison of Standrews, Ill. and Doug Ford of Briarcliff, N. Y., who tied for first in the Texas Open and 10 or 20 others are named by the touring pros as likely to succeed.

Eighteen holes are scheduled daily with the field being reduced to the low 60 scores and ties tomorrow night.

Giants Sign Maguire

The Giants still have four unsigned players including Jim Hearn, after the signing yesterday of Jack Maguire, a utility outfielder. Hearn, who is believed to be the most serious of holdouts, is listed with Whitey Lockman, Jack Kramer and Bill Jennings as other players still outside of the fold.

14,802 See Robinson Dethrone LaMotta as Middleweight King

Sugar Ray Is Awarded T.K.O. in 13th Round

Chicago, Feb. 15 (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson today became the first man in ring history to win one championship and lose another all in the same battle.

The rythmic New York Negro, defeated only once in 124 contests, last night won the world's middleweight championship by hammering durable Jake LaMotta, 160-pound title holder, to defeat on a 13 round technical knockout before 14,802 frenzied spectators in the Chicago Stadium.

As his right-gloved fist was raised in victory, Robinson automatically relinquished his welterweight crown. H. was forced to surrender it under a ruling of the National Boxing Association and also by decision of Eddie Eagan, chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission, which operates independently of the N.B.A.

May Waive Return Bout

Under the terms of last night's match, Robinson is required to give LaMotta a return bout, probably in New York, next June. However, Truman Gibson, secretary of the sponsoring International Boxing Club, wondered if LaMotta wanted to face the prospect of absorbing another beating from his conqueror.

LaMotta remained in an unfavorable condition for two hours after he walked from the ring under his own power. He was immediately administered oxygen when he reached his dressing room. He was completely exhausted and suffered chills.

Dr. J. H. Houston of the Illinois Athletic Commission and Jake's own personal physician, Dr. Philip Burnori, New York, remained in constant attendance until he was able to leave for his downtown hotel quarters with his wife, Vicki.

The attendance gate was $180,619 and the net was $138,939. The attendance exceeded expectation despite television and its estimated 30,000,000 viewers. LaMotta's share of the gate was $62,520 and Robinson received $20,840. Each fighter also had a TV cut of $1,500.

Jake Is Helpless

LaMotta held the middleweight championship two days short of 20 months. He won it from the late Marcel Cerdan of France at Detroit, June 16, 1949. He successfully defended it twice. Robinson had ruled the welterweights since Dec. 20, 1946.

The rugged LaMotta, never knocked off his feet in 95 contests, retained this dubious honor in losing to Robinson. The bout was stopped at 2:04 of the 13th round.

The "Bronx Bull" was battered into a state of helplessness which prompted Referee Frank Sikora to step between the men and order Robinson to his corner.

La Motta, the only man ever to defeat Robinson, never fought more determinedly than he did last night. For eight rounds he actually forced the battle. He bothered the confident Robinson with resounding body blows and jolting lefts to the head and often forced him into retreat with his two-fisted attack.

The jolting La Motta had the spirit to triumph, but did not have the stamina for the 15-round championship route. He outweighed Robinson 4½ pounds, scaling 160 at yesterday's weigh-in.

Tide Turns in 9th

The tide turned in Robinson's favor in the ninth round when Jake began losing his aggressiveness and ability to escape from Robinson's shattering punches. He turned into little less than a target for the welterweight champion.

The bout then began to move to its inevitable conclusion.

Jake was virtually helpless all through the 12th as Robinson stung him with every blow he could pitch. The wilting LaMotta sought the refuge of the ropes and was unable to fight back.

The contest, now one-sided, continued into the 13th and although the outcome was obvious the crowd was cheering wildly that La Motta was still on his feet as Robinson whaled away at him.

White Scores 50 In L.I.U. Victory

As usual, the Great Sherman White sparked Long Island University (19-4) to a 116-78 victory over weak Fort Monmouth. The 6-7 ace played only 26 minutes—little more than half the game—but scored 50 points, well above his 26-point-a-game clip.

Only Bill Mlkvy of Temple tops White among the nation's leading major college scorers. Mlkvy has led for several weeks but White's 50 last night might shoot him ahead when next week's statistics are released by the NCAA.

Ernie Beck, Penn's sophomore star, dropped in five points in the last 35 seconds to carry the Quakers from behind for a 67-63 victory over Navy. In all, Beck scored 26 points, boosting his average to about 20 points a game.

Lions Cop 16th

Columbia maintained its record as the country's only major undefeated team. The New Yorkers scored their 16th straight of the season in trouncing Yale, 79-49. Columbia needs two more victories to win the Ivy League title and an NCAA tournament bid.

LET'S DREAM

Kingston, N. Y., Feb. 15—Remember last summer when you pulled in that big one? Why, fishin' was so much fun and you were so busy doin' it you didn't have any time to think about the tackle you lost and the things you promised you'd have for yourself next year.

Plenty of time to think now, and plenty of time to do something about it, too. It's really a lot of fun to browse around at Potter Bros....it's a man's world, with rifles, fishing tackle, golf equipment and stuff like that to pick up and imagine yourself owning.

Might even interest yourself in a new sport to while away those wasted moments. Step into Potter Bros. Sporting Goods Store at 294 Fair Street...you're welcome to spend as much time as you like just looking.

Bowling

Lou Straley fired 226-204-579 while Ernie Bartroff hit a pair of 210 singles for 557; Harold Broskie 555; Red Sangi 551; and George Robinson 232-550.

Sue Heins, who has been grabbing a good share of headlines lately in the distaff department of local bowling circles, continued on the rampage Wednesday night in the Colonial Women's League at the Bowlatorium with a 561 blast.

Sue fired steady games of 163 and 188 and finished up her night's work with a 210 solo for the 561.

Others in the 500 bracket were Charlotte Lapine 536; Evelyn Gross 202-532; Beverly Port 514.

Phyl Gehringer led the near misses with 492; Rita LaRocca 491; Dot Rawding 491; Mary Bonacci 478; Betty Bruck 203-475; M. Posner 474; and Carrie Mohr 472.

Smith Avenue Storage, despite a three-game loss to Rowe's Shoes, still lead the Gold Division at the end of the second round with a 42 and 24 record. Rowes are in second with 39-27 while Pardee's Insurance hold down the third slot with 37-29.

Sally Kuehn nosed out Mary Coniglio by three pins for top honors in the Silver Division on the strength of her 456 triple. Her scores were 145-132-179. The runnerup posted 155-155-143.

Charlotte Herdman rolled 439; Frances Perry 439; Anne Dittmar 435; and Helen Buchholtz 433.

Joe's Refrigeration tops the circuit at the end of the second round with a 39 and 27 mark. Tied for second place are the Electrol and American Legion Auxiliary No. 2 with 36-30 while Sue's Beauty and Schilling Furniture are tied for fourth with 34 and 32.

Leading the attack on the pot-bellied maples at the Y drives in the Federation American League Wednesday night was Frank Roe who fired 198-194-175 for a 567 three-timer.

Doug Kennedy was the No. 2 kegler with 543 while F. Schussler hit 530. Bill Hornbeck 525; Don Weeks 512 and Les Brown 502 completed the 500 circle bowlers.

The Janeczeks featured the Pioneer Women's League activities at the Bowlodrome Wednesday night. V. Janeczek topped the loop with a string of 156-142-178 for 476 while R. Janeczek was runnerup with 130-183-162 for 475.

Kay Roosa, S. Corrado and M. Pugliese also shot 422 triples.

Val Janeczek and Connie Petersen converted two tough splits, the 4-7-10 and 3-7-10 respectively.

HOW A DOG FINDS ITS WAY AROUND

Rangers' Victory Tops Night for Boucher

New York, Feb. 15 (AP)—Frank Boucher, one of the finest centers ever to perform in the National Hockey League, won't forget St. Valentine's Day, 1951.

Boucher, now manager of the New York Rangers, an organization he has served as player, coach and manager since the team was founded in 1926, was honored last night.

The genial Boucher received a new car and numerous other gifts from the fans. To make the night complete the Rangers polished off the Chicago Blackhawks, 5-1, to move into a three-way tie with Montreal and Boston for third place.

Former Postmaster General James A. Farley, Mayor Vincent Impellitteri of New York and National League President Clarence Campbell took part in the pregame ceremonies.

Fights Last Night

(By The Associated Press)

Chicago—Ray Robinson, 155½, New York, stopped Jake LaMotta, 160, New York, 13. (Title).

Oakland, Calif.—Maurice Harper, 147, Oakland, defeated Lester Felton, 149, Detroit, 10.

Marine League Meeting

A meeting of Ulster Detachment, Marine Corps League, is scheduled for tonight at 8 o'clock in the home of Joyce-Schirick Post, 1386, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Delaware avenue. Commandant Albert J. Melville desires a full attendance to hear reports on the recent ball.

Schulers Cop 4th In Row With 44-39 Win Over Hurley

Schuler's Inn, showing a decided weakness in shooting, still managed to turn back Hurley by 44 to 39 in the B Division of the Y Basketball League Wednesday night.

It was Schulers fourth straight victory in the second round.

Other results last night found the Esopus Firemen tripping the Violets by 53 to 42 and the Newkirk Aces drubbing the Accord Chevies by 58 to 30.

Schulers led by 20-18 at the first half but added quarter scores of 12 each in the final two periods to win by the five-point margin.

Hotaling was the big gun for the winners with 19 points. Sgroi was high for Hurley with 11.

Ferraro Hits 22

Ferraro, guard for the Esopus quintet, led the night's scorers with 22 points.

The victory enabled the Firemen to remain in a tie for second place with the Newkirk Aces, Yellow Jackets and Robins.

Accord Firemen Favor Extinguishers in Home

The department points out that the present national emergency is likely to reduce the district's fire-fighting force as younger firemen may be called into the armed forces.

Letters are being sent to every home owner in the district with descriptive literature showing the types of extinguishers that are available. The letters will be followed by a house to house canvass by members of the department who will have samples to demonstrate.

Bus Rides Increase

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 15 (AP)—It costs 12 cents now to ride a bus in the capital city area. A two-cent increase went into effect today and the United Traction Company laid in a supply of 70,000 pennies to make change for riders. The company offered a special rate—eight tokens for 95 cents.

Sports of the Day

(IN BRIEF)

(By The Associated Press)

New York—James A. Farley, former postmaster general, said "no comment" to report he has been approached as possible successor to A. B. Chandler as commissioner of baseball.

Virginia Beach, Va. — Annual $10,000 Cavalier specialists golf tournament called off this year when tournament officials said P.G.A. couldn't arrange suitable dates and guarantee top players.

A new Notre Dame basketball coach will be named "within two weeks," but the field of more than 30 candidates is still wide open, says Athletic Director Ed (Moose) Krause. Krause is retiring from coaching the Irish basketball team to devote full time to the athletic directorship.

Yanks Begin School

Phoenix, Ariz., Feb. 15 (AP)—Manager Casey Stengel of the New York Yankees arrived here yesterday to direct the club's screening school which opens this morning. Stengel will be assisted by Bill Dickey, Jim Turner, Frank Crosetti and Johnny Neun. Some 30 farmhands of the minor leagues in the Yankee organization will be on hand to participate in the workouts and practice games.

Bowling

Sue Heins, who has been grabbing a good share of headlines lately in the distaff department of local bowling circles, continued on the rampage Wednesday night in the Colonial Women's League at the Bowlatorium with a 561 blast.

Phyl Gehringer led the near misses with 492; Rita LaRocca 491; Dot Rawding 491; Mary Bonacci 478; Betty Bruck 203-475; M. Posner 474; and Carrie Mohr 472.

Smith Avenue Storage, despite a three-game loss to Rowe's Shoes, still lead the Gold Division at the end of the second round with a 42 and 24 record. Rowes are in second with 39-27 while Pardee's Insurance hold down the third slot with 37-29.

Joe's Refrigeration tops the circuit at the end of the second round with a 39 and 27 mark. Tied for second place are the Electrol and American Legion Auxiliary No. 2 with 36-30 while Sue's Beauty and Schilling Furniture are tied for fourth with 34 and 32.

Leading the attack on the potbellied maples at the Y drives in the Federation American League Wednesday night was Frank Roe who fired 198-194-175 for a 567 three-timer.

Doug Kennedy was the No. 2 kegler with 543 while F. Schussler hit 530. Bill Hornbeck 525; Don Weeks 512 and Les Brown 502 completed the 500 circle bowlers.

The Janeczeks featured the Pioneer Women's League activities at the Bowlodrome Wednesday night. V. Janeczek topped the loop with a string of 156-142-178 for 476 while R. Janeczek was runnerup with 130-183-162 for 475.

Kay Roosa, S. Corrado and M. Pugliese also shot 422 triples.

Val Janeczek and Connie Petersen converted two tough splits, the 4-7-10 and 3-7-10 respectively.

HOW A DOG FINDS IT'S WAY AROUND

Rangers' Victory Tops Night for Boucher

New York, Feb. 15 (AP)—Frank Boucher, one of the finest centers ever to perform in the National Hockey League, won't forget St. Valentine's Day, 1951.

Boucher, now manager of the New York Rangers, an organization he has served as player, coach and manager since the team was founded in 1926, was honored last night.

The genial Boucher received a new car and numerous other gifts from the fans. To make the night complete the Rangers polished off the Chicago Blackhawks, 5-1, to move into a three-way tie with Montreal and Boston for third place.

Former Postmaster General James A. Farley, Mayor Vincent Impellitteri of New York and National League President Clarence Campbell took part in the pregame ceremonies.

Fights Last Night

(By The Associated Press)

Chicago—Ray Robinson, 155½, New York, stopped Jake LaMotta, 160, New York, 13. (Title).

Oakland, Calif.—Maurice Harper, 147, Oakland, defeated Lester Felton, 149, Detroit, 10.

Marine League Meeting

A meeting of Ulster Detachment, Marine Corps League, is scheduled for tonight at 8 o'clock in the home of Joyce-Schirick Post, 1386, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Delaware avenue. Commandant Albert J. Melville desires a full attendance to hear reports on the recent ball.

Schulers Cop 4th In Row With 44-39 Win Over Hurley

Schuler's Inn, showing a decided weakness in shooting, still managed to turn back Hurley by 44 to 39 in the B Division of the Y Basketball League Wednesday night.

It was Schulers fourth straight victory in the second round.

Other results last night found the Esopus Firemen tripping the Violets by 53 to 42 and the Newkirk Aces drubbing the Accord Chevies by 58 to 30.

Hotaling was the big gun for the winners with 19 points. Sgroi was high for Hurley with 11.

Ferraro Hits 22

Ferraro, guard for the Esopus quintet, led the night's scorers with 22 points.

The victory enabled the Firemen to remain in a tie for second place with the Newkirk Aces, Yellow Jackets and Robins.

Burris and Diamond were high for the losers with 11 and 10 respectively.

Despite some fancy shooting by Bill Lawrence the Accord Chevies dropped their fourth straight decision in their loss to the Aces. Lawrence pumped in 12 points for the losers.

Smith and Norton were high for the Aces with 13 and 10 in that order.

Accord Firemen Favor Extinguishers in Home

The department points out that the present national emergency is likely to reduce the district's fire-fighting force as younger firemen may be called into the armed forces.

Letters are being sent to every home owner in the district with descriptive literature showing the types of extinguishers that are available. The letters will be followed by a house to house canvass by members of the department who will have samples to demonstrate.

Displays of extinquishers will be set up soon in the window of the Accord Diner and another in the Edward Carle store.

Bus Rides Increase

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 15 (AP)—It costs 12 cents now to ride a bus in the capital city area. A two-cent increase went into effect today and the United Traction Company laid in a supply of 70,000 pennies to make change for riders. The company offered a special rate—eight tokens for 95 cents.

Bowling

Lou Straley fired 226-204-579 while Ernie Bartroff hit a pair of 210 singles for 557; Harold Broskie 555; Red Sangi 551; and George Robinson 232-550.

Sue Heins, who has been grabbing a good share of headlines lately in the distaff department of local bowling circles, continued on the rampage Wednesday night in the Colonial Women's League at the Bowlatorium with a 561 blast.

Sue fired steady games of 163 and 188 and finished up her night's work with a 210 solo for the 561.

Others in the 500 bracket were Charlotte Lapine 536; Evelyn Gross 202-532; Beverly Port 514.

Phyl Gehringer led the near misses with 492; Rita LaRocca 491; Dot Rawding 491; Mary Bonacci 478; Betty Bruck 203-475; M. Posner 474; and Carrie Mohr 472.

Smith Avenue Storage, despite a three-game loss to Rowe's Shoes, still lead the Gold Division at the end of the second round with a 42 and 24 record. Rowes are in second with 39-27 while Pardee's Insurance hold down the third slot with 37-29.

Sally Kuehn nosed out Mary Coniglio by three pins for top honors in the Silver Division on the strength of her 456 triple. Her scores were 145-132-179. The runnerup posted 155-155-143.

Charlotte Herdman rolled 439; Frances Perry 439; Anne Dittmar 435; and Helen Buchholtz 433.

Joe's Refrigeration tops the circuit at the end of the second round with a 39 and 27 mark. Tied for second place are the Electrol and American Legion Auxiliary No. 2 with 36-30 while Sue's Beauty and Schilling Furniture are tied for fourth with 34 and 32.

Leading the attack on the potbellied maples at the Y drives in the Federation American League Wednesday night was Frank Roe who fired 198-194-175 for a 567 three-timer.

Doug Kennedy was the No. 2 kegler with 543 while F. Schussler hit 530. Bill Hornbeck 525; Don Weeks 512 and Les Brown 502 completed the 500 circle bowlers.

The Janeczeks featured the Pioneer Women's League activities at the Bowlodrome Wednesday night. V. Janeczek topped the loop with a string of 156-142-178 for 476 while R. Janeczek was runnerup with 130-183-162 for 475.

Kay Roosa, S. Corrado and M. Pugliese also shot 422 triples.

Val Janeczek and Connie Petersen converted two tough splits, the 4-7-10 and 3-7-10 respectively.

Rangers' Victory Tops Night for Boucher

New York, Feb. 15 (AP)—Frank Boucher, one of the finest centers ever to perform in the National Hockey League, won't forget St. Valentine's Day, 1951.

Boucher, now manager of the New York Rangers, an organization he has served as player, coach and manager since the team was founded in 1926, was honored last night.

The genial Boucher received a new car and numerous other gifts from the fans. To make the night complete the Rangers polished off the Chicago Blackhawks, 5-1, to move into a three-way tie with Montreal and Boston for third place.

Former Postmaster General James A. Farley, Mayor Vincent Impellitteri of New York and National League President Clarence Campbell took part in the pregame ceremonies.

Fights Last Night

(By The Associated Press)

Chicago—Ray Robinson, 155½, New York, stopped Jake LaMotta, 160, New York, 13. (Title).

Oakland, Calif.—Maurice Harper, 147, Oakland, defeated Lester Felton, 149, Detroit, 10.

Marine League Meeting

A meeting of Ulster Detachment, Marine Corps League, is scheduled for tonight at 8 o'clock in the home of Joyce-Schirick Post, 1386, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Delaware avenue. Commandant Albert J. Melville desires a full attendance to hear reports on the recent ball.

Schulers Cop 4th In Row With 44-39 Win Over Hurley

Schuler's Inn, showing a decided weakness in shooting, still managed to turn back Hurley by 44 to 39 in the B Division of the Y Basketball League Wednesday night.

It was Schulers fourth straight victory in the second round.

Other results last night found the Esopus Firemen tripping the Violets by 53 to 42 and the Newkirk Aces drubbing the Accord Chevies by 58 to 30.

Schulers led by 20-18 at the first half but added quarter scores of 12 each in the final two periods to win by the five-point margin.

Hotaling was the big gun for the winners with 19 points. Sgroi was high for Hurley with 11.

Trailing 10-8 at the opening period, the Esopus Firemen came back strong in the next three periods to defeat the improved Violets.

Ferraro Hits 22

Ferraro, guard for the Esopus quintet, led the night's scorers with 22 points.

The victory enabled the Firemen to remain in a tie for second place with the Newkirk Aces, Yellow Jackets and Robins.

Burris and Diamond were high for the losers with 11 and 10 respectively.

Despite some fancy shooting by Bill Lawrence the Accord Chevies dropped their fourth straight decision in their loss to the Aces. Lawrence pumped in 12 points for the losers.

Smith and Norton were high for the Aces with 13 and 10 in that order.

Accord Firemen Favor Extinguishers in Home

The Accord Fire Company this week began a campaign to equip every home in the fire district with carbon dioxide fire extinguishers.

The department points out that the present national emergency is likely to reduce the district's fire-fighting force as younger firemen may be called into the armed forces.

Letters are being sent to every home owner in the district with descriptive literature showing the types of extinguishers that are available. The letters will be followed by a house to house canvass by members of the department who will have samples to demonstrate.

Displays of extinquishers will be set up soon in the window of the Accord Diner and another in the Edward Carle store.

Bus Rides Increase

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 15 (AP)—It costs 12 cents now to ride a bus in the capital city area. A two-cent increase went into effect today and the United Traction Company laid in a supply of 70,000 pennies to make change for riders. The company offered a special rate—eight tokens for 95 cents.

Sports of the Day

(IN BRIEF)

(By The Associated Press)

New York—James A. Farley, former postmaster general, said "no comment" to report he has been approached as possible successor to A. B. Chandler as commissioner of baseball.

Virginia Beach, Va. — Annual $10,000 Cavalier specialists golf tournament called off this year when tournament officials said P.G.A. couldn't arrange suitable dates and guarantee top players.

A new Notre Dame basketball coach will be named "within two weeks," but the field of more than 30 candidates is still wide open, says Athletic Director Ed (Moose) Krause. Krause is retiring from coaching the Irish basketball team to devote full time to the athletic directorship.

Yanks Begin School

Phoenix, Ariz., Feb. 15 (AP)—Manager Casey Stengel of the New York Yankees arrived here yesterday to direct the club's screening school which opens this morning. Stengel will be assisted by Bill Dickey, Jim Turner, Frank Crosetti and Johnny Neun. Some 30 farmhands of the minor leagues in the Yankee organization will be on hand to participate in the workouts and practice games.

Two Are Charged With Obstructing Federal Justice

New York, Feb. 15 (AP)—Secret service agents have seized a man and wife whose Bronx home was described as the Puerto Rican Nationalist Party nest where the Truman assassination plot was hatched.

Federal Judge Edward Weinfield opened a sealed indictment naming the Correas in connection with the plot leading to the gunplay outside Blair House last Nov. 1.

Assistant U. S. Attorney Frederick Block told the judge that a dinner meeting was held in the Correa home two weeks before the attempted assassination of President Truman.

The prosecutor said that one of those at the meeting was Oscar Collazo, one of the two Puerto Ricans who tried to blast their way into Blair House where the President was resting.

'Conspirational Meeting'

The government believes, Block said, that the dinner "was a conspirational meeting at which plans for the assassination of President Truman were laid and at which Collazo was selected."

Collazo, a New Yorker, was wounded in the Blair House battle and is under indictment in Washington for the murder of a presidential guard. His confederate, Griselio Torresola, also a New Yorker, was shot to death during the assassination attempt.

Pedro Albizu Campos, 65-year-old Harvard-educated leader of the party, was convicted yesterday in San Juan, Puerto Rico, on a charge of attempted murder. He faces a jail sentence of one to 15 years. The charge grew out of an abortive revolt there that took 33 lives. The revolt and the Truman assassination attempt were staged by the Nationalists to draw attention to their cause.

Senate Committee Approves Measure

Washington, Feb. 15 (AP)—A bill authorizing the navy to go ahead with a $2,740,920,000 ship construction program was approved unanimously yesterday by the Senate Armed Services Committee.

Senators shepherding its course hoped to call it up for debate today. No opposition was in sight. The House already has passed it.

The program the navy has outlined includes a giant new aircraft carrier capable of handling atomic bombers. It also contemplates the building of a large fleet of submarines and surface craft and the modernization of others.

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS — TOO GOOD FOR 'EM! — By Merrill Blosser

Chicago Woman Won't Lose Arms

Chicago, Feb. 15 (AP) — Mrs. Dorothy Stevens, Chicago's frozen woman, will not have to undergo any major amputations, physicians at Michael Reese Hospital have told her.

Bandages were removed from her legs yesterday and physicians said they were in "excellent condition," with no trace of gangrene.

Doctors earlier had removed bandages from her arms, but both her arms and legs have been rewrapped and will not be unwrapped for five or six days, the doctors said.

Was Frozen Stiff

Mrs. Stevens, 23-year-old Negro, was found frozen stiff last Thursday morning in a south side gangway. At the hospital her temperature was recorded as 64 degrees, the lowest known for survival in medical history. Police said her husband had told them she had been drinking.

After she was told by physicians she will suffer no major amputation, Mrs. Stevens said: "Thank God. I'll never touch another drop of liquor as long as I live."

Her temperature was 101 yesterday but a hospital spokesman said there was "nothing to be worried about." He said Mrs. Stevens has not been removed from the hospital's critical list because of the "uniqueness of her case, not because there is any immediate danger."

Wife Plans Talk With President in Vogeler's Affair

Vienna, Feb. 15 (AP)—Mrs. Robert Vogeler said today she is renewing a plan to go home and talk to President Truman about her imprisoned husband.

"I am going home in May," she said, "if Bob isn't released by then and see Truman. I want to find out whether the State Department is really trying to do anything to help him."

Vogeler, a vice-president of the International Telephone and Telegraph Company, was sentenced to 15 years imprisonment as a spy by the Hungarian Communist government a year ago.

Blonde Mrs. Vogeler originally planned to go home last fall but fell sick and postponed her trip. She said she would take her two sons with her and then come back to Vienna to wait for her husband.

It was learned, meanwhile, that the U. S. Legation in Budapest recently made an attempt to see Vogeler. The legation was told, however, that "there is no law providing for visits to convicted spies."

Chinese Leader Causes Some Talk

Hong Kong, Feb. 15 (AP)—Observers of the China scene began to express curiosity today about the whereabouts of Red China Leader Mao Tse-tung.

They noted he had failed to appear at three important functions in the last couple of days.

Reports in this strategic vantage point said last month that Mao had gone or was going to Moscow to confer with Premier Stalin on the Korean war and other Asiatic developments.

Mao's last known public appearance in Peiping was Jan. 26, when he attended the celebration of Indian National Day.

Skids Into Ditch

Richard B. Castiglione, 22, of 495 Albany avenue reported to the sheriff's office that the automobile he was driving skidded on an icy section of Route 209 near Stone Ridge at 10:30 a. m. Wednesday and slide into a ditch. The automobile, which was owned by Salvatore Castiglione, was badly damaged about its front end, he said, but no personal injuries were reported.

Forces Go Back

Rangoon, Burma, Feb. 15 (AP)—Chinese forces which entered Kachin state, in North Burma, last November now have gone back into China, reports published here today said. These reports said Burmese and Kachin troops are patrolling the Chinese-Burma border as a security measure.

Will See 'Miracle'

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 15 (AP)—The State Board of Regents view the controversial movie "The Miracle" today to decide whether the license for its showing in New York should be rescinded. The Regents, who supervise licensing of films in the state, probably will not hand down a decision until tomorrow.

Somewhere in Korea—In a war all kinds of things, including people, drift around waiting for someone to pick them up. Corporal William C. Martini, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Martini, Sr., 65 Clinton avenue, found this horse meandering about behind the battle front and promptly commandeered it for luxury transportation. A Korean kid in Chongju is holding the horse's head. Not that the steed was in any mood to bolt, but just that the kid could get into the picture. (International News Photo)

Slippery Going In Central U. S.

(By The Associated Press)

It was wet, slippery and slushy over wide areas in the central part of the nation today.

More sleet, freezing rain and snow fell from Illinois and Indiana southwestward through the southern plains to northeast Texas. Schools in many areas were closed. Driving was extremely hazardous in the ice belt.

Other wet spots today were Arkansas and Louisiana. The mild spell appeared ended in most of the eastern states, but fair and warm weather continued in the South Atlantic states.

The north central region got a little warming. But it was sub-zero again today in Wisconsin and Michigan. Warmer air from the Rocky Mountains moved into the northern plains while in the far west temperatures were a little above normal.

Civil Service Exam

The United States Civil Service Commission has announced an examination for fishery marketing specialists to fill positions paying $3,100 a year, most of which are in Washington, D. C. Applicants between 18 and 62 years of age may obtain information and blanks from William P. Barry, local secretary, at the main post office here.

Deadline March 1 On Prison Pay

March 1 is the deadline for filing per diem claims for veterans of World War 2 who spent time in enemy prison camps.

Application for payments may be made on forms obtainable at the Veterans Service Agency, 32 Main street, and may be filed by the serviceman, if living, or by his survivors.

The payments, amounting to about one dollar for each day spent in prison camp, are in lieu of subsistence the serviceman would have received from the U. S. government had he not been taken prisoner.

It is estimated that most human beings can distinguish about 60 colors.

Fire Is Checked In Bottled Gas Car

The alarm at 10:55 a. m. was from Box 3121, which is on Adams street and is listed for St. Peter's School. It brought out men and equipment from Cornell and Central stations and Rapid Hose Company, with Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy in charge.

Firemen said the blaze would have been serious had it gone beyond the smouldering stage. The truck was en route to Saugerties.

Ulster Receives $98,251 From State

Ulster county's final per capita assistance payment from the state is $98,251.53, State Comptroller J. Raymond McGovern announced today.

The state's total for this payment is $20,956,448.40 and brings to $83,841,366.65 the total per capita assistance paid by the state this fiscal year.

New York city's share of the final payments is $12,560,447.25, and the other checks go to 62 cities, 932 towns and 549 villages which are eligible for this form of state aid.

Two Are Charged With Obstructing Federal Justice

New York, Feb. 15 (AP)—Secret service agents have seized a man and wife whose Bronx home was described as the Puerto Rican Nationalist Party nest where the Truman assassination plot was hatched.

The couple, arrested yesterday, is charged with obstruction of justice. They are John Correa, 43, and his wife, Mary.

Federal Judge Edward Weinfield opened a sealed indictment naming the Correas in connection with the plot leading to the gunplay outside Blair House last Nov. 1.

Assistant U. S. Attorney Frederick Block told the judge that a dinner meeting was held in the Correa home two weeks before the attempted assassination of President Truman.

The prosecutor said that one of those at the meeting was Oscar Collazo, one of the two Puerto Ricans who tried to blast their way into Blair House where the President was resting.

'Conspirational Meeting'

The government believes, Block said, that the dinner "was a conspirational meeting at which plans for the assassination of President Truman were laid and at which Collazo was selected."

Collazo, a New Yorker, was wounded in the Blair House battle and is under indictment in Washington for the murder of a presidential guard. His confederate, Griselio Torresola, also a New Yorker, was shot to death during the assassination attempt.

Collazo and Torresola were named as members of Puerto Rico's fanatically anti-American Nationalist Party which seeks complete independence for the island.

Pedro Albizu Campos, 65-year-old Harvard-educated leader of the party, was convicted yesterday in San Juan, Puerto Rico, on a charge of attempted murder. He faces a jail sentence of one to 15 years. The charge grew out of an abortive revolt there that took 33 lives. The revolt and the Truman assassination attempt were staged by the Nationalists to draw attention to their cause.

Senate Committee Approves Measure

Washington, Feb. 15 (AP)—A bill authorizing the navy to go ahead with a $2,740,920,000 ship construction program was approved unanimously yesterday by the Senate Armed Services Committee.

Senators shepherding its course hoped to call it up for debate today. No opposition was in sight. The House already has passed it.

The program the navy has outlined includes a giant new aircraft carrier capable of handling atomic bombers. It also contemplates the building of a large fleet of submarines and surface craft and the modernization of others.

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS — TOO GOOD FOR 'EM! — By Merrill Blosser

Chicago Woman Won't Lose Arms

Chicago, Feb. 15 (AP) — Mrs. Dorothy Stevens, Chicago's frozen woman, will not have to undergo any major amputations, physicians at Michael Reese Hospital have told her.

Bandages were removed from her legs yesterday and physicians said they were in "excellent condition," with no trace of gangrene.

"Mrs. Stevens' chances are excellent," a hospital spokesman said. "She is not likely to lose any digits, feet or arms."

Doctors earlier had removed bandages from her arms, but both her arms and legs have been rewrapped and will not be unwrapped for five or six days, the doctors said.

Was Frozen Stiff

Mrs. Stevens, 23-year-old Negro, was found frozen stiff last Thursday morning in a south side gangway. At the hospital her temperature was recorded as 64 degrees, the lowest known for survival in medical history. Police said her husband had told them she had been drinking.

After she was told by physicians she will suffer no major amputation, Mrs. Stevens said: "Thank God. I'll never touch another drop of liquor as long as I live."

Because of the severe blistering of her skin, Mrs. Stevens will undergo a series of skin grafting operations.

Her temperature was 101 yesterday but a hospital spokesman said there was "nothing to be worried about." He said Mrs. Stevens has not been removed from the hospital's critical list because of the "uniqueness of her case, not because there is any immediate danger."

Wife Plans Talk With President in Vogeler's Affair

Vienna, Feb. 15 (AP)—Mrs. Robert Vogeler said today she is renewing a plan to go home and talk to President Truman about her imprisoned husband.

"I am going home in May," she said, "if Bob isn't released by then and see Truman. I want to find out whether the State Department is really trying to do anything to help him."

Vogeler, a vice-president of the International Telephone and Telegraph Company, was sentenced to 15 years imprisonment as a spy by the Hungarian Communist government a year ago.

Blonde Mrs. Vogeler originally planned to go home last fall but fell sick and postponed her trip. She said she would take her two sons with her and then come back to Vienna to wait for her husband.

It was learned, meanwhile, that the U. S. Legation in Budapest recently made an attempt to see Vogeler. The legation was told, however, that "there is no law providing for visits to convicted spies."

Chinese Leader Causes Some Talk

Hong Kong, Feb. 15 (AP)—Observers of the China scene began to express curiosity today about the whereabouts of Red China Leader Mao Tse-tung.

They noted he had failed to appear at three important functions in the last couple of days.

Reports in this strategic vantage point said last month that Mao had gone or was going to Moscow to confer with Premier Stalin on the Korean war and other Asiatic developments.

The reports appeared to have been the result of speculation at the Chinese Nationalist capital, Taipei, and were not regarded seriously here at that time.

Two Are Charged With Obstructing Federal Justice

New York, Feb. 15 (AP)—Secret service agents have seized a man and wife whose Bronx home was described as the Puerto Rican Nationalist Party nest where the Truman assassination plot was hatched.

The couple, arrested yesterday, is charged with obstruction of justice. They are John Correa, 43, and his wife, Mary.

Federal Judge Edward Weinfield opened a sealed indictment naming the Correas in connection with the plot leading to the gunplay outside Blair House last Nov. 1.

Assistant U. S. Attorney Frederick Block told the judge that a dinner meeting was held in the Correa home two weeks before the attempted assassination of President Truman.

The prosecutor said that one of those at the meeting was Oscar Collazo, one of the two Puerto Ricans who tried to blast their way into Blair House where the President was resting.

'Conspirational Meeting'

The government believes, Block said, that the dinner "was a conspirational meeting at which plans for the assassination of President Truman were laid and at which Collazo was selected."

Collazo, a New Yorker, was wounded in the Blair House battle and is under indictment in Washington for the murder of a presidential guard. His confederate, Griselio Torresola, also a New Yorker, was shot to death during the assassination attempt.

Collazo and Torresola were named as members of Puerto Rico's fanatically anti-American Nationalist Party which seeks complete independence for the island.

Pedro Albizu Campos, 65-year-old Harvard-educated leader of the party, was convicted yesterday in San Juan, Puerto Rico, on a charge of attempted murder. He faces a jail sentence of one to 15 years. The charge grew out of an abortive revolt there that took 33 lives. The revolt and the Truman assassination attempt were staged by the Nationalists to draw attention to their cause.

Senate Committee Approves Measure

Washington, Feb. 15 (AP)—A bill authorizing the navy to go ahead with a $2,740,920,000 ship construction program was approved unanimously yesterday by the Senate Armed Services Committee.

Senators shepherding its course hoped to call it up for debate today. No opposition was in sight. The House already has passed it.

The program the navy has outlined includes a giant new aircraft carrier capable of handling atomic bombers. It also contemplates the building of a large fleet of submarines and surface craft and the modernization of others.

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS — TOO GOOD FOR 'EM! — By Merrill Blosser

Chicago Woman Won't Lose Arms

Chicago, Feb. 15 (AP) — Mrs. Dorothy Stevens, Chicago's frozen woman, will not have to undergo any major amputations, physicians at Michael Reese Hospital have told her.

Bandages were removed from her legs yesterday and physicians said they were in "excellent condition," with no trace of gangrene.

"Mrs. Stevens' chances are excellent," a hospital spokesman said. "She is not likely to lose any digits, feet or arms."

Doctors earlier had removed bandages from her arms, but both her arms and legs have been rewrapped and will not be unwrapped for five or six days, the doctors said.

Was Frozen Stiff

Mrs. Stevens, 23-year-old Negro, was found frozen stiff last Thursday morning in a south side gangway. At the hospital her temperature was recorded as 64 degrees, the lowest known for survival in medical history. Police said her husband had told them she had been drinking.

After she was told by physicians she will suffer no major amputation, Mrs. Stevens said: "Thank God. I'll never touch another drop of liquor as long as I live."

Because of the severe blistering of her skin, Mrs. Stevens will undergo a series of skin grafting operations.

Her temperature was 101 yesterday but a hospital spokesman said there was "nothing to be worried about." He said Mrs. Stevens has not been removed from the hospital's critical list because of the "uniqueness of her case, not because there is any immediate danger."

Wife Plans Talk With President in Vogeler's Affair

Vienna, Feb. 15 (AP)—Mrs. Robert Vogeler said today she is renewing a plan to go home and talk to President Truman about her imprisoned husband.

"I am going home in May," she said, "if Bob isn't released by then and see Truman. I want to find out whether the State Department is really trying to do anything to help him."

Vogeler, a vice-president of the International Telephone and Telegraph Company, was sentenced to 15 years imprisonment as a spy by the Hungarian Communist government a year ago.

Blonde Mrs. Vogeler originally planned to go home last fall but fell sick and postponed her trip. She said she would take her two sons with her and then come back to Vienna to wait for her husband.

It was learned, meanwhile, that the U. S. Legation in Budapest recently made an attempt to see Vogeler. The legation was told, however, that "there is no law providing for visits to convicted spies."

Chinese Leader Causes Some Talk

Hong Kong, Feb. 15 (AP)—Observers of the China scene began to express curiosity today about the whereabouts of Red China Leader Mao Tse-tung.

They noted he had failed to appear at three important functions in the last couple of days.

Reports in this strategic vantage point said last month that Mao had gone or was going to Moscow to confer with Premier Stalin on the Korean war and other Asiatic developments.

The reports appeared to have been the result of speculation at the Chinese Nationalist capital, Taipei, and were not regarded seriously here at that time.

Mao's last known public appearance in Peiping was Jan. 26, when he attended the celebration of Indian National Day.

Skids Into Ditch

Richard B. Castiglione, 22, of 495 Albany avenue reported to the sheriff's office that the automobile he was driving skidded on an icy section of Route 209 near Stone Ridge at 10:30 a. m. Wednesday and slide into a ditch. The automobile, which was owned by Salvatore Castiglione, was badly damaged about its front end, he said, but no personal injuries were reported.

Forces Go Back

Rangoon, Burma, Feb. 15 (AP)—Chinese forces which entered Kachin state, in North Burma, last November now have gone back into China, reports published here today said. These reports said Burmese and Kachin troops are patrolling the Chinese-Burma border as a security measure.

Will See 'Miracle'

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 15 (AP)—The State Board of Regents view the controversial movie "The Miracle" today to decide whether the license for its showing in New York should be rescinded. The Regents, who supervise licensing of films in the state, probably will not hand down a decision until tomorrow.

G.I. 'Joins' Cavalry

Somewhere in Korea—In a war all kinds of things, including people, drift around waiting for someone to pick them up. Corporal William C. Martini, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Martini, Sr., 65 Clinton avenue, found this horse meandering about behind the battle front and promptly commandeered it for luxury transportation. A Korean kid in Chongju is holding the horse's head. Not that the steed was in any mood to bolt, but just that the kid could get into the picture. (International News Photo)

Slippery Going In Central U. S.

(By The Associated Press)

It was wet, slippery and slushy over wide areas in the central part of the nation today.

More sleet, freezing rain and snow fell from Illinois and Indiana southwestward through the southern plains to northeast Texas. Schools in many areas were closed. Driving was extremely hazardous in the ice belt.

Other wet spots today were Arkansas and Louisiana. The mild spell appeared ended in most of the eastern states, but fair and warm weather continued in the South Atlantic states.

The north central region got a little warming. But it was sub-zero again today in Wisconsin and Michigan. Warmer air from the Rocky Mountains moved into the northern plains while in the far west temperatures were a little above normal.

Civil Service Exam

The United States Civil Service Commission has announced an examination for fishery marketing specialists to fill positions paying $3,100 a year, most of which are in Washington, D. C. Applicants between 18 and 62 years of age may obtain information and blanks from William P. Barry, local secretary, at the main post office here.

Deadline March 1 On Prison Pay

March 1 is the deadline for filing per diem claims for veterans of World War 2 who spent time in enemy prison camps.

Application for payments may be made on forms obtainable at the Veterans Service Agency, 32 Main street, and may be filed by the serviceman, if living, or by his survivors.

The payments, amounting to about one dollar for each day spent in prison camp, are in lieu of subsistence the serviceman would have received from the U. S. government had he not been taken prisoner.

Fire Is Checked In Bottled Gas Car

Firemen checked a slight but dangerous fire in a truck carrying bottled gas in front of St. Peter's Church on Wurts street shortly before 11 a. m. today.

The blaze was in floor boards close to the exhaust line and muffler in a truck owned by the Star Gas Co., 587 Main street, Poughkeepsie, and operated by James Gardner, of Poughkeepsie.

The truck carried 43 tanks of 100 pounds each, and bacause of the danger of the fire a line of hose was laid as a booster line was used in extinguishing the blaze.

The alarm at 10:55 a. m. was from Box 3121, which is on Adams street and is listed for St. Peter's School. It brought out men and equipment from Cornell and Central stations and Rapid Hose Company, with Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy in charge.

Firemen said the blaze would have been serious had it gone beyond the smouldering stage. The truck was en route to Saugerties.

Ulster Receives $98,251 From State

Ulster county's final per capita assistance payment from the state is $98,251.53, State Comptroller J. Raymond McGovern announced today.

The state's total for this payment is $20,956,448.40 and brings to $83,841,366.65 the total per capita assistance paid by the state this fiscal year.

New York city's share of the final payments is $12,560,447.25, and the other checks go to 62 cities, 932 towns and 549 villages which are eligible for this form of state aid.

Browning Becomes Honorary Sojourner

Branch of Masonic Order Inducts Browning as Veteran

Lieut. Robert F. Browning, newscaster at station WKNY in Kingston, was inducted into Fort Orange Chapter, No. 160, National Sojourners, Inc., Albany, N. Y., at a ceremony held last evening at the Governor Clinton Hotel. The occasion was marked by an address by Col. Ernest G. Buhrmaster, president of the Chapter, who in a radio broadcast paid tribute to Lieut. Browning who served during World War 1 and as a result of that service has been permanently disabled, and also Col. Carl C. Terry, another member of the Chapter residing in Kingston.

Capt. Frederic Snyder, through whose endeavors the induction ceremonies were instituted, was unable to be present due to an engagement out of the state.

Military Unit of Masons

The National Sojourners was originally instituted to organize commissioned officers and warrant officers, past and present, of the uniformed forces of the United States who are Master Masons, into Chapters, for the promotion of good fellowship among its members, assisting such as may be overtaken by adversity or affliction, and to carry on the spirit of patriotism among members of the Masonic order.

Attending the ceremonies were Lt. Walter Cattell, Col. Carl C. Terry, Lt. Richard H. Adams Col. James G. Tebbatt, Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk, Harry Edson from Rotary, Alwyn Fuerstein from Lions, Albert Kurdt from the Kingston Chamber of Commerce and Commander Bernhardt S. Kramer of Kingston Post, No. 150 American Legion. Mayor Newkirk and Commander Kramer congratulated Lieut. Browning and extended the greetings of the city and the Legion to Browning and to the guests present from Albany.

Browning Sets Example

Following the public portion of the ceremony the members of Fort Orange Chapter, No. 160, National Sojourners, conferred the degree upon Lieut. Browning and Col. Ernest G. Buhrmaster presented him with the certificate of membership and a large wall-type gold-embossed emblem of the National Sojourners handsomely framed for hanging. This emblem was recently secured for the occasion by Capt. Snyder during a recent visit to National Sojourners Headquarters in Washington. On the roster of the National Sojourners are those of General Mark Clark, General Jimmy Doolittle, Admiral Wallin and a long list of prominent military men.

In his address Col. Buhrmaster said the organization was "thankful for the wonderful example set by Bob Browning," and he said Lieut. Browning was being inducted into organization "because of his outstanding example of courage and gaiety of mind notwithstanding his being irreparably worsted by World War I in which cause his trusted arm and legs were sacrificed. But more important than mere physical irreversible losses is the preservation, and even growth, of a soldierly attitude and performance. Courage is the fortress of his soul. He is still a soldier carrying on cheerfully and manfully his daily duties of broadcasting the news and cheer over Station WKNY."

Five Governments

command. So far individual nations have pledged Eisenhower only about a dozen divisions.

Nations Represented

The nations represented at the conference in addition to France and West Germany are Italy, Belgium and Luxembourg. Five other nations invited to join in the plan—Britain, Norway, Denmark, The Netherlands and Portugal—agreed only to send observers. Canada and the United States also will have observers on hand.

Germany will have soldiers in the proposed European army but it will not have its own separate military organization or defense ministry. France broached the plan to overcome the problem of getting the Germans back into uniform to help fend off Communist aggression without running the danger of creating a German military machine such as has twice in this century wrested control of continental Europe.

The plan was given strong backing by the Santa Margherita Ligure Conference among Premier Pleven and Foreign Minister Robert Schuman of France and Premier Alcide De Gasperi and Foreign Minister Carlo Sforza of Italy.

The conference brought forth an agreement that the two nations would consult each other before acting on international questions.

Connally then read a pending resolution by Senator Wherry (R.-Neb.) which would declare the Senate feels President Truman should not send more ground forces to Europe until Congress passes on the question.

Technically, this resolution is the business before the committees, administration forces hope to substitute for it a resolution specifically approving the dispatch of troops.

The two governments also agreed to maintain close contact on possible Communist party moves against them. Italy and France have the largest Communist parties outside the Iron Curtain.

De Gasperi told reporters the talks were aimed at finding out "whether a European army could provide a permanent basis for a United States of Europe."

U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson has sent word to the French government that he "warmly welcomes" the French proposal.

They would levy a two-cent-a-pound tax on oleo with the revenue earmarked to finance an enforcement inspection staff.

The bills would require that yellow oleo be sold only in clearly marked packages of one pound or less. Public eating places serving oleo would be required to post that fact on menus.

Ban on Advertising

In the advertising and sale of oleo, any suggestion or representation that it was a "dairy product" would be prohibited.

The McGoldrick rent control plan permitting increases up to 15 per cent, after March 15, received final approval in the Senate yesterday over loud Democratic objections.

The plan was assured of becoming effective automatically by the defeat of a Democratic move to force from committee a resolution disapproving the plan. The GOP majority triumphed, 33-24. The Republicans crushed a similar Democratic move in the Assembly Feb. 4.

In the Senate, William J. Bianchi, Republican-American Labor member, voted with the Democratic minority in what otherwise was a strict party vote.

The Democrats refused to give up, however. Their leaders, Senator Elmer F. Quinn and Assemblyman Steingut, promptly introduced a bill to freeze rents until June 30, 1953, at the March 1, 1950, level.

Allied Relief . . .

Hundreds more Chinese and North Koreans met a violent end in today's fighting on the central front. The breakdown on Red casualties on that front alone Wednesday was 3,075 killed, 2,305 wounded by ground action alone.

Islands Are Secured

While the fighting continued on the central and western fronts at reduced tempo, South Korean Marines secured two small islands commanding Wonsan harbor far up on the Sea of Japan coast.

The east coast landings were made Wednesday on Cho and Rei Islands some 90 air miles north of Parallel 38 and about 130 miles north of the main battleline.

It had been reported at first that the South Koreans landed on the mainland, but U. S. naval officials said Thursday the operation was confined to the two islands. The Navy said the landings were of secondary importance.

But seizure of the islands, both close inshore, gives the Allies control of Wonsan's harbor. Red supplies and reinforcements funnel through the coastal city to the central front from staging areas in the northeast Korea.

It was from Hungnam, 50 air miles north of Wonsan, that some 100,000 Allied troops evacuated their northeast Korea beachhead in December after a bitter retreat from Changjin Reservoir and other northern points.

Many varieties of fish belonging to families still in existence abounded in lakes of the Eocene period 55,000,000 years ago.

Water From DeWitt Lake

It was stated in the report of the fire at Bloomington Wednesday that the Bloomington firemen had hauled water to wet down the fire from Williams Lake. The water was drawn from DeWitt Lake which is closer to the village. The Freeman was informed the water came from Williams Lake.

Browning Becomes Honorary Sojourner

Branch of Masonic Order Inducts Browning as Veteran

Lieut. Robert F. Browning, newscaster at station WKNY in Kingston, was inducted into Fort Orange Chapter, No. 160, National Sojourners, Inc., Albany, N. Y., at a ceremony held last evening at the Governor Clinton Hotel. The occassion was marked by an address by Col. Ernest G. Buhrmaster, president of the Chapter, who in a radio broadcast paid tribute to Lieut. Browning who served during World War 1 and as a result of that service has been permanently disabled, and also Col. Carl C. Terry, another member of the Chapter residing in Kingston.

Capt. Frederic Snyder, through whose endeavors the induction ceremonies were instituted, was unable to be present due to an engagement out of the state.

Military Unit of Masons

The National Sojourners was originally instituted to organize commissioned officers and warrant officers, past and present, of the uniformed forces of the United States who are Master Masons, into Chapters, for the promotion of good fellowship among its members, assisting such as may be overtaken by adversity or affliction, and to carry on the spirit of patriotism among members of the Masonic order.

Attending the ceremonies were Lt. Walter Cattell, Col. Carl C. Terry, Lt. Richard H. Adams Col. James G. Tebbatt, Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk, Harry Edson from Rotary, Alwyn Fuerstein from Lions, Albert Kurdt from the Kingston Chamber of Commerce and Commander Bernhardt S. Kramer of Kingston Post, No. 150 American Legion. Mayor Newkirk and Commander Kramer congratulated Lieut. Browning and extended the greetings of the city and the Legion to Browning and to the guests present from Albany.

Browning Sets Example

Following the public portion of the ceremony the members of Fort Orange Chapter, No. 160, National Sojourners, conferred the degree upon Lieut. Browning and Col. Ernest G. Buhrmaster presented him with the certificate of membership and a large wall-type gold-embossed emblem of the National Sojourners handsomely framed for hanging. This emblem was recently secured for the occasion by Capt. Snyder during a recent visit to National Sojourners Headquarters in Washington. On the roster of the National Sojourners are those of General Mark Clark, General Jimmy Doolittle, Admiral Wallin and a long list of prominent military men.

In his address Col. Buhrmaster said the organization was "thankful for the wonderful example set by Bob Browning," and he said Lieut. Browning was being inducted into organization "because of his outstanding example of courage and gaiety of mind notwithstanding his being irreparably worsted by World War I in which cause his trusted arm and legs were sacrificed. But more important than mere physical irreversible losses is the preservation, and even growth, of a soldierly attitude and performance. Courage is the fortress of his soul. He is still a soldier carrying on cheerfully and manfully his daily duties of broadcasting the news and cheer over Station WKNY."

Five Governments

command. So far individual nations have pledged Eisenhower only about a dozen divisions.

Nations Represented

The nations represented at the conference in addition to France and West Germany are Italy, Belgium and Luxembourg. Five other nations invited to join in the plan—Britain, Norway, Denmark, The Netherlands and Portugal—agreed only to send observers. Canada and the United States also will have observers on hand.

Germany will have soldiers in the proposed European army but it will not have its own separate military organization or defense ministry. France broached the plan to overcome the problem of getting the Germans back into uniform to help fend off Communist aggression without running the danger of creating a German military machine such as has twice in this century wrested control of continental Europe.

The plan was given strong backing by the Santa Margherita Ligure Conference among Premier Pleven and Foreign Minister Robert Schuman of France and Premier Alcide De Gasperi and Foreign Minister Carlo Sforza of Italy.

The conference brought forth an agreement that the two nations would consult each other before acting on international questions.

U. S. Plans . . .

Senator Connally (D.-Tex.), presiding, urged that senators "speed things along as much as possible" in questioning witnesses.

Peering over his spectacles, he admonished spectators to be quiet, saying "the committee can't run a horse show."

Connally then read a pending resolution by Senator Wherry (R.-Neb.) which would declare the Senate feels President Truman should not send more ground forces to Europe until Congress passes on the question.

Technically, this resolution is the business before the committees, administration forces hope to substitute for it a resolution specifically approving the dispatch of troops.

The two governments also agreed to maintain close contact on possible Communist party moves against them. Italy and France have the largest Communist parties outside the Iron Curtain.

De Gasperi told reporters the talks were aimed at finding out "whether a European army could provide a permanent basis for a United States of Europe."

U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson has sent word to the French government that he "warmly welcomes" the French proposal.

They would levy a two-cent-a-pound tax on oleo with the revenue earmarked to finance an enforcement inspection staff.

The bills would require that yellow oleo be sold only in clearly marked packages of one pound or less. Public eating places serving oleo would be required to post that fact on menus.

Ban on Advertising

In the advertising and sale of oleo, any suggestion or representation that it was a "dairy product" would be prohibited.

Governor Dewey said last year that he favored repeal of the ban on pre-colored, yellow oleo.

The McGoldrick rent control plan permitting increases up to 15 per cent, after March 15, received final approval in the Senate yesterday over loud Democratic objections.

The plan was assured of becoming effective automatically by the defeat of a Democratic move to force from committee a resolution disapproving the plan. The GOP majority triumphed, 33-24. The Republicans crushed a similar Democratic move in the Assembly Feb. 4.

The Democrats refused to give up, however. Their leaders, Senator Elmer F. Quinn and Assemblyman Steingut, promptly introduced a bill to freeze rents until June 30, 1953, at the March 1, 1950, level.

Allied Relief . . .

Red drive along a 20-mile front of ridges and a wide valley between Wonju and Chipyong. A field dispatch described the scene as "Death Valley."

Hundreds more Chinese and North Koreans met a violent end in today's fighting on the central front. The breakdown on Red casualties on that front alone Wednesday was 3,075 killed, 2,305 wounded by ground action alone.

Islands Are Secured

While the fighting continued on the central and western fronts at reduced tempo, South Korean Marines secured two small islands commanding Wonsan harbor far up on the Sea of Japan coast.

The east coast landings were made Wednesday on Cho and Rei Islands some 90 air miles north of Parallel 38 and about 130 miles north of the main battleline.

It had been reported at first that the South Koreans landed on the mainland, but U. S. naval officials said Thursday the operation was confined to the two islands. The Navy said the landings were of secondary importance.

But seizure of the islands, both close inshore, gives the Allies control of Wonsan's harbor. Red supplies and reinforcements funnel through the coastal city to the central front from staging areas in the northeast Korea.

It was from Hungnam, 50 air miles north of Wonsan, that some 100,000 Allied troops evacuated their northeast Korea beachhead in December after a bitter retreat from Changjin Reservoir and other northern points.

Many varieties of fish belonging to families still in existence abounded in lakes of the Eocene period 55,000,000 years ago.

Water From DeWitt Lake

It was stated in the report of the fire at Bloomington Wednesday that the Bloomington firemen had hauled water to wet down the fire from Williams Lake. The water was drawn from DeWitt Lake which is closer to the village. The Freeman was informed the water came from Williams Lake.
